A Modern Tragedy.
Paul Stood On It.
Nine More Great Women.
Sickening, But Not Terrifying.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THERE ARE tragedies, real and modern, that make fiction seem feeble. James McGuire, Pittsburgh policeman, heard, on the radio, "child in serious condition at Magee Hospital. Blood transfusion needed. Any patrolman wishing to offer self, proceed at once to hospital."

McGuire said to his mate, touring the city with him, in search of criminals, "That's tough," and hurried to the hospital.

DOCTORS TRIED his blood, found it had just the quality needed by the baby, and no wonder.

When McGuire approached the baby, his arm washed with alcohol, ready for puncture, he saw an infant, prematurely born, in the arms of his own wife, and the baby was his son, his fifth child.

McGuire gave more than a pint of his blood, showing the desperate need of the infant, and returned to work, listening at each police radio station for any further call. There was none. The child was dead.

JOYOUS NEWS for New York's Cathedral of St. John the Divine. Archbishop Chrysostomos, head of the Greek Church in Athens, has sent to the New York cathedral a genuine piece of stone cut from the Areopagus, the rock on which St. Paul stood preaching to the Athenians.

Much virtue must attach to such a relic, in the mind of every Christian. Had not St. Paul, like Saint Peter, come preaching Christianity to Europe from Asia, which never would accept the religion revealed on Asiatic soil, Europe's Christian civilization might never have existed.

A MOHAMMEDAN would give all he has for a fragment of the Kaaba stone, from which Mohammed started from Mecca to Heaven, on his wonderful white mare. Equally precious must be the stone on which Paul stood preaching to Greeks that had outgrown their pagan gods and needed a new faith.

But how much more valuable would be the acquisition of Paul's power to convert and his willingness to see the truth and take it seriously?

Florence Nightingale, Clara Barton, Susan B. Anthony, George Eliot, Sarah Bernhardt, Mary Harris Jones (American sociologist), Viera Ivanovia Zasulitch (Russian revolutionist), Jane Addams and Marie Curie.

In that list, Susan B. Anthony is the best name. Harriet Beecher Stowe and Julia Ward Howe might have been squeezed in somewhere, among the American women.

BUT, if asked which are the ten greatest painters, or writers, you name those that painted the ten finest pictures, or wrote the ten greatest books.

To find the ten greatest women, name the ten greatest men "in western civilization," and IN THEIR MOTHERS you have the ten greatest women.

You judge a painter by his pictures, a soldier by his victories, a woman by her children. If a painter said, "Painting is not good enough for me; I want to be a picture frame," you would pity him. The same with a woman who says, "Having fine children is not enough for me, I want to be a statesman."

The Lord paid woman a great compliment when he made the first man and woman, and made woman responsible for creating all the others.

MR. ROBINSON, of Arkansas, Democratic leader in the Senate, says the persecution of Jews in Germany "is sickening and terrifying." Sickening because of their brutality, YES; terrifying, NO.

These is nothing new in the Hitler persecution, nothing to be compared in "terror" with the brutalities of former days, nothing that Jewish resourcefulness and courage will not overcome.

WHEN EIGHT HUNDRED Jews were burned, one after the other, at one time, because they refused to deny their religion; when an old Jew endured horrible tortures, at intervals, for six months, finally dying under torture rather than destroy others by testifying falsely, you might call that "terrifying."

THE CONGRESSIONAL committee investigating the loss of the Akron, due to management by men that lacked long dirigible experience, demands replacement of the Akron and declares officially, "administration of lighter-than-air ships by the Navy should insure continuity of personnel and experience. Only fully trained officers of wide experience should be in command of airships."

The Navy shows its respect for Congressional opinion by removing Commander Wiley from airship service to routine duty on board a light cruiser, in obedience to the rule that officers shall be sent on sea duty after a certain amount of "shore duty."

The Navy person that calls airship work "shore duty" should be stuffed, after death, and shown in the Natural History Museum with the extinct Dodo, on one side, the great Auk on the other side.

President Roosevelt can learn from his courageous air-minded wife, who recently flew 6,000 miles in five days, and knows from his own great flying experience, that flying in the air is NOT exactly "shore duty."

VET BATTLE HOLDS UP CONGRESS

Substitute Program Offered By Cutting

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP.)—Congressional adjournment by midweek at the latest was the goal of Democratic chieftains today as the legislators returned to their labors with several major issues to settle.

The industrial recovery, veterans' compesation and deficiency appropriation measures remained the triple threat to adjournment plans, but leaders said there was good chance of quitting before Wednesday unless a filibuster develops.

Biggest obstacle to adjournment was a new fight over veterans' compensation.

SUBSTITUTE PLAN

Thrusting the veterans' question squarely before the Seenate as leaders drove for adjournment, Senator Cutting (Rep.), of New Mexico, opened a fight for a substitute for the House-Administration compromise on relief payments to former soldiers.

In taking the floor to urge the substitute, which he is advocating with Senator Steiwer, (Rep.), of Oregon, Cutting told colleagues he intended to move to instruct Senate conferees on the inde-

DAVIS DENIES LOTTERY GUILT

Senator Making Plea Leans on Cane; Trial July 10

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—United States Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, pleaded "not guilty" to a new indictment in the Moose lottery case today. Trial date was set tentatively for July 10.

The new indictment was handed up to Judge William Bondy about 10 minutes after Davis arrived in the courtroom accompanied by one of his attorneys, Joseph E. Davies, of Washington, D. C. The new presentment superseded an old indictment on which Davis was tried last fall. The trial was abortive because of the indiscretion of a juror.

The Senator, dressed in a light gray suit, leaned heavily upon a cane as he pleaded. Named in the same indictment and also pleading not guilty, was Theodore F. Miller, head of the Moose propagation department.

Louis Mead Treadwell, assistant United States attorney, asked that trial be set for July 17. The defense asked for the July 10 date. Judge Bondy, who already had set the date at July 10 on the old indictment, let it stand at that.

Taboo Topic to Fore As World Economic Conference Opens

BULLETIN.

LONDON, June 12.—(AP.)—Great Britain is making a new move tonight, reported in government circles to involve a proposal of a small "token" payment to the United States toward the Thursday installment, to bring the war debts' discussion to a crisis.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service.

GEOLOGICAL MUSEUM, LONDON, June 12.—With the World Economic Conference sent on its way by a stirring plea for international co-operation from King George, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald this afternoon seized the first opportunity to throw the controversial subject of foreign debts into the deliberations.

Addressing the conference in his capacity as chairman after King George had spoken for 12 minutes of the worlds' struggles to cope with depression and unemployment, Premier MacDonald unexpectedly brought up the debt question in the course of an exposition of outstanding problems.

He said:

"Behind the subjects I have mentioned is another in the front rank of importance.

"It cannot be dealt with here, because obviously this conference is not constituted in such a way as to enable it to consider or settle the matter.

CALLS FOR SPEED

"I refer to the subject of war debts, which must be dealt with before every obstacle to general recovery is removed, and it must be taken up without delay by the nations concerned.

TAX LAW PROBE PLANS O. K'D

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(INS.)—Plans for a sweeping investigation of the federal tax laws were approved by the House Ways and Means Committee today as a direct result of the Senate investigation of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Representative Doughton (Dem.), of South Carolina, chairman, was authorized to name a special subcommittee of seven to conduct the inquiry during the summer recess.

The entire committee will reconvene probably about November 15 and devote six weeks before the next regular session of Congress to revising the laws.

The committee investigation was authorized by the House, with committee members promising to plug loopholes in the law.

The Senate's revelation of income tax avoidance by Morgan partners today brought a demand from Speaker Henry T. Rainey,

Faded Flowers Clue in Campus Bathtub Killing

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service.

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 12.—A romantic and strange—but significant—bit of evidence was reported today to Sheriff W. J. Emig in his probe of the Stanford campus bathtub bludgeoning of beautiful Mrs. Allene Thorpe Lamson, a crime charged against her husband, David A. Lamson, whose preliminary hearing will start Thursday.

The new exhibit in the case is a big dictionary and two flowers, now faded. But they were fresh the day of Mrs. Lamson's death.

They had been placed in the dictionary but a few hours before her skull was crushed, for the pages between which they rested were still wet with dew when the book was opened shortly after the young matron's nude body was found in the tub of the Lamson's campus bungalow.

The blooms were between two pages of "I's" and on one of the pages was the word "infidelity," slightly underlined, as though with a fingernail.

YACHT MURDER LINKS SUSPECT

STAMFORD, Conn., June 12.—(AP.)—Frank Dreger, 61, of New York, held in Darien for a series of burglaries, was said today by Mrs. Benjamin P. Collings to resemble greatly one of two men who killed her husband aboard the Collings yacht, Penguin, in Long Island Sound in September, 1931.

Dreger was arrested yesterday morning with Joseph Guarino, 20, of New York. Police said they confessed looting the home of John Nickerson, in Noroton of a silver set valued at $3,000.

The mysterious slaying of Collings was followed by the abduction of his wife. Mrs. Collings was later found adrift in a boat.

Collings, Stamford yachtsman and mechanical engineer, was beaten, bound and thrown into the water by the assailants. A week later, in the midst of an intensive search for his slayers, his body was washed ashore on a Long Island beach.

Both Mrs. Collings and her 5-year-old daughter, Barbara, witnessed the slaying of Collings before Mrs. Collings was transferred to a canoe. Barbara was left aboard the yacht.

Breezes Break Grip Of Fatal Heat Wave

Showers to Bring Further Drop in Temperature

The heat wave, in which Pittsburghers sweltered for the last five days, was broken today after the death toll had mounted to 35.

Cooling breezes swept into the city this morning, holding the mercury down. Promised showers this afternoon were to bring a further drop in the temperature to end the sweltering weather.

The middle west, which has been sizzling in high temperatures, today reported drops from 15 to 20 degrees in temperature. Yesterday the mercury rose to 93.

Along the lake region the storm became a gale. At Houghton Lake, Mich., four persons were drowned when 15 small boats were overturned.

County Court Judge M. A. Musmanno today ordered that his court start at 9 instead of 9:30 a. m. and adjournment be taken at 2 instead of 3 p. m. during the summer.

Council today unanimously passed a resolution asking that all city swimming pools be opened as soon as possible to relieve suffering, and speeded an ordinance for $5,000 for conditioning the pools.

Previously Lake Elizabeth had been ordered open today and Highland Park pool tomorrow, with wading pools in the Highland Park and East Park and sprinklers to be in operation immediately.

BALLOT FRAUD JURY CONVENES

The Federal grand jury which will investigate the Congressional elections in the Thirtieth and Thirty-second districts convened today.

It will hear more than 1,100 witnesses of the voting by which Congressmen M. J. Muldowney defeated Mrs. Anne Felix (Dem.) and Twing Brooks, (Dem.) won over Edmund Erk. Special Prosecutor Earl F. Reed probably will call the first witnesses tomorrow.

Judge Nelson McVicar refused to excuse four jurors who pleaded press of business. Charles Ramsey, insurance man, of Patterson Heights, Beaver Falls, was named foreman. Twelve of the jurors are from Allegheny County.

Norman Thomas' Son To Wed Society Girl

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Allen Campbell, of East Norwich, N. Y., announced today the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Gabrielle Campbell, to William Stewart Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Thomas.

Miss Campbell was presented to society in 1931 at a dinner dance at the Piping Rock Club, Locust Valley, L. I. Her fiance is the son of the Socialist candidate for President in 1932.

AKRON, O., Monday, June 12.—(AP.)—The projected 48-hour flight of the U. S. S. Macon was called off until sundown tonight when weather conditions continued unfavorable early today.

Poisoned by Error, Child Ward Dies

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—(AP.)—A teaspoonful of poison, which police said was given in mistake for medicine, today cost the life of Jon Beck, 3-year-old ward of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Mrs. Isabel Taylor, 32, in whose care the child had been placed, told investigators she picked up the wrong bottle in a darkened bathroom after the boy became ill.

Homestead Steel Lights 4th Furnace

Employment made another spurt in the Homestead district today when the fourth Carrie furnace of the Carnegie Steel Works was put in operation.

More than 150 men will be hired to operate the furnace, which was lit by Sidney Dillon, assistant to the president of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Calles Stricken, Return Delayed

ENSENADA, Mexico, June 12.—(INS.)—Plutarco Ellias Calles, "iron man" of Mexico, and ex-president of the republic, was stricken today with a recurrence of an internal ailment, it was reliably reported here.

The famous Mexican has been vacationing at the rancho of President Rodrigues, near town. While his condition was not considered serious, it will delay his return to Mexico City.

Treasure Hunt at Sea Brings Death to One

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—A tragic episode in the search for gold aboard the sunken British cruiser Hampshire developed today with the news of the death of Samuel Mansfield, one of three men injured at the bottom of the sea beside the ship about two months ago.

In accordance with his last wishes, his body was cremated and the ashes scattered on the sea over the spot where the Hampshire lay.

Wife Divorces Minister Charges 'Other Woman'

Judge F. P. Patterson today granted a divorce to Mrs. Helen Pruitt Wainwright from the Rev. Alcova A. Wainwright, former pastor of the Turtle Creek Baptist Church.

Mrs. Wainwright, a graduate nurse, of 116 South street, Turtle Creek, testified at the hearing her husband "ran around" and that he kicked and choked her when she pleaded with him to give up the "other woman."

He refused, she said, and declared he "enjoyed that kind of life."

The pastor-husband lost his pulpit at Turtle Creek in October, 1931, for conduct unbecoming a minister, the wife told the court.

They were married May 27, 1919, by the wife's father, also a Baptist minister. The suit, brought on grounds of indignities, was not contested.

Cows Eat Hosiery As Girls Wade In Creek

Two cows today stood charged with the theft of three pairs of silk stockings.

The stockings belonged to members of a girls' Sunday school class of Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church.

While they and others were wading in a creek at Scrub Grass Hollow on a picnic Saturday the cows swallowed the hosiery, one of the girls reported. The three barefoot girls were taken home in an automobile.

Secret Service Network Guards World Notables

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service.

LONDON, June 12.—Fantastic crime thrillers spun in reams around Scotland Yard since Sherlock Holmes' cradle days were paled into insignificance today by the vast, silent, mysterious and invisible network of secret service spread over London.

The famous yard has outdone itself to establish airtight protection for the kings, potentates, premiers, diplomats and money barons concentrated in the British capital for the World Economic Conference.

Political fanatics, hired assassins, revolutionary bomb throwers and anarchists will have a rough time evading the penetrating eyes of thousands of Scotland Yard men, assisted by a host of specially trained secret service operatives and a small army of continental detectives brought in by the various delegations.

Recent developments in the political situation in many countries such as Germany, Soviet Russia and Far East and Latin-American states are considered likely to provoke unfortunate incidents.

Every delegation is included in the Scotland Yard vigil, with the Americans perhaps the least burdened by protective surveillance.

M'DONALD LAUNCHES DEBT BATTLE AS PARLEY OPENS

DIME ON DOLLAR SETTLEMENT SEEN AS AIM

U. S. Delegates Silent As Others Applaud Premier's Stand

been completed and this vexed question (reparations) has been settled once and for all in the light of present world conditions."

(Editor's Note—The Lausanne treaty reduced German reparations by 90 per cent.)

"This conference is the sequel to the work done at Lausanne when a conditional agreement on how to deal with war debts and reparations saved Europe from immediate financial collapse."

Britain's policy, as enunciated by Premier MacDonald in his opening address, will be to drive the Lausanne agreement straight through the world economic conference.

'DIME ON DOLLAR'

As the Lausanne treaty settled reparations at 10 cents on the dollar, MacDonald's plain inference was that the international debts should be similarly settled.

The Premier's reference to the debts, which delegates to the United States are not empowered to discuss, came as a surprise to the American representatives, but they sat and listened attentively with masked faces.

There was a burst of applause, however, from the nations which signed the treaty of Lausanne.

MacDonald held the rapt attention of the delegates just as had King George, who departed from precedent by addressing the conference in both English and French. Like the monarch, Premier MacDonald bore heavily upon what the depression has done in the way of world suffering, privation and unemployment but the debt bombshell was the highlight of the speech.

APPEAL OF KING

With a ringing appeal for international co-operation, King George V opened the conference, convoked in an effort to rescue mankind from the slough of depression.

In his opening remarks, King George observed that no other monarch in history had ever had the opportunity of welcoming so many delegates to an international conference.

A total of 168 delegates, representing 66 civilized nations, heard King George, in an address broadcast throughout the world, send the momentous conference on its way promptly at 3 p. m. (10 a. m. Pittsburgh time.

AMERICANS PROMPT

All the delegates were instructed to be in their seats at 2:40 p. m., 10 minutes before the King arrived at the Museum from Windsor Castle.

The American delegation, headed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, took the instructions seriously. All its members were in their places by 2:15 p. m.

The great hall of the new Museum presented a sombre rather than a brilliant picture.

All the delegates were attired in black morning clothes. The only splotch of color save for the green desks and bright pink chairs on the dais was furnished by the brilliant hats of a few women seated in the public section.

The delegates in their three parallel blocs of seats, 300 newspapermen in a special section and a handful of photographers in an especially constructed "c a g e" heard King George welcome the conference in a strong, vigorous voice.

He expressed confidence their endeavors would lead to beneficial results throughout the world.

CONFIDENT IN POWER

King George said:

"It cannot be beyond the powers of man so to use the resources of the world to assure the progress of civilization."

The nations of the world, King George observed, are suffering from a "common illness." The crisis prevailing, he declared, calls for co-operation by all nations and governments "for the good of the whole world."

The monarch referred to prevailing unemployment as the gravest problem faced by the world. Translated into "terms of human suffering," unemployment figures constitute a matter of grave concern to every resident of every nation on the globe, the King said.

GOLD MICROPHONE

The delegates, who included 10 prime ministers, 19 foreign secretaries and a host of cabinet officers and financial and economic experts from all over the world, stood in rapt silence as King George delivered his address into a gold and silver microphone.

King George was greeted on his arrival by Prime Minister MacDonald, who was waiting at the canopied entrance to the meuseum when the monarch drove up in a royal limousine with three attendants.

The Premier and the King shook hands, and MacDonald immediately conducted the monarch to the dais. Delegates and correspondents rose to their feet, and King George launched into his speech without a moment's delay.

Persons gathered in the streets outside the museum heard the speech by means of the radio, and frequently interrupted him by bursts of cheering.

King George, however, finished his brief address at 3:12 p. m. He left immediately and motored back to Winsor Castle.

In his capacity as chairman of the conference, MacDonald then stepped to the front of the dais and began his opening speech at 3:15 p. m.

The conference adjourned at 4:40 p. m. (11:40 a. m. Pittsburgh time) until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

M'DONALD SPEECH HIGHLIGHTS

CONFERENCE HALL, LONDON, June 12.—(AP.)—Following are excerpts from Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's speech today as chairman of the World Economic Conference:

On behalf of His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom I offer you all a most hearty welcome to London. I hope your stay here will be pleasant, above everything else profitable in results, and that when you leave you will have carved the name of the London Economic Conference amongst those great international gatherings which have brought blessings to mankind.

The purpose of our meeting is of the gravest importance.

Economic Decline

There is greater authority gathered in this hall today than has perhaps ever been brought under one roof in the world's history.

The economic life of the world has for years been suffering from a decline which has closed factories, limited employment, reduced standards of living, brought some states to the verge of bankruptcy and inflicted upon others recurring budgets that cannot be balanced.

The markets are there, the labor to supply them is there, but the labor is not employed and the markets are not filled.

The briefest reference to the astounding facts will show the magnitude of the problems before us and at the same time direct our thoughts to the points of attack.

Since 1929 prices have fallen and have kept well below the levels at which production can be remunerative.

Exchange between town and country had been tragically limited.

National income has fallen seriously everywhere.

The gold standard has had to be deserted more generally than has been the case in time of peace since it was erected into the international measure of exchange and inevitably, irrespective of fiscal policies and of forms of governments, unemployment has mounted up until the world figure, issued by the International Labor Office has reached 30,000,000.

This cannot go on.

In this drama of deterioration governments and state policy have played an important part.

Forces Debt Issue

Behind the subjects I have just mentioned is another in the front rank of importance. It cannot be dealt with here because obviously this conference is not constituted in such a way as to enable it to consider and settle the matter.

I refer to the question of the war debts, which must be dealt with before every obstacle to general recovery has been removed, and it must be taken up without delay by the nations concerned. Lausanne has to be completed and this vexed question settled once for all in the light of present world conditions.

This conference is a sequel to the work done at Lausanne last year when, by a conditional agreement on how to deal with war debts and reparations, Europe was saved from immediate financial collapse.

It will be remembered that having finished its own immediate work at Lausanne the conference reported that for the clearance of the world crisis a wider conference should be called and that the League of Nations should be invited to take that in hand without delay. Lausanne indicated the subjects to be dealt with and the general steps which should be taken to prepare for the conference.

If the world is left to right itself without international effort and international agreement, how long is the process of recovery to be? How dark are the depths of misery and the unsettlements which have still to be gone through?

No one who has surveyed the facts and watched their progress can doubt for a moment that the experiences of the last few years have proved that a purely national economic policy in this modern world is one which, by impoverishing other nations, improverishes those who pursue it. No nation can permanently enrich itself at the expense of others. Mutual enrichment is a condition of individual enrichment.

Recovery Program

We are here therefore to pursue the better course of international agreement.

The agenda deals only with government policy in relation to recovery, and no one must think of it as being a complete program.

We are concentrating on what primarily belongs to the responsibilities of governments as to common action.

I am sure that we are all aware of heavy responsibilities which are upon us and that we have met determined to make the Conference a success. The fate of generations may well depend upon the courage, sincerity and width of view which we are to show during the next few weeks.

As the experts have reminded us: "It will not in our judgment be possible to make substantial progress by piecemeal measures; a policy of nibbling will not solve this crisis."

Have we come to deliberate and to decide as though our respective nations were isolated units in the world? Then we shall fail and the world which looks upon us today with expectations will have to drain a bitter cup of disappointment.

Have we come knowing that the permanent good of each is dependent upon the permanent good of all, and determined to co-operate in coming to agreements which will make a renewal of prosperity possible? Then we shall succeed, and expectations of the world will be justified.

We must not fail.

"We Can't Delay"

Nor can we delay. Rapidity of agreement is essential to success.

Our program is intricate and raises subjects upon which we hold views hitherto unreconciled. And yet the needs of the day are so pressing, the experiences of these years have been so illuminating and so tragic, that surely we must approach our work with fresh and flexible minds.

I think that I express the wishes of the great body of delegates when I say that we have not come to discuss mere economic theories and generalities, but to make practical proposals to meet urgent necessities.

I should therefore invite each delegation to submit its proposals in terms that are definite so that we may enter without loss of time into an examination of what can be translated into action, and begin deliberations on what each of us can do in co-operation with the others either for the emergency or for more permanent purposes.

Let this London conference put new heart and new confidence into the world, and let it mark the end of the years of uncertainties and of policies which have brought this distress upon us all.

Let us see to it that before we disperse we shall have revived hope and energy and opportunity. For those the world waits, and it is in our power to provide them.

Doctor's Ride With Zoo 'Cat' Ends in Disaster

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP.)—Ask not why, but Dr. Aubrey Miller yesterday went riding with an ocelot. An ocelot is a cat with long claws, sharp teeth, fuzzy ears and spots.

If you called him a leopard nobody could blame you.

Anyhow today Dr. Miller, with friendly keeper at the zoo gave ocelot, was a guest of the police. The ocelot was looking very natural at an undertaker's.

Dr. Miller's story was that a friendl ykeeper at the zoo gave him the ocelot, after offering him the choice of any pet he might fancy in the capital's well-stocked animal garden.

However he got it, the doctor was seen riding about the city with his left hand on the wheel and the right around the ocelot's neck. He was seen a little later at the office of Dr. E. C. Terry asking for plaster and arnica for himself and a drink of water for "kitty."

But "kitty" was past the need of water. Dr. Miller's strangehold had done its stuff too well.

While the police debated just what to charge the doctor with, Dr. William N. Mann, zoo director, investigated his keepers to prevent any of them getting generous with cobras, tigers or what have you. He felt like weeping over the ocelot too. That was a friendly kitten, brought from Nicaragua by a Marine sergeant. He was at the zoo because the United States climate gave him rickets and he needed cod liver oil, rest, sunshine and vitamins. Dr. Miller had not been figured on.

Father of Five Found Hanging in Jail Cell

ERIE, June 12.—(AP.)—Victor Gustafson, 40, father of five children, was found hanged last night in the city jail.

He had been arrested earlier in the day on charges of tearing down a fence and threatening bodily harm to Joseph Chapippazzi.

KING'S SPEECH OPENS WORLD CONFERENCE

Monarch Optimistic Parley Will Aid Trade Recovery

CONFERENCE HALL, LONare highlights of the speech of is the full text of the speech of King George today opening the World Economic Conference:

Gentlemen, at this time of widespread economic stress, it is with a feeling of deep responsibility that I welcome you to this country.

I believe this to be the first time in history that any sovereign has presided at the opening of a conference of all the nations of the world. I wish to express my satisfaction that such a gathering has been possible and my confidence that this common endeavor will lead to beneficial results.

I welcome the representatives of the states members of the League of Nations. I have always followed the work of the League with keenest appreciation and interest. The League has convened this conference and has prepared the way for it through the valuable services of the expert committee.

PRAISES LEAGUE

Without the league and without the ideals of the league I doubt whether this great meeting could ever have taken place.

I welcome no less cordially the representatives of those states who are not members of the league.

It is with very profound emotion that I see around me this august assembly which seems so vast but which represents an infinitely vaster conception, the hope and wishes of the entire world. The world is in an unquiet state, and for you gentlemen who from today begin the work of restoration, the task is heavy. It will not be achieved except through good will and sincere co-operation.

I fully recognize the magnitude of the tasks of this conference, but there is evidence of a real desire to reach agreement which gives me hope. All nations are suffering from a common ill. This is shown only too clearly by the rise in the figures for unemployment.

PLEA FOR HARMONY

In the face of a crisis which all realize and acknowledge, I appeal to you to co-operate for the sake of the ultimate good of the whole world. It cannot be beyond the powers of man so to use the vast resources of the world as to insure the material progress of civilization. No diminution in those resources has taken place.

On the contrary discovery, invention and organization have multiplied their possibilities to such an extent that abundance of production has itself created new problems. And together with this amazing material progress there has come a new recognition of the interdependence of nations and of the value of collaboration between them. Now is the opportunity to harness this new consciousness of common interests to the service of mankind.

In the firm belief that mutual consultation is the first step toward right action, I inaugurate this conference. I shall follow your deliberations with the closest interest and attention and I pray that the results of your labors will set the world once more on the path of prosperity and ordered progress.

HULL OUTLINES U. S. PARLEY OBJECTIVES

Secretary Expresses Faith Conference Will Succeed

LONDON, June 12.—(AP.)—An exposition of the American viewpoint shortly before the world economic conference opened today gave four specific ways for attacking high tariffs, and expressed "faith that some progress will be made of a reasonably satisfactory nature."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, head of the American delegation, told a score of newspaper correspondents from various nations that he believed this generation "is just a little more capable of grappling with these difficulties than any that has gone before."

The specific tariff proposals Mr. Hull said the conference might consider are:

First, general revision simultaneously through various governments and parliaments.

Second, a small horizontal reduction as a preliminary step.

Third, regional a g r e e ments between neighbor nations, such as that in effect between Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Fourth, purely bilateral tariff bargaining.

All these methods, he said, might well contemplate the most-favored nation doctrine and as few conditions as necessary.

Of paramount importance at the outset, Mr. Hull maintained, is for the nations to agree on as many different methods of attacking the barriers as possible. He personally favors any or all which will be most acceptable and effective, he said.

5 LONG FLIGHTS STIR WORLD

Associated Press.

Five long airplane flights, two of them in the state of final preparations, engaged the attention of the world today.

Jimmie Mattern, American globe flier, prepared at Khabarovsk, Siberia, for his trans-Pacific hop to Alaska.

Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar, Spanish army aviators, completed a 4,500-mile hop from Seville, Spain, to Camaguey, Cuba, Sunday, thereby establishing a North Atlantic nonstop record.

Capt. J. Errol Boyd and two companions who left Sunday on a good-will flight from New York to Port Au Prince, Haiti, had not been sighted or reported along the route at 10 o'clock this morning.

Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas prepared for their nonstop good-will flight of 4,537 miles from New York to Kaunas, Lithuania.

Twenty-four planes, manned by 96 men, were tentatively due to Leave Orbetello, Italy, by stages to the Chicago Fair at 7 a. m. Wednesday. Air Minister Balbo, chief of the squadron, pronounced men and machines in perfect condition.

FRANCE FIRM ON DEFAULT

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT, International News Service.

LONDON, June 12.—France will stand pat against payment of the June 15 debt instalment to America, International News Service learned today.

An unimpeachable source revealed the Thursday instalment is over and done with and there is "no question of paying even the Lausanne one-tenth," as the British apparently propose to do.

With the French decision to default, as she did last December, definitely reached, Premier Daladier, head of his country's delegation to the world economic conference, turned his attention this morning to the question of provisional stabilization of the British pound and American dollar in relation to the franc.

With the dollar rapidly swooping to new low levels as the momentous parley opens, the French premier bent his efforts toward an agreement for stabilization as one of the first acts of the conference. It was apparent he feared the possibility of France being forced from the gold standard.

Lippmann Predicts Economic Cohesion

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 12.—(AP.)—Assuming great wars can be prevented, Walter Lippmann, journalist and political commentator, today told the graduating class of Union College, the chief preoccupation of diplomacy during the next decade will be to adjust nationalistic economies to each other. He declared:

"International c o m m e r cial competition is tending to become more and more impracticable and more and more unnecessary."

Egyptian Princes Arrive in New York

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—Prince Youssouf Kamal, a cousin of King Fuad of Egypt, and Prince Hohamed Bbdel Moneim arrived in New York today on the liner Georgic for a four months' visit in the United States and Canada.

UTILITY PROBE BODY BURIES INQUIRY

Committee Winds Up Listless Quiz AT 'Postmortem'

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, June 12.—The Senate Utility Investigating Committee, $52,000 in the red with no money to pay, will meet late this afternoon in executive session and terminate an inquiry of 10 months, which never was carried on with enthusiasm.

The committee will deplore the action of Gov. Pinchot in vetoing an appropriation of $100,000 for its use, it will listen to a report from Franklin Spencer Edmonds, who succeeded O. K. Eaton of Pittsburgh as counsel, then abandon the job on which committee members have expended considerable worry, but never much energy.

SECRET REPORT LIKELY

In advance of today's meeting sentiment among Senators was for keeping the E d m o n d s report secret. Decision on this bill will be reached in executive session, and no witnesses will be heard. If, however, the Edmonds report should recite some facts regarding utilities which the counsel may contend he could have dug up had the Governor not lopped off the appropriation, that portion may be made public.

Against this claim is the fact that the committee spent $52,000 before its original appropriation was tied up by the courts, and did little except block Eaton's probe of conditions which he had uncovered through investigation.

ATTORNEYS UNPAID

The committee also may adopt a resolution for an appropriation bill to be introduced at the next session to pay the fees of Eaton and his assistants, Julius Levy and J. Cullen Ganey, as well as investigators and expenses of the committee members.

With exceptions of attorneys' fees, most of this money has been paid, but from funds which must be reimbursed through legislative action.

The actual saving to the state through the Governor's veto will thus be no more than $48,000, instead of the $100,000 Mr. Pinchot set forth in his veto message.

Some Senators are for continuing the committee as a "fact-finding body," but Senator John J. McClure, of Delaware County, chairman of the committee, is anxious to let go, and is understood to be supported by a majority. Their action is based on political considerations. So long as the committee retains a semblance of life, and continues to dally and stagger as it has for months, it remains a live target for the Governor.

PLUNGE VICTIM TELLS 2 TALES

CHICAGO, June 12.—(AP.)—Don Foster, 41, of Seattle, Wash., was in a critical condition today after a fall from a seventh-story window of a South Side Hotel.

Foster told the police he had been drugged in a downtown hotel, but later told hospital attendants he had jumped from the window.

He suffered a fractured hip, fractured leg and internal injuries.

In his room at the Crest Hotel this note was found:

"I was drugged in the Morrison Hotel and I hope the law will keep after the big shots of the motion picture industry."

The police received a telegram from Hazel Coglon, Seattle, inquiring after his condition.

Nazi Violence Marks Week-End in Vienna

VIENNA, June 12.—(AP.)—week-end wave of violence in Austria reached a climax this morning with a bomb attack on a Vienna jewelry shop in which the jeweler was killed and four others were injured.

At the same hour mounted police were dispersing Nazi students who participated in a demonstration in the famous Ringstrasse.

New Downtown Bank Opens; to Free Millions

The new Pitt National Bank opened its doors today in the Diamond Building at Fifth and Liberty avenues.

The $7,500,000 frozen assets transferred from the closed Diamond National and Monongahela National banks were not available, but President Charles A. Fisher said that the first of these funds would be ready in a few days. He announced:

"Receivers for the Diamond National Bank and Monongahela National Bank are sending to their depositors notices to call at the Pitt National Bank on certain dates named in the notices for their dividend order. Upon receipt of these notices they are entitled to credit on the books of the Pitt National Bank the amounts of their dividends."

Twenty-five thousand such notices will be mailed, probably at the rate of 2,000 per day, beginning Wednesday. The dividends in the new bank will be subject to withdrawal immediately.

The doors were opened a few minutes before 9 o'clock. First customer was H. L. Fruechtemeyer, of 5014 Friendship avenue.

To depositors of the old Diamond bank 40 per cent of their proved claims is available now. For the Monongahela depositors, 65 per cent is on hand. These sums are subject to check immediately.

Its capital is $700,000; undivided profits, $175,000; surplus, $175,000 and total deposits approximately $7,500,000.

WORLD'S FAIR AIR CRASH KILLS 9

Pleasure Riders Die In Each Other's Arms As Wreckage Blazes

International News Service.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Investigators today blamed a damaged wing for the crash of a World's Fair sight-seeing plane which fell to earth near Glenview and burst into flames, burning to death seven passengers and two of the crew.

Reconstructing the tragedy, Coroner Frank Walsh said the giant Sikorsky amphibian apparently had been damaged structurally when Carl Vickery, World War aviator and pilot, made an unsuccessful attempt to bring the plane down on the choppy waters at the World's Fair ramp in Lake Michigan.

A sudden squall had whipped up choppy waves on the lake while the plane was aloft with its passengers on a 30-minute flight. When the plane "porpoised" on the water for a landing, witnesses saw the right pontoon crumple. Taking the plane into the air, Vickery headed for the Pal-Waukee land airport rather than risk damaging the ship further.

Near Glenview hundreds of motorists saw the right wing snap away at an altitude of 600 feet. Down the big plane came in a spin. Burying its nose in the ground, the amphibian caught fire. A terrific explosion followed, which sent flames 100 feet in the air.

The blazing mass prevented rescuers from reaching the twisted ship for an hour. When firefighters had extinguished the flames the passengers were found to have died in one another's arms. In the control cabin were the bodies of Vickery and his mechanic.

The known dead:

Pilot Vickery, 36, Chicago.

Harrington Jacobs, 26, Chicago, the mechanic.

Edward M. Fay, Chicago.

Miss Stephanie Ogorek, 20, of Chicago, a friend of Fay.

Joseph G. Robinson, 21, New York City.

Edward G. Schaller, 21, Storm Lake, Ia.

Of the other three victims, one was identified from safety deposit box keys as Mrs. Ida Goodwin, formerly of Missoula, Mont., and later a dietician at the Hewitt School, Hewitt, L. I.

GOV. ELY URGES REPEAL VICTORY

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 12.—(AP.)—Gov. Joseph B. Ely laid the blame for "the development of racketeering" at the door of the Eighteenth Amendment as he urged citizens of Massachusetts to get out and vote on the prohibition issue at tomorrow's special election.

The governor characterized the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as the "first step in a return to law and order from the evil of an illicit business" in his appeal to the voters last night. He said:

"We are not selling our souls on an economic appeal, but asking the people to take a cancerous growth from the constitution."

Schenley Distillery Contract Awarded

With the country voting on the repeal of the prohibition amendment, Joseph S. Finch & Sons have awarded a contract for the construction of a new bonded warehouse at its Schenley plant, the second large unit in an expansion program.

The Rust Engineering Company was awarded the contract for a warehouse, 133 by 146 feet, nine stories, of brick, to cost $75,000. It will contain racks for 38,000 barrels.

German Federation Indorses Repeal

ALTOONA, Pa., June 12.—(AP.)—Expressing unanimous approval of a campaign for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and for modification of Sunday blue laws, the German American Federation of Pennsylvania closed its annual convention yesterday.

Fred C. Gartner, of Philadelphia, was elected president, and Reinhold Ulrich, of Pittsburgh, and Robert Riedel, of Johnstown, vice presidents.

JOHN D. POSES FOR YOUTH

LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 12.—(AP.)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., yesterday posed for a snapshot taken by John Tupper, 11, whose father, Fred Tupper, is a commercial cameraman.

Going to the First Baptist Church, where the aged philanthropist worships, John waited until after the services and, seeing Mr. Rockefeller talking to a group of children outside the church, he sighted his camera, only to find the light was not right.

Plucking up enough courage, John walked up to Mr. Rockefeller and said:

"Mr. Rockefeller, will you let me take your picture?"

Smiling, the world-famous man consented to stand where the light would not reflect into the camera, and the snapshot was taken.

MYSTERY SHOT WOUNDS YOUTH

ALTOONA, Pa., June 12.—(AP.)—John Beatty, Jr., 19, is in a hospital with a gunshot wound in the chest which he says was inflicted by an assailant unknown to him as he was walking home from a dance.

Beatty, who lives in McGees Mills, near Glen Campbell, says he fired four shots at the assailant, missing him, then walked to the nearest house and collapsed.

75,000 Swarm Park As Brethern Meet

HERSHEY, Pa., June 12.—(AP.)—Pleasure seekers swarmed about Hershey yesterday, mingling with the plain-garbed members of the Church of the Brethren, intent on the religious features of their one hundred thirty-fifth annual conference.

Park officials estimated 75,000 persons were about the grounds and that between 15,000 and 20,000 attended various activities of the church conference.

VOLPE IGNORES BOMBING CASE SUMMONS

Ban-Box Proprietor Fails to Show Up For Hearing

Mayor John S. Herron's campaign against racket bombings came close to a "flop" in Central Police Court today.

Louis Volpe, of the Wilmerding clan, at liberty under $2,000 bond in connection with the Ban-Box May 31 bombing, ignored his summons to appear for a hearing with four others today.

Thomas Contis, "Tom the Greek," proprietor of the Ban-Box, North Highland avenue and Broad street, billed as the principal witness, also failed to show up.

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg postponed the hearing to Saturday. He asked City Detective Michael Tortorelli of the bomb and arson squad why Contis did not appear.

He replied:

"I don't know."

The bombing was attributed to a racket war between adherents of the old Kline administration and Herron regime followers.

John Maione, 41, of 136 Pearl street, arrested in the automobile bombing of Ralph Scanga, malt products company manager, of 472 Pearl street, May 31, was discharged by Rothenberg for lack of evidence.

MAN, 64, MAY BE CHARLEY ROSS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 12.—(AP.)—In the rolling hills of Greenbrier County lives Charles Phillips, 64-year-old gentleman farmer, who may be the means of solving the mysterious kidnaping of Charley Ross from Germantown, Pa., 60 years ago.

State police are cutting through a skein of evidence pointing to the fact that Phillips is the missing Ross. He does not know who his parents were.

Investigation started with a letter written to Pennsylvania State Police by J. F. Symons, of Rupert, W. Va., where Phillips lives pointing to the probability of Phillips being the missing Ross and saying he was brought to Greenbrier County a year and a half after Charley Ross was kidnaped in 1874.

Sunday Fisherman Shot by Warden

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—(AP.)—A deputy game warden wounded a man at a dam on the Schuylkill river after trying to arrest him on a charge of fishing on Sunday.

The warden, Gottlieb Esslinger, told police he fired at three fishermen after they paid no attention to his calls. One bullet struck James Stetter, 53.

SUNDAY OPERA BRINGS POLICE

NEW YORK, June 12.—(Universal.)—While an audience of 5,000 listened to the Chicago Opera Company's performance of "Rigoletto" at the Hippodrome Theater last night, police appeared with three summonses charging violation of the ordinance prohibiting Sunday theatrical performances.

The summonses were served on Ray Gallo, manager of the company; Cecil Mayberry, director of the theater, and O. S. Crawford, manager of personnel at the theater. They are returnable Thursday.

Police made no effort to interfere with last night's performance, a benefit for the Chicago Opera Employes' Benevolent Association.

The Chicago Opera Company, which is filling a summer engagement at the Hippodrome, also gave a performance last Sunday night, when "Aida" was sung. Complaints made to police during the week led to last night's action, it was explained.

SOCIETY WOMAN FOILS PLOT

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—An attempt to extort $4,700 from Mrs. Katherine Brown Fuller, society horsewoman, was disclosed here with the announcement that Ira R. Brown and his wife were being held for investigation.

After Mrs. Fuller received threatening letters Thursday and Friday, she notified police.

A package of paper cut the size of currency then was left by Mrs. Fuller at a beer garden, in accordance with directions in one of the notes. Brown and his wife, who, police said, showed an interest in the package when it was given to the bartender, were arrested.

FILM WRITER'S WIFE MISSING

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—(AP.)—Fearing his wife, Mary Dorne, may be a victim of foul play or some mental disorder, Eugene Walter, playwright, has asked police to search for the comely 26-year-old actress.

Walter said he had left his wife in downtown Los Angeles Saturday at 1 p. m. and she had not returned.

Walter, author of many plays and films, including "The Easiest Way," "The Wolf" and other successes, said his wife apparently was in perfect health, mentally and physically, and that no domestic difficulties existed in their home. He said:

"She has either lost consciousness of her identity and whereabouts, or has been victimized by someone."

Propeller Cuts Girl Diving From Plane

ORTILLA, Ont., June 12.—(AP.)—Miss Ruth Sussey, 23, of Chicago, Ill., was in a hospital here with cuts and bruises, received when she came in contact with the idling propeller of a seaplane, from which she was about to dive in Lake Couchiching.

Weather Conditions.

An extensive area of high pressure, Prince Albert, Sask., 30.58, overlies the northern and central Rocky Mountains, the plains, the central and upper Mississippi Valley, and the upper lakes, with much cooler weather in most of this area. Pressure is relatively low over the St. Lawrence Valley, Montreal, 29.66, over the lower Mississippi Valley, Vicksburg, 29.90, and the Southwest, Phoenix, 29.74, and showers and thunderstorms have occurred in the lake region, and continue this morning over Northern Ohio, Northern Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. Showers also occurred during the past 24 hours in the lower Mississippi Valley and eastward to the coast. Temperatures range in the sixties in the southern plains and southern lake region, in the fifties in the northern plains, and lower forties in Saskatchewan.

River Conditions.

The Monongahela River is rising a little due to rainfall over that section last Friday night. The Allegheny and the Ohio rivers are falling. ## G.A.R. VETERANS HOLD REUNION

Two Civil War veterans, both members of the 7th Pennsylvania Regiment, held a reunion in the District Attorney's office today while 1,000 others were gathering for their state encampment in the Hotel William Penn.

The two were Maj. A. B. Hay, assistant District Attorney, and national commander of the Union Veteran Legion, and S. R. Steele, of Freeport. Seven other surviving members of the regiment were unable to attend.

Meeting with the veterans here from all parts of Pennsylvania were members of auxiliary organizations, Women's Relief Corps, Daughters of Union Veterans, Ladies of the G. A. R. and Sons of Union Veterans.

The convention will close Friday with a banquet in the H. J. Heinz Company dining room.

FATHER WINS BOY IN COURT

A father was victorious in court today over his mother-in-law in a fight to retain possession of his 3-year-old son.

Judge Ambrose B. Reid ruled that John Spinak, of Whitaker, was a proper person to keep his son, Richard. Mrs. Barbara Pennkova, the child's grandmother, testified that her daughter, the mother of the boy, on her deathbed six months ago, had asked her to rear the child. She testified the father drank and was not a suitable person to bring up the lad.

WEALTHY YOUTH BREAKS DOWN IN GRILLING

Leaps Across Room At Sight of Book-Ends That Dealt Death

International News Service.

FLINT, Mich., June 12.—"I killed her! Now I guess I'm done for. Tell the people who believed in me that I thank them."

Thus did Balfe MacDonald, 17, spoiled wayward son of a millionaire family, confess today that he beat his widowed mother to death with a pair of gilded book-ends.

The confession came shortly after Balfe and his pal, William Terwilliger, 16, were returned here from Nashville, Tenn., where they were caught after a nationwide manhunt.

MacDonald's mother, Grace, 54, widow of a millionaire Flint banker, was found slain in a bedroom of her big mansion here the morning of May 26. The same morning Balfe and young Terwilliger disappeared.

WITHOUT 'PRESSURE'

Chief of Detectives Edward S. Tewhey said the youth confessed without police pressure, except for the fact that he was shown the blood-stained book-ends.

He blanched when he saw one of the book-ends.

Leaping to the other side of the small grilling-room, he cried:

"Don't show me that! Don't show me that!"

A moment later he launched into his full confession.

Chief Tewhey quoted him as saying that young Terwilliger and he were planning to run away that night, and that Bill was sleeping in the basement of the house, waiting for me."

QUOTED BY SLEUTH

Tewhey quoted the boy further:

"Mother and I began arguing about money, and suddenly I picked up a book-end.

"She began to yell, 'You can't do that to me.' . . .

"I covered her head with a pillow. I didn't know how badly she was hurt. I woke Bill. We sat on the stairs and didn't know what to do."

"Finally we went to my sister's room where I knew mother had hidden some money. We took $45 and the car and headed South.

"In Louisville, Bill bought a paper and we found out mother was dead and the police were hunting us."

Young Terwilliger, transformed from an adventurer into a frightened, wide-eyed boy, sat in the room while Balfe told his story—the same story which Bill told police two days ago that Balfe had related to him.

LAKE CYCLONE KILLS FOUR

HOUGHTON LAKE, Mich., June 12.—(INS.)—Three bodies had been resovered from the waters of Houghton Lake today, while Boatmen dragged for a fourth, all victims of a freak cyclone that turned the boat-dotted lake into a death trap yesterday.

The dead were: Mrs. Florence Labuda, 47, Saginaw; Robert Walcott, 30, of Charlotte; John Townsend, 28, of Alma, and his son, Francis, 12.

The squall swept down upon the lake while scores of small boats were plying about the waters. Observers said 25 of the boats were overturned by the first gust.

The wind, witnesses said, raised four waterspouts, one of them 30 feet in height. Boatmen rescued 29.

Jumps From Train After Shooting in Air

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—(AP.)—A man tentatively identified from papers in his pocket as John Elabaross, Seattle, Wash., jumped from a Pennsylvania train today after firing three shots in the air. He was seriously injured.

His papers indicated he was scheduled to sail for Greece from New York. Police said the man, believed to have been a waiter, had been under a delusion he was going to be robbed.

Hoarders Slackers, Cummings Declares

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(INS.)—Gold hoarders were characterized by Attorney General Cummings today as no better than war time slackers. He said:

"I have no patience with people who are no more than slackers. We are trying to win a war against depression and hard times."

2 Brothers Go on Trial In M'Math Kidnaping

BARNSTABLE, Mass., June 12.—(AP.)—A jury composed for the most part of Cape Cod tradesmen and farmers today was quickly chosen to try the brothers, Kenneth anr Cyril Buck, for the kidnaping of 10-year-old Margaret "Peggy" McMath early last month.

Forty-five minutes after the first talesman was examined the jury box was filled and the court adjourned to permit a ride over the kidnaping terrain so that the jurymen might familiarize themselves with the scenes of the crime.

"Peggy" McMath was enticed from her school in Harwich on May 2 by a man in the garb of a Negro chauffeur.

She was recovered May 6 after her father, Neil C. McMath, former Detroit business man, had paid $60,000 to her abductors.

The Buck brothers, Kenneth, 28, and Cyril, 40, were arrested on May 7 after Cyril, who had acted as an intermediary, had been questioned at length and, according to police, confessed that his brother had held the girl captive in the cellar of a vacant house.

The brothers appeared in good spirits just before the opening of the trial. They ate heartily at the jail and conferred with their attorneys before entering the courtroom. Kenneth was nattily dressed, but his brother more soberly garbed.

Ice Suffers From Heat But Cracks Jokes

The Rev. Orva Lee Ice, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Wilkinsburg, forgot the heat for a while today by joking about his cool sounding name.

Between sips of iced tea, while fanning himself, he let it be known he is suffering from the heat just as much as any others in this section. Then he jokingly added:

"The name Ice is not what it is cracked up to be."

Puns about his name, he said, have become trite. There isn't one of them that he hasn't heard hundreds of times. He continued:

"Perhaps I should give my son, Jackson, the name of Icicle."

When Mr. Ice registered at a western college the registrar would not believe his name, he said. When the registrar was convinced he told him:

"We'll have to melt you and convert you into steam and then send you out to preach."

The Ices live at 1101 Center avenue, Wilkinsburg.

NEW VET FIGHT HOLDS UP CONGRESS

pendent offices bill containing the veterans' provision "to insist" on the substitute proposal.

The Cutting-Steiwer plan seeks to stipulate by law some of the promises conatined in President Roosevelt's letter to the House Democratic steering committee to take care of the so-called presumptive cases, and provides that reductions to veterans injured in service shall be limited to 25 per cent, as originally approved by the enate.

One basic differences between the House-approved compromise and the Cutting-Steiwer proposal is that the latter specifies that no compensation Spanish-American war veterans or dependents were receiving before the economy law became effective March 20 shall be cut more than 25 per cent regardless of any provision of the economy law.

ONLY GUARANTEE

This is intended to remove the requirement that Spanish War veterans prove their injuries, ailments or disabilities originated in service. Cutting said:

"The only guarantee we have concerning the Spanish-American War veterans is contained in a letter from the President to the special Democratic committee of the House."

In this letter, President Roosevelt promised to care for Spanish-American veterans by regulation. Cutting went on:

"It requires no argument to show that that means little or nothing. When the economy act was originally passed, we were assured justice would be meted out to those who served their country.

"We have a promise that regulations would be issued that would give some assistance to Spanish-American war veterans."

He added that because of lost records this class of veterans were "unable to prove" their injuries originated in service.

Byrns Predicts Passage Of Bank Reform Bill

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP.)—Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, Democratic leader, predicted to newspapermen today the Glass-Steagall banking bill would be enacted before this session of Congress adjourns.

Byrns said:

"The conferees are not far apart and we have hopes they will get together. If they bring in a report, it will be passed overwhelmingly by the House and the eSnate. This will remove another obstacle to early adjournment."

Municipal Bankruptcy Bill Held Up in Senate

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP.)—The Senate today rejected without a record vote a move to take up the municipal bankruptcy bill without waiting for a report from the committee in charge. The action virtually killed the legislation for this session.

The motion by Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), of Michigan, was rejected after Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, appealed to his colleagues "not to embark on so large an enterprise" at this time.

Vandenberg demanded action on the bill, which already has passed the house, to meet what he characterized as a "critical situation" in municipal financing.

Senator Reed (Rep.) of Pennsylvania, also opposed the motion on the ground that it would "result in destroying the borrowing power of municipalities."

Action on Wine Bill Delayed Till Next Session

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP.)—The House Ways and Means Committee voted, 11 to 9, today to postpone until the next session of Congress consideration of the Lea bill legalizing naturally fermented wines.

Chairman Doughton said:

"We knew there wasn't any chance of getting the bill through this session, and besides that there were some differences about what the bill should contain.

"When Congress reconvenes—if the Eighteenth Amendment hasn't been repealed—we might have to hold some additional hearings. We didn't hear anybody this time but those favoring the bill."

Among those the committee did hear was Maj. A. V. Dalrymple, federal prohibition administrator, who said enactment of the Lea bill would increase respect for law and bring in $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year in taxes.

U. S. to Start Billion Works Plan at Once

Johnson Aiming to Electrify Trade Into Life

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP.)—Washington intends to plump a billion dollars' worth of work upon the country so fast that it will electrify trade into new life.

As Congress wrangles its way to the finish, night and day work in the office of Hugh Johnson, the administrator-designate of the industry control and public works law, is putting together a program for undelayed, simultaneous letting of contracts on a huge share of the program authorized by the new act.

Johnson intends to have at least 1,000,000 men employed on the government projects by Fall. He and his aides have gone over possible projects and have approved almost a billion's worth already.

There is to be $50,000,000 of Federal buildings offered for contracts almost immediately the works bill becomes law. Another equal batch is planned to be ready 90 days later. By July 1, $400,000,000 will be available for road construction and a quarter billion of this is expected to be put out right away.

Under draft is a whole program of rivers and harbors improvements.

All these enterprises are carefully divided regionally under a plan carving the country into 12 districts for which engineers who know their land are checking off the jobs that can be tackled first and that will employ the most men for the money.

Another recovery step by the administration was announced last night by the Reconstruction Corporation: A one-half of 1 per cent reduction in interest on all oans it makes, and a reduction to 5 per cent for five years of the dividend rate demanded on preferred stock in borrowing banks.

The reductions are conditioned on all borrowers' cutting the salaries of their executive lists to the new "reasonable" bounds being prescribed by the R. F. C.; and upon all financial borrowers' passing the interest reduction on to their customers.

What Congress Must Do to Adjourn

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP.)—Here is what must be done in Congress before adjournment:

Approval by the Senate of the industrial-public works bill.

Approval by the Senate of the amended independent offices bill, carrying veterans' compensation cuts.

Passage by the Senate of the $3,500,000,000 appropriation to put in force the session's recovery acts.

Other legislation pending which has a chance of getting through:

Empowering the President to name non-resident Governor of Hawaii. Passed by the House, waiting Senate action.

Glass-Steagall bank reform bill, passed by both houses, deadlocked for weeks in conference.

Municipal and corporate insolvency relief bills, passed by House and waiting Senate action.

MITCHELL 'LOAN' CLAIM BACKED

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—Garrard B. Winston, former Under-Secretary of the Treasury, told a jury in Federal Court today that in 1929 he had, as counsel to the directors of the National City Company, told officers of the company that $1,860,000 they had received from a management fund that year "could not be regarded as personal income."

Included in the $1,860,000 was the sum of $666,666.67 paid to Charles E. Mitchell, then chairman of the company. Mitchell's failure to report the amount in his 1929 income tax return is the basis of one of the charges of income tax evasion for which he has been on trial for the last month.

Testifying for the defense, Winston, who practiced law in Chicago before becoming Under-Secretary of the Treasury in 1923, said he came from Washington to New York to resume his career as a lawyer in 1927.

Discussing receipts signed by the officers, acknowledging their obligation to pay the money back out of future profits from the fund, Winston referred to them as "notes."

MELLON FIRM DISSOLVED

The Ricsar Company, of which Richard K. Mellon was president, was dissolved today by a court order.

A petition for dissolution was presented last month by Moorhead and Knox, attorneys for Mellon. With no protestants appearing today, the date set for the hearing, Judge Ambrose B. Reid, of Common Pleas Court, signed the order.

At a meeting of stockholders in 1931 it had been decided to dissolve the concern, which dealt in stocks, bonds, and mortgages. Congressman Louis T. McFadden named the Ricsar Company as one he suspected of being involved in tax manipulations.

SENATE VOTES CRIME QUIZ

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(INS.)—The resolution by Senator Copeland (Dem), of New York, for a sweeping investigation of organized crime and racketeering in American cities was approved today by the Senate without a record vote.

This action insures a Senate inquiry into the activities of gangsters in such cities as New York, Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia.

R. K. Mellon Posts Approved by I. C. C.

PLANS FOR TAX LAW PROBE APPROVED

of the House, for a complete revision of the federal tax laws.

Rainey, one of the authors of the original income tax law in 1913, proposed a gross income tax to keep multimillionaires from avoiding Federal taxes through deduction of business losses. Other leaders, particularly Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, suggested adoption of a general sales levy, with necessities exempted, to reach the tax-dodgers.

Rainey, whose word is law in the House, helped Secretary of State Cordell Hull (then a Representative) and Dr. Thomas Adams, of Wisconsin University, draft the original income tax law, following adoption of the Sixteenth Amendment.

At that time, he regarded it as the perfect system for levying taxes. Now, he believes the rich have evolved so many schemes to escape its levies that it works a hardship on the average American citizen.

$40,000,000 Profit Available To Morgan 'Preferred' Clients

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP.)—A recapitulation by Senate investigators made public today disclosed that J. P. Morgan & Co., sold 3,029,100 shares or units of stock to 700 selected clients from 1927 to 1929.

On the basis of market prices, the selected clients could have realized immediate or almost immediate profits of more than $40,000,000.

A composite table prepared by the investigators showed many of the prominent clients shared in several issues. Some of the more prominent names follow:

V. F. W. Founder Gets Confirming Decree

WEST PLAINS, Mo., June 12.—(AP.)—A divorce for the purpose of confirming a simular action in Panama in 1918 has been granted to J. C. Putnam, 68, founder and first national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, from his first wife, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Putnam, of Columbus, O.

Putnam told Circuit Judge Will H. D. Green, he and Mrs. Putnam separated in Columbus in 1913, he going to Panama to work on the Panama Canal. In 1918, he said, he got a divorce there and that the records has been lost. He asked a confirmatory decree.

COACH MODEL BUILDERS TO SEE FAIR

News of the wonders on display at Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition has a special and extra significance for boys in this vicinity who are building Napoleonic coach models in the $85,000 competition of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild.

For two boys from every state, and two from each of the seven Canadian Guild districts, will attend the Century of Progress next August, as honored guests of the Guild, and will spend four days seeing the sights of Chicago and the great fair.

This fact is furnishing an incentive for Guild members to make the most of the few weeks remaining between now and the competition deadline, which, as in previous years, is midnight July 1.

Many members of this Guild chapter are writing to inquire about puzzling points in connection with their model construction, and their questions indicate that the majority are well along with their work. Those who are not building the case in which to pack the coach are looking after details of the paint work, which requires the utmost care and can not be hastened if perfect results are to be obtained.

Word received from Guild headquarters in Detroit this week said that each Guild member who has started a coach has been sent a questionnaire and asked to notify the Guild whether he was completing his model in time for entry July 1. All who notify the Guild that they are doing so will be advised where to deliver their models, and given additional instructions for entering them properly.

Judging will start immediately after July 1, and state and district awards will be presented as soon as this preliminary judging is finished. Announcement of the two boys in each state who will attend the Century of Progress, competing there for the $5,000 university scholarships, also will be made at the conclusion of the preliminary judging.

A satin-finish enamel—with just the right lustre for kitchens, bathrooms, playrooms, stairways, etc. The surface quickly becomes hard and tight, resisting wear and making your walls easy to clean with soap and water. In 12 colors.

S-W House Paint, $2.80 Gal.
You save when you select this high quality paint for your house—fewer gallons are needed—the surface lasts for years—and it is easily washed.

Enameloid, 70c Pint
A 4-hour drying enamel—in 16 lovely colors—to use for furniture, woodwork, toys, porch furniture, etc. It is durable and can be used outside.

S-W Screen Enamel, 40c Qt.
A protective enamel for screen mesh—will not clog nor dust off against your curtains. One quart will paint the screens of an average 6-room house.

Porch Paint, 85c Quart
Gives an enamel-like finish that is easily cleaned. Use it on your porch and steps—it is easily flushed off with the hose.

Mallinson's Pussywillow

A Special Event in Women's "Sunshine Corner" Frocks

$10.75

The Mallinson label is in every dress, should anyone need further proof than the delightful feel of the supple, washable silk, to be convinced it is real Pussywillow.

The texture of Pussywillow makes it about the coolest silk in the world, and the prints in these frocks have either white grounds (with patterns in brown, raspberry, navy or black), or cool-looking traceries of white on dark grounds.

The ten styles consider the specific requirements of average 36 to 44 figures, and of shorter women who wear sizes 33½ to 43½.

Will it Wash?

This is an important question which is asked many times of various fabrics and garments at this season when washability is such an essential consideration.

Washability Expert Here

This week through the courtesy of Lever Brothers, manufacturers of Lux, a washability expert will be here to answer questions regarding the means and methods of washing various articles and fabrics, particularly those of delicate texture. Spend a few minutes discussing washing problems with this expert, whose information and advice are based on scientific research and laboratory experience.

Doubtful Girls Can Find Plenty of Nice Boys

Are there no more regular boys left in this old world of ours?

"Just Two Kids" think not. According to them, all the modern men you meet are Just Bums. So they've decided to have nothing more to do with the horrid creatures.

Are they right — or have they, maybe, looked in the wrong places?

Here they are. Listen in and then read on, for there's an answering picture.

My Dear Miss Robinson—

We are two girls. We are not bad looking. We'd like to have fun. But we don't go out with boys because most of the boys we have met are no good. They seem to think that if a girl goes with them, she should put up with just about anything.

What has become of all the nice boys? We are afraid that there aren't any left. Don't you think that is true? Please tell us what you think. Does a girl have to be wild to be popular? It seems so. I wish some of the fellows would tell us about this, too. JUST TWO KIDS.

Well, your wish is granted. Here's one of "the fellows" telling you. His letter came in the same mail with yours. Of course, he isn't answering you, because he hasn't read your moan, but he's giving a pretty good picture of a regular guy.

Dear Elsie Robinson—

I like you because you like me, and I know you like me because you pay so much attention to me! If you don't know what I mean, I'll say I'm one of these "modern kids"—and you know what that means. I'm 20 years old.

You're always nagging me, of course; telling me to scrape the mud off my shoes, to keep my shirt clean and wash behind my ears; to brush my teeth and gargle with antiseptic every morning; to get my studies, and run a hundred errands.

ANGERED BY RULES

In short, you want me to be neat and clean, cheerful and courteous, intelligent and active—in body and clothes, speech and disposition, heart and mind—and gosh! I'm trying to be!

Every other day, naturally, I forget or dodge the routine. And every time that sixth sense of yours prompts you to yank me back by the collar when I try to dash past inspection—or if I go out the back way, you remember, and I get it at supper time.

I get awful mad at Aunt Elsie sometimes. She doesn't seem to realize that I'm grown up—almost as big as she is. Then I make up my mind to "show" her. This time I will run away!

The start is good. For a block and a half I'm sore as the devil. For another three blocks I'm still determined. During the next I wonder does she really know how mean she was? Another block! So many baths! Though they didn't feel so bad once I got the soap out of my eyes.

More blocks—those scoldings! Why did she do it? Well, she didn't scold always, of course. There was the time I fought the bully, and got messed up plenty—and she wasn't angry. And again, I got plastered with mud helping to push a stranger's car out of a rut, with only a "thanks" for my effort. And she laughed and seemed pleased about something! Funny, how she was always busting her own discipline that way!

TRUTH AND BEAUTY

Then, too, she had a way of cheering me up when I got discouraged or blue. She pulled truth and beauty and ambition out of the gutter, it seemed, and made life and the world interesting. And cook? Say, fella, you have to like what you don't like when Aunt Elsie cooks it.

Hmm—this is my own street. Where was I going? I wonder? Oh, well, no matter. There's the evening paper. Wonder what Aunt Elsie has to say tonight? I gotta see. And I want to say—please don't ever stop liking my gang. Don't ever think we're not worth bawling out, setting straight and prodding on. Teach us to keep faith with life, and discipline ourselves. Sure, keep us "thinking mad!"

There he is, youngsters! Look him over! There are thousands like him. You can find him, if you look in the right places—but he won't be hanging around any speaks!

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Proper Table Linen

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I will be in Panama for quite a while, and I want to buy all the linen that I can possibly afford, as it is very reasonable here.

They have lovely tablecloths trimmed in lace, also inserted with lace. My husband thinks we should not use them, even on special occasions. I think it is perfectly proper to use them, and will be anxiously waiting your reply. L.

Tablecloths trimmed with lace or with lace insertion are very popular now, and very fashionable. They make a beautiful background for a table setting, both for formal and informal luncheons, and for all kinds of informal dinners. Indeed, I think that they are one of the most convenient kinds of table coverings to own, for they have a way of adapting themselves to many kinds of settings and to many kinds of decorations, and to many kinds of room interiors.

Wedding Present

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The "head girl" in our office, the niece of the chief of the firm, recently surprised us by getting married, without having told us until the day before the wedding. We have received wedding announcements and would like your advice as to whether we are obliged to give her a present, and if so, the proper time in which to give it?

READER.

Give her a present if you wish . . . This is the only rule. Customarily it is not considered that wedding announcements "call for" a present as much as wedding invitations, but the real final judgment is in the wish-to-give. If you decide to give her a present, it may be given at any time, now.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Nick Leaves Madge Shackled to Fencepost

Nick's menacing query, "Are you going to nod your head?" brought me back with a jerk from the flight of hectic planning for getting away, engendered by his announced intention of hurrying to Tony's side. There was that in his voice that told me his threat to "bash" my "face in," if I did not obey him, was no idle one, and in a panic, I nodded my head vigorously, betokening my promise that I would not scream if he took his hand away from my mouth.

He instantly released me, laughing good-humoredly, if a bit sardonically, as he lowered his hand from my lips.

"Don't get me wrong, Babe," he said as he stepped back a pace and surveying me, shackled to the fence post, "I'm not a bad egg, if I'm treated right. So long, and pleasant dreams until I get back."

He climbed the fence with a furtive noiselessness that betrayed long practice. Then he crawled through the grass at the side of the road until he gained the shelter of his own car, and, I guessed, the company of Tony.

The conjecture became a certainty a minute or two later when I heard both voices in swift low colloquy that I could not understand, and then Nick's voice called out blusteringly:

"Hey! you mugs, ain't you ready to call it a day?"

LIES TO GANGSTERS

There was a moment's silence, and then from behind the car which had held Charles Owen and Marion, came an equally blustering answer:

"Where's our passengers, and what did you high-jack 'em for? Bring 'em back, and we'll call it a day."

"Now is that a nice word, 'high-jack?' Nick mocked. "We didn't touch your passengers. Can we help it if they got no confidence in you and beat it the minute they heard a gat going off?"

"Don't hand us any of that baloney," Jerry's henchmen growled. "Who was ripping that guy apart if it wa'an't you?"

"Me!" Nick's tone was virtuous to the 'nth degree. "I never touched him. It was the gal's boy friend that was knocking his block off.

"Did he croak him?"

"Naw!" Nick's voice held disgust at Ronald's ineptitude. "He put him out for a bit, and I helped the boy friend get him and the gal over the fence into the field. But while we were untying the gal, he must have come to, and crawled away, for when I went to look for him he wa'an't there. I chased down the field, and the moon come out long enough for me to see him legging it way down toward the road. I was too far away to catch up with him, and he isn't worth risking the hot seat for, so I didn't unlimber the gat, just let him keep on running."

EXPLAINS ABOUT MADGE

There was a second's silence as Jerry's henchman considered the plausibility of this highly colored account. Then he evidenced his acceptance of it by another raucous query:

"Where's the gal?"

"How should I know?" Nick countered glibly. "She and the boy friend beat it while I was chasing after the Big Squeeze. They don't mean nothing in my young life. I should worry about them. They're probably a mile away by this time and going strong."

"Come again," jeered the voice from behind the other car. "What did you stage this scrap for if there wa'an't something you wanted?"

"I done it for my sweetie," Nick said with a raucous laugh. "She's a friend of the gal that was in your car, and she wanted me to give the boy friend a hand. So I did. But what they do now is nothing in my young life. I've got a heavy date, I have, and I'm only waiting for you guys to call it a day. Then I'm going to keep it—and how!"

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

A Coup or a Squeeze?

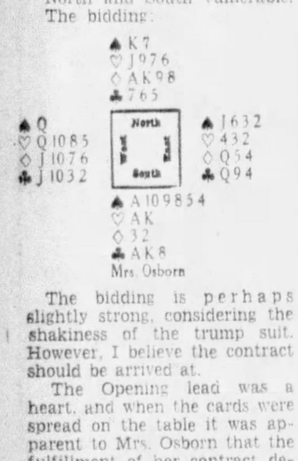
All authorities writing on the play of the hand at Contract Bridge stress the importance of making a plan of play as soon as the Dummy goes down on the table after the Opening lead is made. This does not mean that the first formed plan should be adhered to through thick and thin, regardless of what may develop, but it does mean that purposeless play is in its essence losing play and that any plan is better than no plan.

This principle is illustrated by the following hand, played recently by Mrs. Lewis Osborn in a Rubber game in New York, at a contract of six spades.

South, Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

The bidding:



Mrs. Osborn

The bidding is perhaps slightly strong, considering the shakiness of the trump suit. However, I believe the contract should be arrived at.

The Opening lead was a heart, and when the cards were spread on the table it was apparent to Mrs. Osborn that the fulfillment of her contract depended upon a number of fortunate occurrences. If the Queen-Knave of trumps were in one hand and unprotected, she might draw them immediately by leading the Ace and King, in which case all her anxiety regarding the making of the contract would be at an end. The long trump suit and the double stoppers in all suits also suggested the possibility of making the contract, even though the adversely held trump honors were not in one hand, by a squeeze play. On the other hand, there were many other combinations which might make the play difficult.

With all these considerations in mind, Mrs. Osborn, after winning the first trick with the heart Ace, led a low spade to the King in Dummy, and West played the Queen. The question of whether or not this was a falsecard immediately entered the mind of the Declarer, but, knowing West to be the type of player who rarely falsecards, she decided to finesse the return of the suit. The finesse held and disclosed that East had held four trumps originally.

Two lines of play were still open. First, Declarer might concede East a trump trick and then, depending on the possibility that West had held originally four diamonds and four hearts, try for a squeeze. Second, she might try for a coup, the success of which would depend on East's holding not less than three diamonds or three clubs.

Although West's heart lead strongly suggested that he held four hearts and four diamonds, it seemed to Mrs. Osborn that there was an even greater probability that East held at least three cards in each of the minor suits. Therefore she decided to try for the coup.

Her next play was to lay down the Ace and King of clubs and the King of hearts. She then followed with a small diamond to Dummy, returning to her own hand with a heart, which she ruffed, thereby disposing of one of her surplus trumps. Another diamond was led and won in the Dummy, and Dummy's last heart led. East discarded his last club, and the contract was now made. The heart was ruffed and the club 8 laid down. West won with the Knave, but the Declarer, through accurate play, had fulfilled her contract. East had left, after discarding his last diamond on the club trick, only the Knave and 6 of trumps, and whichever he played on the trick, South could take them both.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You hold:

♠ Q 4 ♡ A Q 3 2 ◇ K J 6 3 ♣ 9 8 4

Neither side is vulnerable. You have bid one heart. Your partner has responded with one spade. What do you bid?

Answer: One notrump. In line with the Approach-Forcing principle of keeping a "One over One" bid open whenever possible. Although this hand is a minimum Opening bid, the extra value of the Queen of spades, plus the slight fit with partner's spade bid makes it advisable to give partner another chance.

How to Keep Well -:-

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Your Body Withstands a Pressure of 15 Tons

When the newspapers printed the story of Prof. Picard and his ascent into the "stratosphere," world-wide interest was aroused. But we should learn more about the normal atmosphere in which we live. Few realize what an important part it plays in our daily life.

Dr. Copeland

Normal atmospheric pressure is 15 pounds to the square inch. Applied to the barometer, it is the pressure that will hold up a column of mercury 30 inches high. It is estimated that the body of an average-sized man living at sea level is subjected to a total pressure of about 34,000 pounds, or more than 15 tons.

This pressure is essential to normal health. The tissues and juices of the body are subjected to this pressure and could not function without it. Breathing is influenced by the pressure. Even the heads of certain bones are kept in their sockets by the outside pressure.

A change in pressure results in mechanical changes within the body. Persons visiting high altitudes, as in mountain climbing or in aviation, complain of weakness, severe headache and nausea. The hands and feet become cold, the pulse is weak, and breathing is deeper, faster and difficult.

If exposure to unfamiliar atmospheric pressure is prolonged, impairment of sight, hearing and other unpleasant sensations result. These symptoms are caused by the high altitude which produces lowering of the atmospheric pressure.

When the atmospheric pressure is increased the body likewise suffers. It is seldom that man is subjected to increased pressure. To those who enter diving bells, diving suits and caissons, it becomes a problem.

"Caisson disease," also known as "compressed air disease," and "divers' paralysis," was once a serious and even a fatal disease of men engaged in underwater construction. Those afflicted with this disease complain of severe headache, dizziness and faintness.

In severe cases the victim complains of marked pains in the legs and abdomen. He "doubles up" with pain. The men call the affliction the "bends" and although they joke about it, they dread the affliction.

I am glad to say that as a result of careful study and investigations, made by scientists and physicians, this disease is now rarely encountered. The evil effects of sudden atmospheric changes are avoided by the use of "decompression chambers."

Medical research, engineering and scientific study undoubtedly will utilize the findings of Prof. Picard in his solo flight into the stratosphere. We owe gratitude to this courageous scientist who ventured into an unknown field in order that humanity might be the wiser.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Prominent collar bones are more often the result of poor posture than emaciation. Carry the head erect, chest high; hold in the tummy, fling back the hips; the collar bones will do a discreet hide-away. Exercise by swinging the arms in wide circles, breathing deeply, lifting on the toes.

White spots on the finger nails are probably caused by the use of metal instruments at the nail base. The word "probably" is used advisedly, since it is not definitely known what creates the disfiguring blemishes. No application will have any effect upon them.

Never meddle with a cold sore. Let it go its own way—you will be rid of it that much sooner. It often happens that the most harmless application will cause the lip to swell to unsightly proportions; sometimes glands at the side of the neck will enlarge, become painful.

Blue is a popular color once again, for which the sisterhood can be thankful. Navy is becoming to the blonde, the brunette and the betwixt-and-between. It does not rob the complexion of natural coloring, as does gray and kindred tone.

CURTIS WILLS FORTUNE TO DAUGHTER

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—(AP.)—The will of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, who died last week, provides that his vast publishing interests shall be placed in trust, to be managed by seven trustees.

No public charities are provided for, the will, made public today, explaining that he had taken care of such gifts during his lifetime.

The trusteeship of his publishing interests is to continue until the death of the last survivor of his daughter and grandchildren. The daughter, Mary Louise Curtis Bok, is to receive the net income during her life and her children after Mrs. Bok's death.

FIRM KEPT INTACT

The will provides that his greatest holding, the Curtis Publishing Company, must be held intact unless there is unanimous agreement among the seven trustees to dispose of it.

No such stipulation is made concerning the Curtis-Martin newspapers, which publish the New York Evening Post, the Philadelphia Inquirer, or the Public Ledger Company, which issues the Morning and Evening Ledger in this city.

Curtis' homes in Wyncote, outside Philadelphia, and Rockport, Me.; his yacht, and all furnishings are left to his daughter.

SERVANTS NAMED

In addition, she is to receive $100,000 in cash and any residue after testamentary requirements are met.

The will also leaves $100,000 to each of his stepdaughters, Alice P. Martin and Helen P. Wells. Each of Mrs. Bok's children will receive $50,000 on becoming 25 years of age.

To each of his servants he bequeaths $100 for each year in his employ.

After his daughter and each of her children die, the trust will be broken up and the proceeds divided in equal shares among such of his descendants as may then be living, Mr. Curtis directs.

The trustees are Mrs. Bok, John C. Martin, Cary W. Bok, W. Curtis Bok, W. D. Fuller, Charles A. Tyloer and George H. Lorimer.

KIDNAP GUNMEN HUNTED

WELLINGTON, Tex., June 12.—(INS.)—Kidnaped and wired to a tree by two desperadoes, Sheriff George Corry and City Marshal Paul Hardy returned here today and identified their two captors as Clyde and Ivan Barrow, Dallas gunmen wanted for murder.

The officers were kidnaped by the pair when they went to the farm home of Steve Pritchard, farmer, following an auto accident in which the gunmen's car went over an embankment. Prichard was covered with sub-machine guns when he went to the assistance of the gunmen.

They forced the farmer to take a seriously injured woman companion to his home, but refused to allow him to summon medical aid. When Mrs. Jack Prichard, daughter-in-law of the farmer, knocked on the farmhouse door she was shot and slightly wounded.

When Corry and Hardy arrived, they were overpowered and taken to Erick, Okla., where they were left wired to a tree.

FOURTH OF JULY PARTY

PATTERN NO. 466 By Laura Wheeler

The Fourth of July—the most important of all our national holidays—a day that calls for festivity and joyful celebration! How to make it festive—how to make it gay, has been planned for you. At any party, the table decoration is the outstanding feature. Besides suggestion for attractive ways of setting the table, a fitting red, white and blue floral centerpiece that can be made of real or paper flowers is described in detail with directions for making the paper flowers. Patterns and directions for two table favors, that combine a candy container and a place card are given. As paper hats are necessary to give a party the proper hilarity, directions for making two different ones are offered. But then a party does not begin and end at the table. So directions for three amusing and entertaining games—for the old or young—are included.

Send 10c for patterns and directions to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

NAZI CLASHES HALT PARLEY

MUNICH, Germany, June 12.—(AP.)—Investigations were proceeding today into clashes between Nazi storm troopers and Catholics resulting in the sudden cancellation by the government of the Catholic Journeymen's convention here.

Cardinal Faulhaber was prevented from conducting Solemn High Mass in connection with the convention Sunday when storm troopers barred entrances to the huge exhibition hall.

The disorder was laid in the official version to a provocative attitude by attendants at the convention and their wearing of orange colored shirts considered a misuse of the brown shirt by Nazis.

Several hundred Nazis Saturday night allegedly appeared at a hotel where Catholic apprentices were staying and dragged them from their beds. Two of the Catholics were sent to a hospital.

Two Hill Men Held For Numbers Trial

Lewis Gilbert, 42, Negro, and Frank Carrbro, 41, Negro, were held for court in Central Police Court today on charges of operating a lottery. They were arrested in Gilbert's home, 1535 Wylie avenue, by detectives, who said they operated a numbers lottery. The raid followed Mayor Herron's cleanup order.

BOMB DAMAGES 2 BUILDINGS

JEANNETTE, Pa., June 12.—A dynamite bomb ripped out the walls of two buildings here early today. Exploded at 3:40 a. m. in an alley between Tocco Brothers' grocery and dwelling and another building, occupied by Howard Steiner, on North Third street, the bomb tore out a brick arch, bulged the walls of both buildings, and shattered windows. No one was hurt. Police said they failed to find a clue to the bombers.

COAL, RAIL MEN HAIL MILLER'S APPOINTMENT

The Senate's confirmation of the appointment of Carroll Miller, Pittsburgh manufacturer, to the Interstate Commerce Commission was hailed as good news by railroad and coal executives here.

J. F. Deasy, vice president of the Central Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad, said:

"Pennsylvania should rejoice that at last the state has been given recognition on the national transportation tribunal. Mr. Miller has an excellent background of training and practical business experience. He will, I am sure, administer the affairs of his office with a keen sense of justice and fair play, and in the best interests of the people in all sections of the country. He deserves the confidence and good will of all, irrespective of party."

J. Hartman Hillman, president of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company, said:

"I'm glad to see a man of such high caliber, who is well acquainted with our problems, named to the commission. Mr. Miller has been a Pittsburgher for a long time and knows some of the difficulties we've faced in the past."

C. E. Lesher, vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, said:

"We should be able to get justice out of the office without a Pittsburgh representative. But we are very well pleased that someone from Pennsylvania—and especially from Pittsburgh—has been named."

Pittsburgh Boy Makes Escape

North Side Boy, 9, Comes Thru Illness; Mother Lauds "The Family Physician" Medicine

Thousands of Pittsburgh mothers are wild with joy over the swift benefits which "The Family Physician" Medicine gave their youngsters. It's been going that 68 years, and this statement recently made by Mrs. Clara Wehner, 12 Wormser Ave., N. S., who said:

"My mother used 'The Family Physician' Medicine for years. There seem to be no limits to its benefits. When my 9-year-old son took sick we gave it to him, and I believe it saved his life. Is it any wonder I never fail to recommend it to other mothers?"

Mother, be sure to get a bottle of "The Family Physician" Medicine today. It costs only 30c or 60c and even that small price will be refunded if you're not simply delighted with the benefits it brings children in fever, upset stomach, colds and constipation. You can get it at any Mayflower or Sun Cut Rate Drug Store. Better see the representative at Sun Cut Rate, 211 Diamond st., and have him explain this amazing medicine that saves mother so many worries and heartaches.

Broadcasts From World Parley In London Continue Tonight; Piccard Flight Re-Enacted

With the World Economic and Monetary Conference in London off to a good start, NBC and CBS have announced an extensive schedule of internationally broadcast reports from the British capital.

William Hard, covering the parley for NBC, opens the report series via NBS-WCAE at 8:30 tonight, to be heard over the same facilities each Monday at the same hour and each Wednesday at 9:30 p. m. Hard broadcasts over NBC-KDKA each Friday, beginning this week, and each Sunday at 2:15 and 7:15 p. m., beginning June 18.

H. V. Kaltenborn, doing the job for CBS, will be heard over CBS-WJAS Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6 p. m. and Sundays at 12:30 and 7:30 p. m. The broadcasts will continue throughout the conference period.

Going Up!

"Man Goes Straight Up Ten Miles," the first of a series of programs heralding Auguste Piccard's stratosphere flight in July at the Century of Progress Exposition, is listed on KDKA at 10:30 tonight. It re-enacts Piccard's first ascent.

Pittsburgh's first brewers' program goes on the air via KDKA at 10 with the Silver Toppers, a male quartet, holding forth melodically. The feature, sponsored by the Independent Brewing Company, is scheduled twice weekly.

On the same station at 6:30, Harvey Gaul Pittsburgh composer-critic and recent recipient of the degree of doctor of music from the University of Pittsburgh, reviews historically "Jewish Folk Songs."

Hill-Billy Tears

Inaugurating a new Monday schedule, "America's Grub Street Speaks" moves into the 5:45 spot on WJAS with the jungle-wandering John Vandercooks as guests.

Myomyomy!. . . The woeful tale of Synda Allen, put into verse and set to music by some moralizing mountaineer, is tonight's "Hill Billy Heart Throbs" tear-jerker . . . KDKA at 8:30.

Dual Job

Georgia Backus, who wrote the script and is starred in the American Weekly drama "Destruction," presented this week on nine stations in the Pittsburgh area.

Globe-Trotting

—By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN—

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I must have established a reputation. Twenty-five calls to go bee catching. Even fire department captains are referring their calls to me. Next year I'll organize early and make a business out of it.

What will I do with all the bees I catch? Simple. I'll release them in some one's back yard, then go around front and ask for the job of collecting them again.

Does talking about the heat make it hotter? A suggestion rolls in that if less were said about the temperature the less we'd notice it. Well, maybe.

But you can't blame the radio hot air for the way your thermometer's mercury rises.

During Decoration Day services at the South Side Cemetery a little lad lost the overseas cap worn by his uncle in France. It was a gift to the child and proudly worn by him on patriotic occassions. The little fellow is brokenhearted now that he's lost it.

* * *

"Mrs. O. R. Logue, Jr., tells me I missed a feature when describing Memorial Day services at Allegheny Cemetery. I could have mentioned something about the firing squad. It was the Washington Infantry, organized January 8, 1855. Capt. H. N. Wilke is the present commander.

* * *

The Summit Hotel, whose management recently startled the world with a Baron Munchausen room and offering the job of manager to the biggest story teller he could find, now is being painted silver because the country is off the gold standard.

"It looks like Leo Heyn will qualify for that Munchausen room manager, himself.

Two-Way Broadcast Over Ocean Marks New Radio Milestone; Al Jolson Gets Big Chance

By AIRCASTER

The casual listener who happened to hearken yesterday to the two-way broadcast in which Walter Lippman, observer, on this side of the Atlantic, and John Maynard Keynes, in England, exchanged opinions on the prospects of the world economic conference, may have wondered at the smoothness of their conversation.

This was made possible by correspondence rehearsals—the exchange of scripts and check-ups on timing.

The technical setup which made the conversation audible via the NBC in America, the Canadian stations, Geneva's broadcasting facilities, etc., was probably the most elaborate in history—and I believe that it made possible the first two-way broadcast of its kind.

Paul Whiteman, who begins his weekly two-hour show on June 26, is, so they tell me, indirectly responsible for Al Jolson's second opportunity to become a radio success. Jolson is opening the Whiteman series as master of ceremonies, and upon the job he does, so the gossips gab, depends his future in the realm of the kilocycles.

Jolson will have no script, no time-limit, and no inhibitions. He will be permitted to do, for the one program, just as he pleases, even to the point of calling on somebody in the auditorium for a song. It will be his show, and his big moment—and one awaits with some interest, to discover just what he will do with it.

Will Rogers' aerial angel would have liked him to do one more broadcast, but the gum-chewing ad libber called it a day with last night's broadcast.

In Mayfair

—With—

Patricia Pitt

Sewickley had a little horse show Sunday morning in the show ring of the Allegheny Country Club, Sewickley Heights. There was quite a generous sprinkling in the grandstand of spectators watching those exercising their favories for the Gymkhana Saturday.

And whenever there was a particularly good performance, there'd be a round of applause. There's a promise of many a novelty for the show. One may be a saddle tandem—something never shown here before. And Mrs. Lewis A. Park, accompanied by Laura Evans, was driving an Irish jaunting car—most picturesque.

Another entry that will be watched with much interest Saturday is the Sewickley Ladies' Hunt team. Three younger set members—Althea Robinson, Bertha Brooks and Janet McKinney riding three white horses—really greys.

Watch Riders

Among the many spectators yesterday were the W. C. Robinsons, the junior W. C. Robinsons, Nancy Lee Byers, Mrs. Harry Darlington, and many of the riders who were taking a rest.

Nearly every day now there is some ambitious rider in the ring, getting ready for the event Saturday.

Another popular place in Sewickley yesterday was the Little Sewickley Creek Swimming Pool with its daisy-starred surrounding fields. Sunday is one of the biggest days at the pool.

Week's Events

It takes more than heat to exhaust the interest of the smart set in eventful June. So, heat or no heat, though we are hoping for cooler weather this week, there are to be no less than three major social events, really four, including the invitation tournament down in Sewickley this week-end at the Allegheny Country Club.

Today Longue Vue Country Club is a kaleidoscope of colors—hundreds of cool, crisp summery costumes worn by hundreds of folks attending the benefit bridge-luncheon Briar Cliff Alumnae Association is holding there.

Thursday and Friday bring the Civic Club rummage sale at the scene of the former Campbell's department store in Fifth avenue. Hundreds and hundreds of social leaders will be saleswomen those two days, and ever so many times as more will be customers.

The grand climax of the week, though, will be the Sewickley Gymkhana Saturday, taking the place of the Sewickley horse show. It's to be in the Allegheny Country Club's horse show ring, of course, and starts at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Luncheon For Bud

Gretchen Rose, the Joseph Hanson Roses' daughter, who made her bow to society this past winter in her brief Christmas holidays—she's a Smith College student — will have a fling at frivolity.

Her aunt, Mrs. George Phelps Rose, of Sewickley, will give a luncheon for her June 20 in the Allegheny Country Club.

Gretchen and her parents will arrive in Pittsburgh shortly from Northampton, Mass., where her father and mother went to meet her.

Anna F. Fritsch Is Married In Church

Mrs. Anna Fritsch, of Forbes street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Anna Alberta Fritsch, to Thomas J. McVerry, of Locust street, which was solemnized on Tuesday morning, in the Epiphany Roman Catholic Church. Officiating was the Rev. Eugene Harkins.

The bride given in marriage by her uncle, John B. McGarry, wore a gown of white crepe. She wore a white crepe turban with a veil, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Irene Carney, a cousin of the bride, wore blue crepe with a blue crepe turban and carried pink roses and blue delphinium. Owen Hurney was the best man and ushers were John Daugherty and Joseph Bright, of Verona.

After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. McVerry left for the East. They will reside in Burchfield street, Squirrel Hill.

Country Clubs List Golf Tourneys

Golfers will be delighted in knowing there are tournaments and matches to keep them busy during the summer months at all of the country clubs.

The women's invitation tournament at the Allegheny Country Club on June 16 and 17 will attract a huge number of spectators as well as tourney participants. It is always one of the most popular events of the season.

The Highland Country Club announces a Pittsburgh Golf Association one-day handicap tournament on June 28. And the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania will have a tournament at the Westmoreland Country Club on June 26, 27.

Miss Ethel E. J. Currie Home From Trip Abroad

Miss Ethel Elizabeth Jean Currie, of Northumberland street, has returned from Europe on the S. S. Laconia. She visited the principal cities of England and the continent, and motored through a number of countries.

* * *

Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Hobson, of the Pennsylvania Apartments, have motored to Chicago to attend the American Life Medical Convention, which opens there this week.

1,070 Given Meals At New Future Home

The New Future Home reports, among other philanthropic work, 1,070 meals served during May. Guests cared for at the home made 800 gauze sponges for the Presbyterian Hospital and pieced two quilts.

THE TIE'S BECOME THE THING ON DAY OR EVENING FROCKS

THE AVERAGE woman can reduce herself to a mass of quivering nerves tying her riding tie. It's pretty trying. After sneaking, a little shyly, into her husband's favorite shop to buy a handful of marvelous foulards for the first canter, she's completely wrecked by the problem of the four-in-hand. But the charm of men's ties has made its mark on her. She's handled the lovely soft silks, and fingered the crisp ones with mounting envy. So this spring she's declared herself. The lure of the texture and the fine and imaginative patterns of ties is imprinted in her mind.

THE DESIGNERS have come up to scratch, as they invariably do, and raided the haberdashery shops for ideas. We're having little dots and discreet stripes for town wear. We're wearing stars and motifs inspired by the Century of Progress World Fair. We're going in for those small Palmer-method circles, reminiscent of penmanship classes, in a big way. These designs are twice as much fun for being discreet, avoiding the obvious.

* * *

CRAVAT SILK evening dresses swish proudly across the slipperiest dance floors. It's quite the nicest expression of masculinity that we've hit upon, because it turns out to be exceptionally feminine.

FOR DAYTIME dresses with little jackets, tie silks are cool, dark, clean-looking and crisp. Shining examples which embody the idea to perfection are the two dresses above, the one for evening and the other for street wear. The girl on the right, very properly admiring herself, is wearing a dark navy on white tie silk evening dress with funny little capelet sleeves of white pique, a fine foil for sunburned skin. Think how the sight of her will refresh the tired business man, up from a sweltering office. The other girl adds a coat of sheer wool to her sleeveless tie silk frock. The jacket is red over a red and white blocked print. A flexible metal belt is a gleaming high-light.

"In times like these we SAVE"

MRS. ANDREW MAY, JR. of WASHINGTON, D.C., writes:
I HAVEN'T HAD TO BUY A SINGLE BIT OF LINGERIE THIS YEAR! LAST YEAR'S THINGS ARE STILL UNFADED AND NICE LOOKING, THANKS TO LUX.
LUX

BY LUXING MY SILK DRESSES, SWEATERS, BLOUSES, INSTEAD OF HAVING THEM CLEANED, I HAVE SAVED $28.00 IN THE PAST SIX MONTHS. I USED THIS MONEY TO BUY 3 SMART COTTON DRESSES AND A SUIT.

ANOTHER THRIFTY TRICK—I MADE TWO SMART-LOOKING BLOUSES OUT OF LAST YEAR'S PRINTED SILK DRESS. THANKS TO LUX, THE SILK WAS AS COLORFUL AND NICE AS IT WAS WHEN I BOUGHT IT.

½ cent's worth of LUX will save you many dollars

"STOCKINGS that go into runs, lingerie that wears out too soon, a shrunken sweater, a faded dress—are tragedies in times like these." Everywhere women tell you this. "We can't take chances," they say. "Nowadays we insist on safe Lux."

LUX is the best clothes economy known—you can prove this yourself. It's made to keep stockings, underthings, silks, woolens, and nice cottons like new. To save stocking elasticity—to remove perspiration odor—to protect colors.

A little bit of Lux goes so far. Less than ½ cent's worth does a dress—one box washes 300-400 items, women find.

Remember, Lux has none of the harmful alkali ordinary soaps often contain. With Lux there's no cake-soap rubbing. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux!

Save with Safe

MRS. ADRIAN SMITH
of BUFFALO, N.Y., writes:
AS FOR MY STOCKINGS—MY FRIENDS SAY I'M LUCKY BECAUSE MINE WEAR FOR MONTHS. I SAY IT'S NOT LUCK..IT'S LUX. I ALWAYS LUX MINE—SAVE THE ELASTICITY—NO CAKE-SOAP RUBBING OR HARSH ALKALI FOR ME

I BELIEVE IN KEEPING UP STANDARDS EVEN WHEN MONEY IS SCARCE. I'VE FOUND I CAN BUY DAINTY LINGERIE AND BY WASHING IT WITH LUX AFTER EACH WEARING, IT LASTS AN AMAZINGLY LONG TIME...

ANOTHER LUX TRIUMPH IS A TWO-YEAR-OLD DRESS, LUXED DOZENS OF TIMES. AND THE MATERIAL STILL LOOKS SO NICE THAT WITH A BIT OF REMODELING, AND A NEW COLLAR, MY FRIENDS THINK IT'S NEW!

COYNE'S HAND SEEN AS 'ENGINEER' BOSSES MAYVIEW FARM

WATER PLANT EXPLOSION INJURES 10

Burgess and Engineer Among Victims of Conway Blast

CONWAY, Pa., June 12.—A borough engineer was critically injured, Burgess Fred Nelson received lesser injuries and eight firemen, including Chief Silas Bath, were overcome by fumes when a gas explosion wrecked the borough pumping station, causing $20,000 damage.

Frank Carroll, 70, the station operator, is in the Rochester General Hospital, badly burned on the head and face and suffering from internal injuries. Slight hope is held for his recovery.

Burgess Nelson, badly burned on one arm and cut about the head, was treated at the scene as were the firemen. They were taken to their homes. Firemen overcome, in addition to Chief Bath, are Joseuh Mehrling, William Fausti, Louis Triski, Jess Henshaw and George Wood, late yesterday.

The water supply had been shut off for some time previous to the explosion. Burgess Nelson had gone to the station late yesterday to assist Carroll in adjusting machinery. Carroll had descended into the pit under one of the engines, and the blast resulted. It is believed Carroll struck a match to light his way.

Award First 'Summa' In History of Girls' School

Educator Tells Class Reverses Needed To Chart Future

Industrial and personal reverses, such as experienced in the present economic depression, are necessary steps in charting the world on a course of progress, 583 graduates were told today at the twenty-sixth commencement of the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Syria Mosque.

Dr. John C. Merriam, president of the Carnegie Institution, Washington, delivered the principal address. The graduates, assembled in the Mosque basement, marched to the main auditorium as the processional march was played by the music department student orchestra.

The Very Rev. Dr. N. R. High Moor officiated at the invocation.

Questioning civilization's outcome if education was stifled but one generation, Dr. Merriam cited the ruins in Yucatan in which descendants of onetime world builders today live in decaying ruins.

He said:

'ARE SAFE ARE WE?'

"Today we stand secure in the feeling that the structure of civilization may not be broken. Such has probably been the attitude in every country which suffered a fate like that of the early American culture. How safe are we today in spite of science and education? Can we forget that it is only a few years since, in the mad rush of wealth accumulation, it seemed as if in this country some believed the mathematics of business, in which two and two made four, to have been set aside, and that, under modern conditions, two and two made five, or seven, or nine?

"It is a strange phenomenon that much of what is most important to us we come to know commonly through abnormal conditions. It frequently requires what we call a 'jolt' to make us aware of digestion or social responsibility."

Dorothy B. Edsall was awarded highest honors ever conferred by Pennsylvania College for Women, at its commencement exercises today.

She was given the degree of bachelor of arts and was graduated summa cum laude.

Miss Edsall graduated from Peabody High School, where she won highest honors and received the medal from the Alliance Francaise of Pittsburgh as the best French student. She won high honors for three years in inter-scholastic academic contests conducted by the University of Pittsburgh, and also won honors in Carnegie Foundation tests.

Five other members of the class of 60 receiving high honors were Jessie E. Douda, Mary T. Johnston, Ruth L. Ludebeuhl, Edith L. McBane and Sarah R. Stevenson.

Graduated with honor were Sarah V. Allison, Clara M. Conerson, Mary L. Crumay, Genieve V. Davis, Betty J. Graham, Marjorie Hopkins, Clara G. McClure, Gertrude E. Ray and Violet E. Sekey.

The following received bachelor of arts degrees:

BOY, 23, TO RUN 1,000 ACRES AND DAIRY

Gained His Experience On Senator's Estate, He Admits

A young man of just 23 years who obtained his farming experience in State College's school of engineering and on Senator James J. Coyne's farm, is the new farm director at Mayview City Home and Hospital. Under his supervision are 1,000 acres of farm land and a large dairy.

He is Claire K. Allison, who formerly lived at 307 Halket street, Oakland. Philip A. Coyne, county paymaster, who is a brother of Senator Coyne, lives at the same address.

Allison said he lived at the Halket street address for almost a year. His permanent home is in Gibsonia, Pa.

When questioned as to whether he had ever worked on Senator Coyne's farm in Allison Park, he replied:

"Quite a bit."

He also says he had two years' "experience" in State College's agricultural school. Records of the registrar at the college, however, show he was in the school of engineering.

OUSTED FARM HEAD TALKS

Alva Mason, former farm supervisor at Mayview, contended today the institution is in the hands of the Coyne political machine. He said that Dr. J. S. Hammers, superintendent, wanted him to sign a resignation slip, but he refused. He continued:

"Hammers said I would have to go anyways and told me 'they want your job'."

Mason now lives at Slippery Rock, Pa. He was farm boss at Mayview from July, 1926, until May 31 of this year.

Dr. Hammers at first denied dismissing Mason and said he left of his own accord. After further questioning, however, he changed his answer. He explained:

"Mason is not a farmer and did not do his work, so I asked him to leave. Mrs. Enoch Rauh has been trying to have him fired for the last two years."

HAMMERS TAKES 'BUMPS'

When questioned as to whether Allison was appointed farm supervisor through Senator Coyne's influence, Dr. Hammers as much as admitted that he was always the "goat," then said:

"I'm not a politician, but I have to take all the bumps just the same. I don't know anything about the Coyne influence."

Dr. Hammers said Allison was selected on the basis of his farming knowledge and added:

"I believe that he was a member of the school of agriculture at State College. He wanted somebody who had college experience in farming."

'COYNE HAS THE SAY SO'

J. M. Lackey, of 3322 Eastmont avenue, Dormont, who recently retired on pension from his job as chief engineer at Mayview, took Mason's viewpoint. He declared:

"Coyne has the say so now at Mayview and is getting his men in. It isn't a question of how much you know about the job, but how many votes you can get."

Meanwhile young Allison, who is known to his workers as "The Kid," says:

"I may be rather young for the job, but I can only do my best and then see how things come out."

CALLS ACCUSER NAME, FINED

The law had the last laugh on Leo Cunningham, 33, of 2203 Larkins way, who was fined a second time in South Side Police Court today for calling his accuser a "bad name."

Cunningham was arraigned after having been arrested last night by Fireman Thomas Jenkins. Jenkins testified Cunningham had entered No. 12 Fire House and been guilty of disorderly conduct.

Fined $5 or five days, Cunningham paid. Then in full court he applied a nasty epithet to Jenkins.

Jenkins rearrested him. Magistrate Ray Schneider, who had heard Cunningham "speak for himself," fined him $10 or 10 days. Cunningham paid again.

Barbed Wire Fences Await Senate Boys

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Congress adjourns this week without having had a chance to catch up on its thumb-twiddling.

This has been the hottest session since the English burned the works down in 1812.

It marked the finish of the Senate as a radio station. We have listened in since March and every program came from the White House.

The boys graduate around Tuesday, cum laude. Meaning with praise. Instead of hemming and hawing, they have hawed and geed. Now, they can remove the snaffle bits and gallop on home pastures.

It was a tough session for the festive filibusterers, the blockaders and the bolters. As a group picture the Senate compared favorably with Mrs. Brown's cows.

We give the boys full permission to go home and mend their fences, which, by now, should be all barbed wire.

Herron to Speak On East North Side

Mayor John S. Herron will speak at a luncheon of the Business Men's Association of the East North Side in the dining room of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, 712 East Ohio street, at noon Wednesday. His subject will be "The 'New Deal' and Our City."

'BRAINY' BOAST POSTED AT TECH

Earl Carroll had a slogan. He tacked it above the stage door of his New York theater. It read:

"The most beautiful girls in the world pass through these portals."

Carnegie Tech students have paraphrased Carroll in tribute to the co-eds. The latest campus catchword refers to the 50-foot pillars in front of Margaret Morrison College at Tech. It is:

"The brainiest girls in the world pass through these portals."

Marion McNary, honorary captain and president of the Women's Athletic Association, said of the new slogan:

"If they are not brainy when they come in as freshmen they are when they go out as seniors."

COMPANY MINE UNIONS FOUGHT

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers and P. T. Fagan, district president, after addresses in California and Mather, Greene County, yesterday, claimed additional rejections for the "company unions" and new members for the U. M. W.

They told two large audiences that efforts of coal companies to organize unions "are deliberate attempts to trick you men into submission."

STILT WALKER FINED IN FIGHT

Clyde Vickers, 27, of 16 West Stockton avenue, better known to Pittsburghers as "Long Boy, the Stilt Man," appeared in North Side Police Court yesterday to answer a charge of disorderly conduct. He was fined $5 or 5 days.

Vickers, according to police, was arrested at Robinson and Federal streets during an altercation with Leo Seigel, 22, and his wife, Billie, 23, of 607 West Diamond street. Police said Vickers suffered a lacerated right hand.

A familiar figure at parades, Vickers' latest appearances were during the Better Times and Wagner parades.

DIGGS NAMED INSURANCE AID

HARRISBURG, June 12.—W. S. Diggs, Pittsburgh, has been appointed by Gov. Pinchot as assistant administrative executive of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund.

Diggs formerly was of the firm of Hoover & Diggs, insurance brokers of Pittsburgh. His appointment is due to the influence of Senators W. D. Mansfield and Frank J. Harris.

Former Civil Service Commissioner Howard Devlin is manager of the insurance fund, having been appointed during the Legislature at the instance of Senator Harris.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 12.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Well there is bad news for the country this morning, there is no earthquake anywhere, no new war, no flood, no pestilence, no new inflation, no new budget that's not balanced, no new Morgan perferred list. It's not any of those terrible things you might think it is, it's worse, it's worse than all of those combined. Aw gee, I just hate to tell you. I know it will break your heart, but I am going to tell it if it kills us all. Congress didn't adjourn.

Will Rogers

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

TRUCK STOLEN, BEER VANISHES

A few minutes after a truck loaded with 100 cases of beer had been reported stolen from the Roma Bottling Works, 47 Miltenberger street, early today, the truck, its cargo missing, was found in Wick street, two blocks away.

The cargo was valued at $250.

DINNER MENU CONTEST OPENS

Now it is up to housewives in the reading area of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to decide the question:

"How can four persons be served with a well-balanced, appetizing, wholesome dinner at a cost not exceeding $1.50?"

Three prominent club women of the city have been chosen to sift out the most practical solutions to this problem, presented through the Prudence Penny Prize Dinner Menu Contest, announced for the first time in yesterday's Sun-Telegraph.

The judges are Mrs. Oliver J. Haller, president of the Congress of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Mary T. Horan, president of the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women, and Mrs. Cyrus Trompetter, chairman of the home economics committee of the Pittsburgh section, Council of Jewish Women.

$100 IN PRIZES WEEKLY

These women, outstanding in women's activities in the city and affiliated with a long list of clubs, will apportion weekly awards totaling $100 in cash to women submitting the best dinner menus in conformity with the question heading this article.

First Prize will be $25; second prize, $15; and third prize, $10. There will be two cash prizes of $7.50 each, four at $5 each, five at $2 each, and five at $1 each—19 cash prizes in all every week.

This liberal prize list should attract every housewife in the reading area of this newspaper. On top of all this the prize dinner menus and many others of the best submitted will be printed in the Sun-Telegraph from day to day and it is fair to assume many women will clip and save these practical menus for future use.

TIMELY CONTEST

Housewives will find this an interesting and timely contest. It is an accepted fact that the retail prices of foodstuffs have never before been at a lower level than they are today and, under these conditions, it is claimed to be easily possible for any careful shopper and good cook to furnish a mighty fine dinner for within a total cost of $1.50. It is also claimed that these dinners may be so diversified that hundreds of menus are possible with no two alike.

Additional details and an entry blank will be found on page 26 of Today's Sun-Telegraph. Housewives, everywhere, are cordially invited to participate in this unique contest. Menus sent in for the first week's prizes must be in the mail before midnight, Tuesday, June 20.

EXHIBIT SWISS FOLK ART HERE

By PENELOPE REDD.

A comprehensive collection of the folk arts of Switzerland is on exhibition at Kaufmann's galleries for the next two weeks. The collection is shown under the patronage of Dr. Marc Peter, minister from Switzerland to the United States.

The National Museum in Zurich has lent a group of old Appenzell embroideries to supplement the contemporary objects. The items include sculpture in wood, carving in wood and ivory, hand woven textiles, and ceramics similar to those which are exhibited in the Folks Museum in Bern.

The collection is the first one brought to this country to represent the familiar arts found in all 22 of the Swiss cantons. So varied are the forms of the three score or more crafts from one village to the next that objects were gathered from about 500 communities.

The pious skill with which the patient and serene Swiss craftsman embellishes even the most casual object in wood or ivory is known to all Americans familiar with peasant decorative art.

Few, however, will be prepared for the large collection of ceramics included in the Swiss show which are a contribution to this reviewer's knowledge of peasant pottery. The ceramics from the Zurich district are direct, bold and handsome in many virile forms adaptable to use in American households. From the countryside about Thoune, the pottery takes the edelweiss and other Alpine blossoms and paints them on a rich background, dark as earth itself. Graceful, small objects predominate, although occasional larger pieces strongly suggest the Persian, both in form and brilliance of color.

The pottery from St. Gall is the high point of the exhibition. We are informed that these designs have been used for centuries by the same families following pottery as their particular home art. The peasants' transcriptions of animal and floral motifs against the neutrall gray and beige backgrounds of the suavely-shaped objects are in the precise idiom which we regard as exclusively modern and sophisticated. They will surprise the design detective. To our eyes this pottery is immeasurably superior to any other peasant ceramics previously seen here.

DOCTORS FEAR PROFITEER INVASION

MILWAUKEE, June 12.—(AP.)—New medical "profiteering" schemes organized by non-medical persons to take advantage of depression conditions, and a growing surplus of physicians in the United States were reported today to the American Medical Association.

Corporations and individuals who are not physicians are "capitalizing to their own advantage the present hospital situation and the popular appeal for medical care at low rates," said the report of the association's bureau of medical economics. It was one of several reports presented for action later.

"This situation," the report contended, "which utilizes a temporary expedient to profiteer by vending hospital services demands the immediate and serious consideration of the entire medical profession.

ANNUAL RATE

The report on profiteering was part of one on group hospitalization plans, in which hospitals contract with groups of persons to supply medical care at a fixed annual rate. The report showed that such plans now are being operated in 35 states and the District of Columbia. The report said:

"This new phase of contract medicine has been stimulated by the urgency of the present financial stress and is being vigorously promoted for profit by lay corporations and individuals."

Too many students now are entering medical schools in the United States, said the report of the association's council on medical education, with the result that there is an overproduction of physicians. The council urged that medical schools limit their enrollment severely in view of this situation.

SURPLUS OF DOCTORS

The report said a recent survey showed there is a surplus of 25,000 physicians in the United States.

The council recommended that American graduates of foreign medical schools be barred from state examinations in this country unless they met American premedical requirements before going abroad and could show they passed a licensing examination in the country where they studied.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

LAWYER BARES STOCK FRAUD

One month after his brother, T. R. Evans, had died, in March, 1931, Harold Evans obtained information leading him to believe that his brother had defrauded him, according to Attorney John M. Freeman.

Freeman made this statement on cross-examination today in his claim for $350,000 counsel fees allegedly incurred in connection with a settlement involving 21,000 shares of stock in the Diamond Alkali Company last September.

W. M. Robinson, a director in the Diamond Alkali Company, told Howard Evans that his brother had received 7,000 shares of Diamond Investment Stock, Freeman testified he was told by Howard Evans. At the time he received this stock, T. R. Evans had said he had to "take care of his brother, Howard," Freeman continued. The stock was valued at $500 a share, according to the attorney.

An equity action, involving this alleged stock transaction, was settled out of court before a bill of complaint was filed, Freeman has testified. In the settlement agreement the right was reserved to the court to have jurisdiction in any claim of counsel for the plaintiffs in the suit.

ROAD WORKERS' CHARGE DENIED

W. F. Trimble, Jr., general manager of W. F. Trimble and Sons, contractors, today declared his firm carries full compensation insurance on the road job on Route No. 51 at Option, Allegheny County. Two workmen had complained to Assemblyman Joseph A. Rectenwald that there was none.

One of the men, Joseph Steinhauser, of Custer avenue, Mt. Oliver, said a flying chip injured his eye when he was breaking stone without safety glasses required by state law. He complained he had to walk five miles to a doctor for treatment. The other, Alfred Arandt, of Penn street, Mt. Oliver, said he was fired for refusing to work more than 10½ hours Saturday.

Both men started work Thursday and were supplied to the Trimble firm by the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board. Trimble denied their charges, said the men received 50 cents an hour and may have safety glasses for the asking.

Mrs. Newton D. Baker On Brief Visit Here

Mrs. Newton D. Baker, wife of the former Secretary of War, arrived in Pittsburgh last night on her way to Chambersburg, Pa., where she will attend commencement exercises at Wilson College. She spent the night with Miss Hannah J. Patterson, of 509 South Linden avenue, who accompanied her to Chambersburg today. Both are members of the board of trustees of the college.

MAP PROGRAM FOR IRISH DAY

Irish Day will be held at Kennywood Park June 24 under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the ladies' auxiliary of the order.

Mr. Gibbons

John J. Gibbons, Sr., county president, heads the committee arranging for a large sports program. More than 500 parish school boys will take part in athletic events. A ball game between two Philadelphia teams will also be a feature.

American and Irish dancing, a parade and a concert by the Duquesne University band are also scheduled.

5 COAL MINES TO REOPEN

Plans for immediate reopening of five mines are being rushed to the Pittsburgh Coal Company, officials announced today. About 800 men will be given employment.

The mines are the Arnold, Banning, No. 2 and Eureka, on the Youghiogheny River; the Westland, on the Montour Railroad, and the Eclipse, on the Monongahela River, near California. They have a capacity of 9,000 tons daily.

Increased industrial demand and lake shipments necessitate the reopening of the mines, J. D. A. Morrow, president of the company, said.

PROWLER HELD AFTER CHASE

Edward Wayne, Negro, of 5209 Broad street, picked the wrong house for prowling yesterday, testimony disclosed in Lawrenceville Police Court today.

It was 401 South Pacific avenue, the home of Lawrence Bartley, formerly Superintendent of Police, now a tipstaff in court. His son, Regis Bartley, a deputy sheriff, discovered the Negro and captured him after a chase of three blocks.

Wayne was held for court on a charge of entering a building, by Magistrate J. J. O'Connor. Mrs. Robert Roy, wife of a physician, 365 South Pacific avenue, testified the same Negro had run from her home when discovered, a short time before.

GIRL MUSHBALL TEAM IN CRASH

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., June 12.—Four members of the "Oginny Girls" mushball team, flushed with a victory they scored a short time before, were seriously injured late yesterday when a truck on which they were returning from New Sheffield to Midland overturned on the Brodhead road. Eight of their companions suffered slight injuries and half a dozen others were treated by physicians and sent home.

The seriously injured, taken to Rochester General Hospital were Mary Tepsick, 15, of Midland, and Sophia Semich, 18; Millred Romich, 17, and Anna Gruber, 18, all of Aliquippa.

Less seriously injured included Anna Helenic, 17; Dorothy Bevich, 18; Stephanie Tonti, 18; Julia Balaton, 18; Helen Kukich, 18; Rose Sela and Mary Lepsick, 19, all of Midland, and Sophia Zernich, 15, of Aliquippa.

Peter Keser, 22, of Midland, driver of the truck, injured slightly, swerved his truck to prevent collision with a wrecked automobile in his path. The top-heavy auto upset, pinning a number of the injured girls underneath.

John Teterick, of Midland, who state highway police said drove his machine from a picnic ground, colliding with a car driven by James Brobeck, of Monaca, was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

Short Change Charge Holds Cleveland Man

A man, believed to be the short change artist operating downtown was arrested by Lieut. Frank Ferris at Fullerton street early yesterday. He said he was Sam Levine, 31, of Cleveland. He was identified later by one of his victims, police said.

Mary Charlic, cashier in a Penn avenue restaurant, said a man gave her $20 in payment of his bill June 5. She said she missed $5 later.

Police Catch Boys Catching Fish In Cemetery

It was hot, but the water about the pool in Homewood Cemetery was cool and inviting. And, moreover, the fish were biting good.

So 10 boys with pin hooks and crude poles made their casts. Their prize were goldfish.

Police interrupted their pleasure, seized their prize, and escorted the youthful fishermen to the Juvenile Court detention room.

Two Held for Court On Robbery Charge

Raymond Wittmer and William Boyd, both of 837 Tobin street, were held for court yesterday, at a hearing in North Side Police Court, on charges of breaking into 812 Federal street, Saturday night.

Charged with attempting to enter the home of Mrs. Mary Barret, 110 West Stockton avenue, early Sunday morning, Percy Gonzalis, 33, of Monument Hill, was fined $25 yesterday by Magistrate Ray Schneider.

Do As Your Dentist Does . . . Use POWDER

THERE is nothing known that will clean and polish teeth so quickly and leave them so gleaming white—as POWDER.

That is why your dentist, when cleaning your teeth, as you know—always uses powder.

As it is only the powder part of any dentifrice that cleans, a dentifrice that is ALL POWDER just naturally cleans best.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is ALL POWDER—100% cleansing properties. This is more than twice the cleansing properties of tooth pastes.

Dull Teeth Become White

Dentists everywhere recommend Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder, because—teeth simply cannot remain dull and film coated when it is used.

It cleans off all stains and tartar, and polishes the teeth in a harmless and practical way that leaves them sparkling—many shades whiter.

No Grit—No Pumice

Free from all grit or pumice, Dr. Lyon's cannot possibly scratch, or injure the softest enamel, as years of constant use have shown.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder keeps your teeth REALLY CLEAN and clean teeth mean—firm, healthy gums, freedom from pyorrhea and the least possible tooth decay.

Lasts Longer—Costs Less

Once you use Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder, you will never be satisfied to use anything else. It leaves your teeth feeling so much cleaner, your mouth so refreshed, and your breath so sweet and pure.

Dr. Lyon's is not only doubly efficient, but it costs only half as much to use. Even a small package lasts twice as long as a tube of tooth paste.

Here is How to Work the Puzzle

Here is a sample Path to Plenty. Just draw a line through 20 of the largest numbers in the square to get the highest total. Simple, isn't it? That's all you do just so you observe the following Rules in drawing your line.

A—Your path must be continuous—you may turn as often as you like, but there must be no breaks, gaps or forks.

B—You may start your line at any number in the square—you may stop at any number. When finished, your line must contain 20 numbers.

C—Your path may go straight up or straight down—straight right or straight left. Diagonal lines (slanting lines) are not allowed anywhere in the path.

D—From the number with which you begin, you may go in a straight line until your path contains four numbers. Then you must turn because four numbers are all that are permitted in a straight line. If you wish, you may turn when your line contains three numbers. But less than three numbers in a straight line are not permitted. Observe this rule throughout—never less than three numbers in a straight line, never more than four (see the sample puzzle).

E—Your path must never touch or cross itself.

F—When your line contains 20 numbers, STOP. Add your line and put down the total in the space provided.

GENERAL RULES

1—The highest correct totals will count.

2—Answers from this newspaper must be mailed on or before midnight, June 19, 1933. Winners will be announced July 15, 1933.

3—Your path must be drawn on the puzzle above or an accurate facsimile of it, or additional copies of this puzzle will be sent you on request.

4—Order and remittance for $1.00 worth, or more, of Certified merchandise listed in the next column, must accompany your solution to make it eligible.

5—Three responsible men appointed by the Certified Laboratories will decide the winners.

6—In the event of ties for any prize, then all those tying for this prize will be required to work additional Path To Plenty Puzzles, similar to the first one, except that there will be more numbers which will be arranged differently. Each puzzle will be larger, until there are no ties. If necessary, there will be seven additional puzzles. In the event of ties in the seventh additional puzzle, full prizes will be awarded each tying contestant.

7—In case of ties being so nearly identical, that collusion or copying is evident, then all such entries will be rejected altogether.

8—Not more than one prize will be awarded to a single person, household or group of persons.

REED INDORSES HOME LOAN MEASURE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Quick relief for home owners who are threatened with foreclosure because of business uncertainty or credit constriction is seen by Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, in passage by Congress of the home owners' loan bill, setting up a new federal agency to make direct loans to owners of homes valued at not more than $20,000.

Senator Reed said:

"I have received innumerable inquiries from all over the state regarding this measure. Considering the difficulty many deserving persons are facing in saving their homes or meeting the payments necessary to save them, and the number of foreclosures resulting from the inability of home owners to pay or refinance their mortgages, it should prove of inestimable value in meeting this problem.

"I am encouraged to believe that the Home Loan Bank Board, under which the loan corporation will function, will have new machinery set up and ready to function almost as soon as the bill is signed by the President. It is planned to appoint an agent of the corporation in each state, and, if necessary, local offices in each county where there is a substantial demand for loans of the character authorized by the law.

"In the meantime the Federal Home Loan Bank, of Pittsburgh, should be able to supply full information as to the procedure to be followed in applying for loans."

In permitting loans up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of private homes, on the security of a first mortgage, the government goes further than most of the institutions functioning in this field in meeting the needs of the individual owner. The interest rate of 5 per cent is in line with the downward trend in interest rates generally.

15 TO GRADUATE AT ARNOLD

Fifteen young men of Pittsburgh will be given diplomas at annual commencement exercises of Arnold School, South Braddock avenue, tomorrow evening, after an address by Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison, president of Washington and Jefferson College. The diplomas will be presented by R. E. Withers, president of the board of trustees of Arnold School. Prizes will be awarded by Headmaster Charles E. Wilder.

Five Here to Get Georgetown Degrees

Five from Pittsburgh are to receive degrees today from Georgetown University at Washington, according to word received here.

Joseph G. Smith, of 5550 Beverley place, is the winner of the Merrick debating medal, one of the principal scholastic prizes. He also receives the Pulaski gold medal for the best essay on a subject relating to Poland.

Others from Pittsburgh are: George H. Benz, 809 Grandview avenue; Joseph J. Bush, 915 Fellaire avenue; William F. Flannery, 212 Tennyson avenue, and Wilbert James Smith, 413 Zara street.

Safe Crackers Fail To Make Rich Haul

Search is being made for the yeggs who hammered the combination from the safe in the office of the Oyster House, 5 McMaster way, early yesterday, according to a police report. They failed to get several thousand dollars in cash and jewelry.

Elizabeth McIrney, 327 Halket street, reported a man snatched her purse while she walking in Amberson avenue, Saturday night.

Farm Strike leader Brookline Speaker

"The Farm Revolt" will be the subject of an address by H. H. Munson, of Oklahoma, in the Brookline School, tomorrow night. Munson was one of the leaders in the recent farm strike.

Dravosburg Bans One-Piece Suits On Beach

Dravosburg police yesterday enforced the ruling made Wednesday by Council banning swimming on beaches at the foot of Washington avenue after 10 p. m. One-piece bathing suits also are banned in the order.

Police estimated yesterday that 600 bathers were in the water during the day.

BRIDGE MATCH OPENS TONIGHT

Qualification rounds, open to all contract bridge players of Western Pennsylvania, open tonight at the Schenley Bridge Club, Hotel Schenley, with the tournament's winning pair scheduled to represent the city in a four-day world's fair championship bridge cruise on Lake Huron.

While the qualifying rounds will be played nightly at 8:30 o'clock through Friday, players will have only to participate in two rounds. Mrs. Henry J. Bailey, president of the Schenley Club, said the players will be permitted to play in a third round and add the two best scores for qualification to participate in the finals next Monday night. The players need not be members of the club.

The winning pair will participate with winners from 19 other cities for the Georgian Bay trophy aboard the S. S. South American. They will board the ship in Cleveland June 24 and the championship play is scheduled June 26 during the four-day cruise.

FANS PURSUE SEBASTIAN

NILES, O., June 12.—(AP.)—Mike Sebastian, former football star at the University of Pittsburgh, was chased off a baseball diamond yesterday by a group of indignant fans after Jerome Kramer, umpire for a game between sandlot teams, charges Sebastian struck him.

In the disturbance, the player's father, Dan Sebastian, was arrested and charged with cutting with intent to wound. The younger Sebastian escaped his pursuers.

The game was broken up when young Sebastian, playing for a Sharon nine, objected to a strike called by Kramer.

Fans who saw Kramer struck swarmed out over the field and started the chase. William Brown received minor stab wounds, for which police charged the elder Sebastian was responsible.

BUILDING GROUP TO MEET HERE

The latest developments in building equipment are to be on display in connection with the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Building Owners and Managers Association at the Hotel William Penn June 19 to 22.

Booths have been reserved by 35 nationally known companies. J. W. Bamford, Pittsburgh, and E. W. Rinder, Chicago, are in charge of the display. Many economies and new methods brought about by the depression will be illustrated.

TRUSS EXPERTS HERE

The Rice Truss Experts, personal representatives of William S. Rice, Inc., Adams, N. Y., will be at the Henry Hotel, Fifth Ave., near Smithfield St., Pittsburgh, Pa., from Monday morning, June 12, to Saturday evening, June 17. Every ruptured man, woman and child should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Rice Method for Rupture is known the world over. You can now see this Method demonstrated and have a Rice Appliance fitted to you. Absolutely no charge unless you are satisfied to keep the Outfit after having the Appliance adjusted and you see how perfectly and comfortably it holds. No harsh, deep-pressing springs; nothing to gouge the flesh and make you sore. Can be worn night and day with positive comfort. Soft, rubber-like composition pad, any degree of pressure required.

Don't wear a truss all your life when thousands have reported recovery through using the Rice Method. Why suffer the burden of rupture if there is a chance to be free from truss-wearing forever? Anyway, it will cost you nothing to come in and learn all about the Rice Method and the wonderful opportunity for help it offers in your case. Just ask at hotel desk for the Rice Representatives and they will do the rest. Hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 7 to 9 evenings.

Don't miss this great opportunity to see these Experts on Hernia.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Notes to a Columnist's Girl Friday

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.: Dear R. C.—Just returned from the MGM lot after watching Mervyn Leroy direct Marie Dressler in the last episode of "Tugboat Annie." Dressler is grand in it. Told me she is cured of the ailment which common chatter said would wind up her career—and that she felt jake . . . When the subject of her popularity came up—she remarked that if ever she got clever—she hoped she'd never know it . . . It is knowing it, she added, that has shoved too many stars off their perches . . . You might get a chuckle out of the "still" they took of Marie spanking me across her lap . . . One of the lads told me of the offer RKO made to her when she was at the height of her movie success . . . She could have clipped them for $20,000 for a week at the Hipp—but she spurned it — saying: "Nobody ever was born who was worth that much!"

Saw them shooting Helen Hayes in "Another Language," which will offer a sculptor's studio scene—with La Hayes doing a semi-nude . . . That wasn't in the show, but Hollywood must have its flesh . . . She is excited over a new play for her by Maxwell Anderson. It is half done—and because she is superstitious—she wouldn't name the title . . . Eddie Cantor won't allow any of the New York gazettes in his home while he is resting . . . "So he won't be aggravated," explained one of his quintet . . . Big as Cantor is—he doesn't realize that the bigger you are the harder they poke — and that it is fun letting the other fellow break his knuckles. Sensitive man, Cantor . . . William Farnum, who used to eat scenery when he was a star (if he lost his temper) is in the Hayes flicker doing a bit . . . It is a common sight, they tell you out here, seeing biggies of yesterday happy with any sort of a role . . . Wm. Worthington frixample, one of the better directors not long ago, is also taking lessons in acting from a kid—Mervyn Leroy.

But get this! Le Marcus who was president of the Pathe and vice-president of RKO last year was suddenly voted out of his job by the Board of Governors . . . So now he's out here working in a minor capacity, learning the movie business! . . . But for the very same movie firm of which he was president! . . . Everything is wide open—and when Shaw, just elected to succeed Porter (as mayor) gets into office, it will be honky-doolier . . . Walter Wanger is the local champ bad-guesser . . . They say Wanger has been contributing about 2 Gs. weekly to the wheel and dice tables . . . The first night he patronized the colony—he contended that if you played all the numbers on the roulette spin—he could prove the ball wouldn't drop in the same number twice . . . The manager of the place wagered $10 he was wrong and Wanger won the tenner . . . He felt that he ought to spend the sawbuck there, so he handled the dice . . . and won $1,700! . . . The only night, however, he has won . . . The dice, incidentally, were colder than a hasbeen's opinion last night . . . and trying to change my luck, I bet against the cubes when a girl began throwing them, and she threw eight passes! . . . The wiser guys later cautioned in my ear: "Always ride with the dice when they are being handled by a dame or a drunk!"

Ronald Colman apparently is thru with the movies . . . He cabled MGM that he was fed up when he turned down their offer of $250,000 for two pictures to be done in 15 weeks. They wanted him for "Barretts of Wimpole St." and Garbo's next . . . Fame means nothing here, of course. The town is stuffy, with it . . . Garbo, who is to be directed by Mamoulian in "Christina" calls him at his home regularly to inquire about this and that . . . She called yesterday, and Mamoulian's valet got on the phone . . . "This is Greta Garbo" she baritoned . . . "Who?" was the valet's first unintentional squelch . . . "Greta Garbo!" called out Greta . . . "How do you spell it?" was the reply.

Constance Cummings' contract with Zanuck is only for 26 weeks! The other 26 are to be spent with her new groom in England, and they were glad to make that bargain . . . Ran into Hazel Forbes, who quit the Ziegfeld shows to wed Paul Owen Richmond, many times her years. He died shortly after their honeymoon . . . She is thumbing her nose at offers here, and little wonder . . . She inherited one of the more famous tooth powders, mouth-washes and shampoo products—and is too rich . . . I found out why Zeppo Marx and his bride are targets for the stick-ups here . . . They say that Mrs. Zeppo is always flashing her rocks in public, especially at the Friday night bouts—where Zeppo tips off the burglars by calling out to friends: "I'll bet you $1,000 he wins or loses! . . . Or: "I'll take 3 grand to 21" . . . He's also been lucky at gambling—and the mobsters figure he can easily afford to lose what somebody else lost . . . Abe Lyman, by the way, got a threat, already—and he's moved.

Tell Heywood Broun thanks anyway. He'll understand . . . How many in? . . . Sue and Nick Carol aren't speaking on their vaudeville tour now . . . All of us have had wrong steers on the real reason for the break . . . They've been blaming Ken Murray, when the intruder is the old heart—before she married Nick. Ken likes, also, but isn't the head man . . . First day I got to Hollywood Gregory Ratoff phoned . . . His dialect throws me, but I got this much out of it . . . he denies vigorously that anything is wrong and that his heart is "brukken" . . . He swore by "averyting dot is holly!" that things were okay, and he hoped I'd pay him the two-bits I wanted to wager him that they were melted . . . I gave him a half-dollar to get rid of him . . . He took a terrific ribbing that noon around the luncheon tables from Cantor and his own attorney. Cantor (with a poker face) kept telling him he ought to sue—but his lawyer counselled him not to wire denials to columnists—until he had first telegraphed his wife to find out if it is true! . . . Plenty jollity.

Getting a wallop out of watching Cy Young juggling the teletypes for Universal Service—fastest sender I've ever seen . . . takes less than 15 minutes to send this to you—and he hasn't hit the wrong key yet! . . . I hope you haven't heard that I've gone social . . . It's those free dinners that entice me. Monday at the Cantors, Tuesday with Carl Laemmle, Jr., and Giannini, the banker, Wednesday with the Ruth Ettings and when this is released to the newsstands I'll be listening to Joan Crawford ask me: "Just what is the big idea?...Story broke here that Mervyn will direct Jimmy Walker in a movie. He tells me it's the first he's heard about it . . . The MGM lunchroom has delicious food very cheap . . . The story that goes with it is that when he was poor, Louis B. Mayer, the MGM mogul, always wished that he could afford real chicken in his chicken soup... At this restaurant for 30c you get huge chunks of white meat in the soup, an entire meal... Betty Compson is writing the story of her life, with Edward Churchill collabing . . . To be different she will reveal the truth about everything—even to mentioning the real names of the men who made her—smart.

Loretta, With Contract, To Sail

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, June 12.—Lovely Loretta Young can sail away to Europe now with no concern about the future. She put her name to a long term contract with Twentieth Century Productions, the Darryl Zanuck-Joseph M. Schenck combine that is elbowing itself into the movie spotlight.

Miss Young

Under her new contract, Loretta reports for work about October 1. Her first picture will be "Blood Money," a Rowland Brown original which Zanuck bought only Friday. It's all about the political racket.

With a picture yet to do at Fox, it will be August 1 before Loretta can join her sister, Sally Blane, in London. Meanwhile, Sally is having a grand time. She writes of taking an apartment and of having it done over from purple to white corduroy. And she's driving around in a car with footman and chauffeur.

London, all the Hollywood people write back, is the new gay spot of Europe.

Wonder who pedaled down the idea of Mae West owning a stable of prize fighters. Timony, her manager, is telling the world there's no truth in it. Says he:

"Miss West likes watching boxing matches, and she admires fighting men, but she has no time to manage a pair of fighters."

Miss Birell

Tala Birrell—you remember her, the girl Universal thought was another Garbo—has not left Hollywood after all. She's taken a house at Malibu with her mother. Poor Tala. American men quite disconcert her.

"They always talk business," she said. "They take a woman along just for a companion."

Perhaps it's all in fun, but Eleanor Holm and Art Jarrett are seeing a lot of each other these days. The Junior Laemmle angle seems to be passe . . . Ted Fiorito, who'll be bringing his band to a local film theater June 22, will make a short for RKO during his stay in Los Angeles. If the report be true, John Miljan's face was very red the other evening when he drowned out the other members of a quartet—to be told afterward that the tenor was John McCormack.

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

The Reward

I WAS talking stories the other night with Mr. Lou Holtz, latest and funniest of the radio stars.

"Did you ever hear the story of Rasputin Blimp?" asked Mr. Holtz.

I assured Mr. Holtz that I had not. Whereupon he dug deep into his memory and produced the yarn that I offer herewith . . .

Rasputin Blimp was one of those mortals who was born to labor for others. The last time anyone labored for him was on the day he was born, and that took place 60 years before this story opens. He was short, shy, shaggy—and sweet to his wife. He had a small home, a big mortgage, and his income was about the same as his outgo.

Our hero was a plodder. Poor but plod; that was Rasputin. He would arise in the morning, grab a cup of coffee, race to the railroad station, and barely manage to make the last car on the 8:08 to New York. He would come home in the evening, eat a frugal meal, dry the dishes, and cut loose on the lawn with a mower. The mower, the merrier.

Ever since he left school at the age of 20, Rasputin had led that life. One day was exactly like the next; each year was the same as the one before. His hair turned gray and then went white. And the only excitement he had in all that time was the day that the 8:08 went from steam engine to electricity.

In the factory in which he worked, every employe knew Rasputin.

"See that white-haired fellow over there?" you would be told. "Well, that's Rasputin Blimp. He's been sitting at that same high-stool desk for 40 years without missing a working day. Some record, isn't it?"

Some record is right, with the accent on the wreck. There sat Rasputin, hunched over the same desk that had been his for 40 years. His eyes were old now and he had developed a habit of looking at people over the top of his glasses. But his hands were firm and his penmanship was perfect.

And penmanship was most important to our hero. For he was one of the eight bookkeepers employed by the Gadget Knitting Company. And Mr. Blimp was very proud of the fact that not once in all those 40 years had anyone found an error in his books.

An error, did I say? Not even a blot! . . .

Came the great day in Rasputin Blimp's life. Up until 11:25, it had been precisely the same as all the days that had gone before. The same office, the same train, the same stool, the same coat hanger, the same spot in the office. But at 11:25 the amazing thing came to pass.

Mr. Scratch, president of the Gadget Knitting Mills, walked through the office. That was nothing new for Mr. Scratch. He walked through the office every morning. But this time he stopped—at Rasputin's desk.

"Good morning, Rasputin," he said said pleasantly. "How are things going?"

For a few seconds Rasputin Blimb was unable to reply. Mr. Scratch had said "good morning" to him! The president, the big boss, the whole works was standing beside him and — wonder of wonders—he had called him by his first name!

Not that Rasputin didn't know Mr. Scratch. He did. He had worked for the father, and now he was working for the son. But he had known the old man better and, when the father had passed on, all the executives seemed more aloof than they had been. So there had never been a conversation between Mr. Scratch and Mr. Blimp.

And now this! Rasputin forced forth some words.

"G-g-good morning, Mr. Scratch," he stammered. "D-did you want to check my ledger?"

The big man laughed.

"No, indeed, Rasputin. I just stepped in to see how things were going along." Then he grew serious. "And, by the way, just how long have you been with our concern?"

Without a second's hesitation, Mr. Blimp replied:

"Exactly 40 years, one month and two days, Mr. Scratch. Is there—can I—you aren't thinking of—"

"Don't worry," smiled the president. "You've been a faithful employe, Rasputin, and you have nothing to worry about. But I'd like to see you in my office at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Will that be all right?"

"Yes, sir," replied Rasputin. "Yes, indeed, Mr. Scratch."

The boss leaned over.

"With me, Rasputin," he murmured "you can forget the 'mister business. I'm Tom to you from today on."

He walked away as Rasputin sat in a semi-daze. His head reeled and his eyes were moist. An appointment with the boss on the morrow—and he was to call him Tom!....

That night, at home, he told the big news to Mrs. Blimp. So excited was he that he not only refused to touch the dishes that night, but he also suggested a movie!

"Isn't it thrilling?" he told his wife on the way home. "Using my first name to me, and telling me to call him Tom! Just as though we were old college chums, or something. Oh, Esta, I wish tomorrow were here. There's no telling what it will bring!"

For the first time in 40 years, his wife agreed with him.

"It's wonderful, Rasputin," she said. "Wonderful."....

At 10 o'clock the following morning, Rasputin Blimp walked to Mr. Scratch's office. The minutes had seemed hours to him, but the big moment was now at hand. The blonde secretary smiled, and ushered the white-haired clerk into the inner sanctum. Mr. Scratch nodded cordially.

"Sit down, Rasputin," he smiled. "Sit right here, beside me."

Mr. Blimp sat down. After all these years, life had suddenly turned her beautous eyes on him, and smiled coyly. At last!

"I want you to know, Rasputin," Mr. Scratch began, "that my firm appreciates the service and loyalty you have given us for the past 40 years. I haven't spoken to you before, but that didn't mean that I haven't been watching you. I have—very carefully.

"You worked for my dear father while he was alive, and you gave your all for this firm after his death. I know that my father had implicit confidence in you and, as always, his judgment was correct. You are unquestionably the most faithful worker our firm has ever had.

"Accordingly, Rasputin, I feel that I am justified in calling you here today to give you a little token of appreciation. Just a minute."

He reached into his desk and drew forth a package.

"This is for you, Rasputin," Mr. Scratch concluded as he removed the paper and handed over the gift. "It is a present from the Gadget Knitting Mills to a man who has grown gray in our service."

Rasputin's dim eyes looked at the gift in his hand. It was a bottle of hair dye! . . .

Players And Plays

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

This evening, in the "Y" Co-operative Playhouse, a musical revue, "The Right Bank," by David Cornman, will be presented for the first time. It will be repeated Wednesday evening as the last production of the season by this Little Theater organization.

Karl Heinrich, Pittsburgh ballet master, will present his pupils in an exhibition of dancing in the Taylor Allderdice High School Auditorium Wednesday evening.

"It is quite possible that you will see in this performance a future Ruth St. Denis or Irene Castle," Mr. Heinrich writes.

That ought to be inducement enough for anybody interested in the art of dancing.

Next Monday Pittsburgh will be having its first dramatic "first night" in some time. This will be an event at the Willows, Oakmont, summer home of the Stage Guild, which is presenting "Another Language" as its first attraction. This group is made up of Pittsburgh actors of professional experience, its plan being to give plays twice weekly. However, it has been found that a third performance of "Another Language" will be necessary and this will be given Monday evening, June 26.

Eva Le Gallienne will head her Civic Repertoire Company in a tour of the United States next season, opening in Boston October 26. The company will present two plays, "Romeo and Juliet" and "Alice in Wonderland." Miss Le Gallienne will play Juliet in the Shakespearean love tragedy, and Richard Waring will play Romeo. Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet" suite will be the music of the play. The Lewis Carroll fairy story will have Josephine Hutchinson in the part of Alice. Miss Le Gallienne produced this play in New York in January, and it ran until the middle of May. Its costumes will be reproductions of those in the original illustrations of the book by Tenniel. This will be the first extended tour of the Civic Repertory Company, and it will mark the beginning of its seventh season. Since 1926 it has given 34 plays, one, "Allison's House," by Susan Glaspell, having received the Pulitzer Prize in 1931.

Irene Dunne To Sing

Irene Dunne's New York vacation has been terminated by a call from Hollywood. Miss Dunne has spent a month in New York visiting her husband, Dr. Francis Griffin. During her stay she has acquired a new wardrobe, taken in the best Broadway plays and kept in golfing form on Westchester links.

Miss Dunne, singing star of "The Clinging Vine" and "Showboat," was signed for films at the height of the last musical film cycle. She reached Hollywood just as the demand was on the wane. So, she was cast in dramatic roles and scored so strongly that she has continued in this vein, her outstanding hits having been in "Cimarron" and "Back Street."

And now that musicals are again in public favor, Miss Dunne is to have the chance to sing that she has awaited ever since she left the stage for the screen.

Forbes

Recovery Is Strong; Some Are Cautious

—By B. C. FORBES—

NOTABLE recovery continues, in employment, in commodities, in securities.

The more conservative declare that speculative operations have become a potent influence.

THESE SAME conservatives argued that the upward movement was started wholly by expectations of inflation, particularly outright currency inflation. No currency inflation having been set in motion—indeed, we still have a species of deflation in the form of a vast number of closed banks whose assets are frozen—the conservatives necessarily have had to evolve another contention to belittle the genuineness of the improvement in business volume and prices.

The writer cannot avoid the conclusion, based on actual facts and figures and on appearances, that there has been some speculative ordering of raw materials by manufacturers, that there has been considerable bullish speculation on commodity exchanges, that some part of recent buying of stock has been for purely speculative, quick sale purposes. Raw rubber is a sample.

NEVERTHELESS, it cannot be disputed that America has enjoyed and is enjoying very real recovery, based on consumptive buying.

Nor can it be disputed that the mental attitude of most people has undergone transformation; whereas despair ruled during the early part of this year, hopefulness has since developed.

CONSIDER some of last weeks events:

Commodities reaching new 1933 tops included several cereals, hides, wool, silk, sugar, lead, tin.

Stocks, on continued active dealings, closed the week several points higher, very close to the 1933 peak, after having increased in total market value $5,658,000,000 during May. On the March bottom the enhancement on the New York Stock Exchange alone has exceeded $13,000,000,000. Incidentally, stock exchange seats touched $200,000 for the first time since August, 1931.

The New York State Labor Department announced that the expansion in employment and payrolls during the month preceding May 15 was the greatest ever recorded for the period, eclipsing even the rebounds after the 1914 and the 1921 depressions—a most encouraging showing.

From various quarters comes reports of wage advances; also, intimations that the important steel industry plans a substantial wage rise at the end of the month.

For the first time in more than three years favorable dividend changes outweighed unfavorable changes. And, the prospect is that cheerful dividend news will become more and more during the second half of the year.

Notwithstanding the tripling of steel output from the recent minimum of 15 per cent, the steel corporation on Saturday reported a gain of 65,241 tons of unfilled orders for last month.

BANK CLEARINGS last month increased 20 per cent above April.

Electric power output is up 5.8 per cent above the 1932 corresponding period.

Commercial failures are the fewest in four years.

Almost every line of business is enjoying either modest or better-than-modest increase in sales. Retail trade has become distinctly brisker in many places, embracing both industrial centers and agricultural sections.

THE FINANCIAL and business world welcomes the rising of Congress, not so much because its record has been unsatisfactory as because of the uncertainty felt from day to day concerning what it might do in the way of enacting disturbing legislation.

THIS WEEK attention will turn from Washington to London. Fortunately, no false hopes are widely entertained as to the outcome of the international economic conference. Currency stabilization, perhaps embodying somewhat freer use of silver, is believed possible. But universal tariff concessions are hardly expected.

PROVIDED sufficiently extensive governmental construction and other money distributing profits are launched promptly, the prevailing view is that the recovery here can be maintained.

Financial Topics

Market's Buoyant Tone Revives Confidence In Street

NEW YORK, June 12.—The street returned from its week-end with some misgiving of the possible effect on sentiment of failure of Congress to have finished its business and on Saturday. But such apprehension apparently was unnecessary, judging by the buoyant tone of the market. Stocks in particular, though perhaps influenced a bit by the psychological influence of the sharp movements in sterling exchange, seemed disposed to ignore the tardiness of Congress. Rather the share market appeared to reflect the view, apparently widely held, that adjournment was close at hand, and that a day or two one way or the other made little difference, so long as the end was in sight.

Steel shares displayed vigirous strength in response to a crop of good news bearing on the industry which came to hand over the weekend. The tonnage report of the Steel Corporation was susceptible to constructive interpretation. While the increase reported in orders was by no means phenomenal so far as the actual figures were concerned, the expansion of 65,241 tons was the best for any month since January, 1931, and was scored in face of a steady rise in the rate of mill output during the period. On top of the tonnage news steel shares as a gropp were bulwarked by reports from leading producing centers over the weekend indicating another lift of 3 to 4 per cent in the rate of operations.

General sentiment among brokers and traders is somewhat mixed. While admitting business is improving right along, the argument heard on all sides is to what extent the stock market has already discounted business improvement. Certainly some stocks appear to have discounted a lot of future possobilities and on the other hand, there are probably some of what the street calls "sleepers," which have yet to discount marketwise their company's improved business outlook.

The Trader, in Barron's Weekly, says in part: "The merest tyro knows that careful accumulation of stocks cannot be taking place in the present excited markets and that it is no time to become over-extended with commitments. A stiff reaction is always possible, but underneath the surface are stirring powerful forces, namely, cheap money that still commands only 1½ per cent for six months, buoyant commodity prices, restored agricultural buying power, a revolutionary recovery bill for control of prices, large governmental expenditures and a sensational rise in earning power. In some aspects the combination seems as powerful as the 'war boom,' though even that period had its upsets."

American Telephone stepped to the center of the speculative stage, pushing ahead briskly to new high levels for the advance. The manner in which the stock moved ahead indicated plainly that short were finding their position increasing uncomfortable and covering was accordingly rather urgent at times.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Raw Sugar was quiet early today. Futures were easy during the forenoon, under liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban connections. Refined was unchanged at 4.60.

CONFAB SWAYS DEALINGS IN LONDON

International News Service.

LONDON, June 12.—Stocks opened idle and irregular on the London Exchange today as traders awaited developments in the World Economic Conference and on the Foreign Exchange, where the American dollar touched $4.19½, as against $4.12 Saturday.

There is a general idea that the United States and Britain have both staged so much recovery in recent months that neither will be found ready for co-operative departures—necessarily involving seeming sacrifices.

Britain and the United States are both playing with new fangled toys, the former with low tariffs and low sterling, the latter with a depreciating dollar plus theoretical but little practical inflation.

The radical city view of the conference is expressed by Dickenson & Sidebottom, members of the stock exchange:

"We fully believe that world events will be more favorably affected by failure of the conference than by a patched-up agreement.

"The process of writing off the vast amount of unbacked paper created by the western nations since 1914 from their small collective quantities of gold must proceed considerably further before the present incipient trade revival can be regarded as tangible.

"Internationalism, other than communism, is dead. We believe the flight from paper into gold and commodities will be accentuated."

EXPERT TALKS TO AGENTS

W. W. Klingman, vice president of Equitable Life, was to address a sales conference of Equitable agents at the William Penn Hotel today. The meeting is sponsored by the Edward A. Woods Company for the benefit of its new sales personnel. About 200 agents have joined the company during the past 12 months.

According to William M. Duff, president, the company's new agents have received applications for over $1,250,000 of new insurance during the first five months of 1933, indicating that the public now has money to invest in life insurance.

Committee Studies Air Lines' Control

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—(AP.)—Appointment of a committee to decentralize executive control of the several air lines owned by North American Aviation, Inc., was announced today by E. R. Breech, president.

Breech said it was desired to place authority and responsibility with the airlines executives. The committee includes Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express; J. M. Maddux, vice president of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and H. W. Back, traffic manager for T. & W. A. Hanshue is chairman.

BUSINESS

Isolation or World Program Faces Industry

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

ON THE OUTCOME of the World Economic Conference opening today at London hinges the decision on whether the planned recovery of the United States is to be an isolated program or part of a world-wide program.

The administration appears to believe that an international program is preferable to a purely national program. It has been made known that the American delegation has gone to London with a definite proposal with monetary stabilization as its key point.

If the conference succeeds, each of the leading nations of the commercial world will have to yield some of the points providing selfish advantages in favor of a general plan expected to yield better results in the long run. The adoption of a world program would mean that foreign trade operations would be given the right of way as completely as possible. This would mean a general lowering of tariff barriers or at least a general equalization of tariff policies.

Failure Would Mean American Isolation

THE FAILURE of the conference to reach an agreement would mean that the United States would have to work out its planned recovery on the basis of America as an isolated unit.

In other words the program, instead of having a world wide basis, would be confined to the limits of our 48 states. This would not detract from the chances of success for the plan, it would merely add to the complications and would change some of the details of operation.

Except for a few commodities, such as rubber and coffee, we are economically self contained. Planned recovery with the United States as a unit would mean that we would have less chance for securing foreign markets. Obversely it would probably mean that our domestic markets would not be so readily open to foreign competition.

Policies Would Have to Change

IF THE FAILURE of the conference should make planned recovery with the United States as a unit necessary, many policies would have to be changed. As an instance, safeguards against the exportation of gold would have to be kept in force for a longer period than under a world plan.

Under recovery as an isolated unit, tariffs would be established entirely from the standpoint of immediate American interests. No provision would be made to give advantages to foreign countries in exchange for advantages to our exporters.

Success at the conference would mean few international trade barriers. Failure of the negotiations would mean that barriers would be placed against all foreign commerce except for the commodities which are indispensable as American imports.

Success for planned recovery appears possible under either state of affairs but individual industries and the values of certain commodities will be affected by the result of the conference. The adjustments which must be made to conform with these results, will be responsible for the interest of business in the outcome.

AUTOGIRO PLANS FLIGHT OVER PITTSBURGH

Residents of Monongahela, Donora, Monessen and Charleroi need not be alarmed if they view above their heads a huge "flying wind-mill" today. It is a giant Pitcairn 300 horse-power Autogiro, towing a banner approximately 270 feet long, bearing in letters nine feet high, the message, "Sleep on the New Sealy Airway Matress."

Taking the 200-foot tow line into consideration, the entire length of this sky invader is nearly one-tenth of a mile. On exhibition yesterday at the Allegheny County Municipal Airport, the plane continues today its eight-day good-will flight over the Tri-State territory.

It is due in Connellsville at 10:30 this morning, Uniontown at 11:30, Morgantown at 1 o'clock this afternoon, Fairmont at 2:30 and Clarksburg at 3:45.

Tomorrow it will be in Washington, Pa., at 9 in the morning, in Wheeling at 10:30, in Wellsburg at 11:30, Steubenville at noon and East Liverpool at 1 in in the afternoon. The afternoon schedule includes Beaver Falls at 2:15, Rochester at 2:25, Aliquippa at 2:34, Ambridge at 2:45 and New Castle at 4:30.

Wednesday's schedule includes Youngstown, Sharon, Franklin, Oil City, Butler, Tarentum, Natrona, Brackenridge and New Kensington. The plane is to arrive at Kittanning at 9 Thursday morning, then on to Punxsutawney, Du Bois, Clearfield, Lock Haven and Williamsport. The good-will tour will end Friday, June 16 in Sunbury.

The project is a direct expression of the Fort Pitt Bedding Company's and the Sealy Mattress Company's confidence in widespread recovery from a period of general stagnation, according to H. E. Wolf, manager of the Fort Pitt Bedding Company.

EXPERTS FIGHT 'NEW DEAL' PROGRAM

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 12.—As orthodox economists have begun an attack on the philosophy of the "new deal," business continues to move upward with some rapidity to the highest peak in 15 months.

Mr. Rukeyser

It started from an extremely subnormal level in March, and the subsequent advance has gained momentum cumulatively as the season has worn on. In light of the upswing in business, efforts to force a severe technical reaction in the speculative markets thus far have been unavailing.

"In appraising the legislative achievements of Congress, it is well to recognize that the program for the most part moved in the direction of a planned, socially useful economy. An underlying immediate motive was to raise the gross volume of business and also the price level. There was a desire to substitute conscious management for blind drifting.

CRITICIZE PLAN

"Though business men responded affirmatively to the evidence of positive, trade building leadership, some of the orthodox economists are frankly critical. It should be recognized, however, that through the ages economic theory has in due course responded to changed conditions, and whether we will or not, a new economics is in the making.

As to specific measures, much depends on the quality and capacity of administration. So much discretion has been left to the executive that it is impossible to pre-judge the broad outlines of the experiment. The passage of the industry control bill gives political government in the United States vaster powers over economic life than ever before. In so far it is workable, it brings political government into focus with present day economic problems. Heretofore, the government stepped in only after the event of disaster. Now it proposes to act in the role of partner in advance, and to prevent the piling up of troubles.

TAX QUESTION

On the tax side, Congress leaned to preconceptions and studiously avoided the benefits of a general manufacturers sales tax. The Morgan inquiry, however, led to an attempt to close up avenues for avoidance of income taxes by the wealthy. The Senate vote to end the tax-exempt bond policy was a notable development, though question has been raised as to the feasibility of accomplishing this reform without a constitutional amendment. Though the development is desirable from a long term public standpoint, it raises delicate questions now when the credit of some municipalities and other political subdivisions is not of the highest.

The "new deal" domestic economic program, it seems to me, is conceived in terms of a more or less self-contained nation, yet Secretary Hull's observations concerning the alleged need of tariff cuts looked in the direction of economic internationalism.

NO DEPRESSION SAYS HENRY

Depression? There is none, according to Henry Boosman, well-known Pittsburgh restaurateur, known since 1904 as "Dutch Henry." And he ought to know. He feeds more than 5,000 people a day. He said:

"For the past five years I have been traveling about Europe, studying and trying out different kinds of eating places. When I heard that beer was coming back, I knew the tide of business was going to turn for the better. I decided to come back to Pittsburgh and give the public more for its money than it ever had before. The public has rewarded me by ample volume."

In these days when wages are at a standstill, "Dutch Henry" has given his employes two raises since the new business opened. He continued:

"With the prices of bulk food as low as they are today, there is no reason why a man cannot dine like a king for 25 or 30 cents without sacrifice of quality. Of course, business on such a scale takes hard work and good management, but it can be done, because I'm doing it every day."

Steel Wage Boost Prospects Improve

CLEVELAND, June 11.—(AP.)—The magazine Steel today said that production in the steel industry last week continued to increase production was at 48 per cent of capacity, the magazine said, up one point over the previous week. Prospects for wage advances during July are becoming more definite, the magazine said.

STOCK MARKET PRICES RULE STEADY

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—Discretion apparently was considered the better part of valor in the stock market today and prices, although maintaining a steady to firm position, showed little buoyancy.

The American dollar again was soft in some leading foreign exchange markets early in the day. Previously a drop in dollar rates usually has been the signal for an upswing in share in quotations, as well as advances in principal staples. Traders, however, exhibited considerable caution today in the face of European uncertainties. Wheat, corn and cotton were slightly easier at one time, although generally tending to follow a narrow range.

Continued improvement in carrier traffic was reflected by firmness of rail shares. There was a better demand for some of the alcohol issues, National Distillers, United States Industrial Alcohol and American Commercial Alcohol getting up 1 to around 3 points.

Chesapeake and Ohio reported revenue freight car loadings for the week ended June 10, about 3,000 above those of the previous week and nearly 8,000 higher than in the same 1932 period. Santa Fe's car loadings were up around 2,000 for the same week and around 560 over those of the 1932 week.

While the slump of American money to unprecedented low levels in terms of sterling and European gold currencies has occasioned mixed feelings in banking circles, it is believed in some quarters that the wild fluctuations of exchanges may do much to bring about a speedy settlement of the currency situation. The dollar was at a discount of about 20 per cent in its relation to gold funds; in other words, it was worth around 80 cents at its low. The question that is troubling bankers, exporters and importers is the point at which the gold value of the dollar will settle.

High banking officials have denied reports that the government was using a secret stabilization fund to put dollar rates where they will do the most good in negotiations with other countries. As a matter of fact, it is said, American currency is merely being permitted to find its own level.

WHEAT PRICES TURN DOWN

CHICAGO, June 12.—Influenced by a change to cooler weather with rains in scattered districts, wheat prices averaged lower early today. A steep rise in British exchange was virtually ignored. Opening ¾ off to ⅛ up, wheat afterward declined all around. Corn started ⅜@¾ down, and subsequently sagged further.

Rallies in wheat values to about Saturday's finish ensued after the market had shown a general setback of a cent a bushel. Provisions averaged higher, responsive to hog price upturns.

Buying on wheat price declines resulted from reports that crop conditions east of the Mississippi River were developing very unsatisfactory features, and that high temperatures and drying winds had caused soil to bake and crack, catching wheat in the critical stage of bloom and dough.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

BIG DAY INDICATES SLUMP IS OVER

OF COURSE, FURTHER evidence will be required to prove that the brace is permanent, but the great double victory over the Cardinals yesterday surely indicated very strongly that those Pirates have snapped out of their long slump, to become pennant contenders again, only a game and a half from the top, and confound the boys who had pronounced them hopelessly cracked. Not in a long time have the big leagues seen a performance to surpass that of the Bucs in traveling more than 600 miles in sweltering weather and grabbing two games in one afternoon from a fast-going club that had just won 16 out of 20 straight contests.

Lloyd Waner

That astounding ninth-inning rally in the first game, with Lloyd Waner starring in a drive that produced 10 runs to turn into a sensational victory what looked like a 7-to-1 defeat, was one of the greatest exhibitions of fight and determination ever seen on any ball field. And Larry French's shut-out pitching to bag the second encounter completed the biggest day of the year for the Rovers, and ran their new winning streak to four straight. A club that had blown up or quit on itself never could have accomplished anything like that. Incidentally, that makes six times in seven games the Picaroons have beaten the powerful Cards, who have been a scourage to the remainder of the league. It looks as though the Bucs are back on their feet.

WITH ALL DUE credit to Bill Terry, Gus Mancuso and Frank Snyder for the development of Hal Schumacher into a star pitcher this season, that credit must be shared in some measure with John McGraw. The retired manager of the Giants was quick to discern Schumacher's greatest possibilities, pronouncing him a coming star.

Schumacher's only minor league apprenticeship was a short stay with Bridgeport in 1931. McGraw said he didn't need any seasoning. Outsiders suggested that Hal would have to spend a couple of seasons in Class AA, but McGraw dissented. "Let him get control and confidence and he won't need any minor league work," said the old pilot. "He can get those qualities right here with the Giants."

SO IF YOU omit that brief spell of farm service in Bridgeport, Schumacher really deserves a place in the small circle of pitchers that made the jump straight from the college ranks to major league success. The number is small. Even Christy Mathewson didn't go straight to stardom from Bucknell.

Among the most notable successful modern ones were Mike Lynch, from Brown; Jack Coombs, from Colby, who has just sent his son to the A's from Duke; Eddie Plank, from Gettysburg; Ted Lyons, from Baylor; Pete Donohue, from Texas Christian; Eppa Rixey, from Virginia, and Tom Zachary, from Guilford.

ONE DEVELOPMENT OF the 1933 season that probably is without a parallel in major league history concerns two famous pitchers. You may be able to recall a case in which a champion batsman of one campaign fell into such a slump the following year that he had to be lifted from the lineup, but the records disclose no previous instance in which the leading clouters of both big leagues were benched a year later simultaneously. That's the novel angle contributed to this season's doings by Lefty O'Doul and Dale Alexander. Last year O'Doul was the leading hitter of the National League with an average of .368. Alexander topped the American with .367. Until a few days ago both were on the bench, unable to break into the starting lineup because they couldn't hit even as high as .270.

Randy Moore

WHILE THESE HITTING stars of last year have declined, new ones have risen. Among them is Randy Moore, of the Braves. Bill McKechnie's club is the weakest hitting combination in the National, but Moore has not been one of the disappointments. He has been the life of the outfit on the offensive.

Moore had a hard time finding his spot after coming up to the Braves in 1930. He was tried at third base, in the outfield, at first base, and all over the lot. They even attempted to make a catcher of him. This year, with Red Worthington out of commission, Randy got a chance to play steadily and it made him. He is hitting .340.

M'KECHNIE IS CONFIDENT that he has found one permanent running mate for Moore in Joe Mowry, who looked very promising to Pittsburgh fans while the Braves were playing here last month.

"Mowry looks better every game," McKechnie says. "He has a good arm, is fast, and has power up there at the plate. He does not get his body into his drives the way Moore does, it is true, but Joe is the owner of a good swing just the same, and you don't see him going after many bad balls."

FISTIC CRITICS SEE Max Baer as another exhibit proving that a fighter who can give and take it is hard to beat, regardless of what other odds may be against him. Most of the heavyweight champions stood up under stiff punishment. Two who did not relish it were Jim Corbett and Jack Johnson. Jack Sharkey is said to be none too keen about being hit in the body. John L. Sullivan proved he could take it in his bare knuckle battles, and he also took a lacing from Jim Corbett before he collapsed. Bob Fitzsimmons was groggy in almost every round after the second when he lost the title to Jeffries, but he kept on going until the eleventh. Jim Jeffries never was seriously hurt in any of his battles, and neither was Jess Willard until Jack Dempsey pounded him out of shape. Dempsey weathered a storm in the Firpo fight and was still fighting at the finish of both bouts in which Gene Tunney pasted him.

FOUR CARNEGIE TECH athletic figures that undoubtedly will be listed among Tartan immortals receive their degrees at the Schenley Park institution's graduation exercises today. They are George Kavel, Jim Fergus, Bob Smith and Tom Coulter. Football, basketball, track, tennis, boxing, golf and swimming were among the athletic accomplishments of the Big Four.

Two of them, Kavel and Smith, have stayed strictly in the sports that brought them their fame—football and basketball. The versatility of Fergus and Coulter has led them into various lines of student activities. No all-time Carnegie football team would be complete without Kavel, perhaps the hardest-running, most desperately-trying halfback in the Plaid's gridiron history. No all-American honors came to him, but he was virtually a unanimous selection on the all-Opponents teams picked by the Tartan's rivals.

COULTER RANKS AS perhaps the most versatile athlete ever to attend Carnegie Tech. He started his career by winning his freshman insignia as a swimmer, and only his great interest in other branches prevented his becomming an ace natator.

As a sophmore, Tom wrote his name all through the Skibo record book, and at present he holds the school marks in the quarter-mile, the 220-yard low hurdles, the 120-yard low hurdles, and is a co-holder with Jimmy Robertson of the 120-yard high hurdles mark and the 100-yard dash record. He also holds the Carnegie Tech Bowl records in the 220-yard dash and the quarter-mile.

Tom Coulter

COULTER'S FOOTBALL HISTORY is well known. He never tried the game until his senior year, and at the end of the season he was regular left-halfback Likewise, he assayed boxing as a senior, to help complete the team roster, and he won his letter in that sport also. On the side, Tom dabbled in hockey, incidentally his best sport, and was a member of the Canadian Olympic team. Fergus and Smith were largely responsible for the basketball revival at Carnegie, which brought the Tartans up from nowhere to a fairly respectable showing in that game. All four of the graduating stars ranked high in their classes as well as in sports. Fergus, incidentally, had obtained a position in the business world long before his graduation.

PRO-AMATEUR PLAY ON AT GREENSBURG

By TOM BIRKS

The second pro-amateur golf tournament of the season is on at the Greensburg Country Club today, and practically all of the members of the tri-state professionals are teaming up with the amateurs of the Greensburg club in an effort to crack par over that exacting layout.

The first tourney was played at Hannastown two weeks ago, and found Paul Erath, of Edgewood Country Club, walking away with the honors.

Perry Del Vecchio, Vincent Eldred, Charley Manning, Emil Loeffler and Pete O'Hara are due back from the National open and may play in the event.

Tomorrow, the first intercollegiate team championship tournament of the tri-state district featuring Pitt, Tech, Duquesne and West Virginia golfers will get under way at South Hills. The tourney will run for three days, finishing up on Thursday when a 36-hole match play final round will decide the individual title.

Joe Connors, caddie master at Chartiers Heights, established a new course record at his home club yesterday when he toured the layout in 66, two under par.

The Nemacolin Country Club will be host to the women golfers of the Tri-State district at a visiting ladies' day tomorrow.

James, Turf Hero Of 1932, Drowns

CHICAGO, June 12.—(INS.)—The body of Jockey Eugene James, 20, who rode Burgoo King to a Kentucky Derby victory in 1932, was sent to Louisville today for burial. James was drowned in Lake Michigan yesterday when he attempted to swim out to a breakwater.

The jockey apparently had become exhausted in the chill waters and sank before help could reach him.

When he last rode, James wore the silks of Col. E. R. Bradley, for whom he won the Derby and the Preakness on Burgoo King.

Arnold School Grads In Ball Games Today

Two baseball games between the Arnold School varsity baseball nine and teams representing the Alumni and the Faculty was to be one of the pre-commencement features at Arnold School, South Braddock avenue, this afternoon.

The alumni lineup was announced today as follows:

Whitcomb, c; Peters, p; Lord, 1b; Iams, 2b; McClintic, ss; Charters, 3b; Philips, lf; McCrady, cf, and Walton, rf. They will have in reserve Dougherty, Moreno, Miller, Kelly, B. Kountz and J. Kountz.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF LAST SATURDAY: THE DOLLAR'S COMEBACK—T. F. Pierson, now a post-office clerk in Omaha, earned his first dollar as a track worker in the employ of the Denver Tramway Company, 30 years ago. In spite of an inclination to keep the first "cartwheel" earned as a souvenir, he was obliged to part with it for food and lodging. In January, 1933, a young lady tendered Pierson's departed dollar in payment of some postage stamps at Pierson's stamp window in Denver. The prodigal souvenir piece, bearing Pierson's indelible mark, was recognized by its former holder and welcomed after an absence of 30 years.

TOMORROW: UNDERGROUND LIGHTNING

BUCCOS TAKE DOUBLE BILL FROM CARDS

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Sergt. Gabby Street and his rampaging Redbirds today were quite convinced that the Pittsburgh blast descending on them from the Steel City yesterday was something worse than a heat wave. As the sergeant strove to re-assemble his fluttering battalion, the main body of Pirates journeyed up to Springfield, Ill., where this afternoon they will take part in an exhibition game.

George Gibson's first-string sharpshooters and a few others remained in St. Louis to recuperate from their remarkable achievement of yesterday when they toppled the Redbirds twice in one of the greatest dual bills of the season in any league. The Freebooters scored 10 runs in the ninth inning of the first game to overcome and overpower the home team. It was the biggest inning of the season in the National League.

THEVENOW PIRATE ACE

In a maze of sensational developments popping during the exciting dual bill, there are several that stand out. One of these has to do with the relative merits of the reserve strength of the two clubs which are running high in public opinion as probably flag winners. An analysis of the secondary strength in the Pittsburgh and St. Louis rosters leads one to the opinion that the Pirates hold an edge over their local rivals in this important department.

Exhibit A is Thomas Joseph Thevenow as the Bucco ace-in-the-hole. If you take a vote of the Bucs you will learn they think there is no better defensive shortstop in baseball than Thomas, who jumped into the second-base breach when Tony Piet slipped, and performed like a topliner. Tommy carried his versatility to the hot corner when Capt. Pie Traynor left the field in the second game, and it was Thevenow who got in the way of Frisch's liner in the ninth to star a double play and thus clinch the double victory.

Tommy is capable of playing the infield of any club in the majors, yet he is just a substitute in the Pittsburgh lineup. Pep Young, the other reserve infielder like Thevenow, is one of those variable artists who can play a number of positions well.

Take a little journey into the outfield and you will find two subs in Adam Comorosky and Woddie Jensen who are the envy of a flock of major league managers.

DOUBLE GOLF CROWN OBJECTIVE OF GOODMAN

NATIONAL OPEN KING TO STAY IN AMATEURS

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—Johnny Goodman, sensational amateur winner of the 1933 National Open golf championship, isn't going to turn professional for at least two big reasons, although he might "cash in" on his brilliant victory at Chicago to the tune of $25,000 within the year.

The 23-year-old Nebraskan's two big objectives are to add the National Amateur championship to his laurels at Cincinnati this September, duplicating the rare "double" achieved only by Chick Evans and Bobby Jones, thereby making it impossible for the United States Golf Association to leave him off the Walker Cup team again when the forces are assembled for a British invasion in 1934.

SLIGHT IRRITATED STAR

If there's one factor besides a naturally keen and aggressive spirit, that has spurred Johnny Goodman to the heights of golf within the past year, it is that he was not named among the 10 leading American amateurs for the 1932 Walker Cup team. It irritated the Midwest and filled the Omaha youth with a determination to prove it was a big mistake.

Most everyone recalls how Goodman, carrying on a solo vendetta, trounced three stars of the Walker Cup team in the last National Amateur at Baltimore, including Capt. Francis Ouimet. He was the best American in the tournament, even though he lost in the final to Ross Somerville, of Canada.

Now that he holds the national open championship, no golfer in the United States, amateur or professional, can dispute Goodman's place at the top of the list. Whether or not Johnny can sustain his present dazzling pace and go on to a succession of triumphs, the fact today is that he has picked up where Robert T. Jones, Jr., left off in 1930 as golf's foremost "double threat." He's a champion at 23 and getting better.

AGGRESSIVE PLAYER

The Nebraskan is much along the aggressive type of Gene Sarazen, who never figured in the defense of his title and wound up in a tie for twenty-sixth place, 16 strokes behind the winner. Goodman has what the professionals describe as a "compact swing." He used the overlapping grip, hits the ball with a slightly shut club face and generally gets a low-flying shot.

His iron play is perhaps his strongest point, but he is a consistent putter and has streaks of sheer genius around the greens.

PIRATES WIN TWIN BILL

players, were still groggy today over the 10 runs made by the Pirates in the ninth inning of the first battle. The Redbirds were leading, 7 to 1, when the storm broke. This astounding feat made possible the double success of the Pittsburghers. The rush of tallies at the close gave the Pirates an 11 to 7 triumph in the opener and while the Redbirds were still in a panic over the dramatic turn of events, Larry French threw them into further confusion as he reeled off a 3 to 0 shutout victory. Lloyd Waner led the Pirate drive of the opener with four hits.

The stunt of the Pirate performers scrambled up the National League race in a delightful manner. The Giants, Cardinals and Pirates today were bunched within the narrow margin of one and one-half ball games. In other words, the Pirates, in third place, are just one and one-half games beneath the pace-setting Giants, who were smeared by the Phillies.

The ejection from the field of Capt. Pie Traynor, of the Pirates, developed in the first inning of the last contest.

The series between the Pirates and Cards will be resumed tomorrow.

Lee Ramage vs. Babe Hunt, 10 rounds, Philadelphia.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

The Alabama Kid, Negro southpaw middleweight boxer, of Dover, O., is very much on the spot in his 10-round windup battle with Tommy Freeman, former world welterweight champion, at Hickey Park, Millvale, tonight. His work has not been entirely satisfactory in many of his local engagements and he has been warned that he will have to fight his best this time or face a long layoff here.

The Alabam' is inclined to yawn in his corner as he awaits the opening bell, and then to carry on in his fighting in a lazy manner, putting on a few flurries in each round instead of throwing leather at a consistent pace. He is a hard puncher and there is no doubt that he would score a lot of quick knockouts if he only would bear down a bit in his fighting.

FOE EARNEST WORKER

There is no more earnest worker in the ring than Freeman when he is right, as he demonstrated recently in giving Ted Yarosz the latter's toughest fight in the same ring. If the Alabama Kid will stand up and punch it out with him tonight we are likely to see one of the best battles staged here in a long time; on the other hand, a typical lackadaisical effort by the Alabam' may ruin another otherwise perfectly good evening.

Two eight-round bouts and two six-rounders complete the card for tonight.

Patsy Severo, of Meadville, meets Harry Weekly, of Alliance, O., in the semi-final, and Tiger Roy Smith, Rochester (N. Y.) Negro middleweight, is in with Anson Green, of Homestead, in the other eight-rounder, and Jack Snyder, of Lawrenceville, meets Harry Jacobi, Yarosz's new stablemate, from Newark, N. J., and young Dick Ambrose, of Bloomfield, turns professional against Pete Fleming, sparmate of Freeman, in the two six-rounders, with the show getting under way at 8:45 o'clock.

Between Rounds

Salvatore Ruggirello has been substituted for Otto Von Porat in one of the three 10-rounders at the Cleveland Stadium, Thursday night, Patsy Perroni and Johnny Risko are in the main event, and Ted Yarosz and Sammy Slaughter in the other feature number.

Bunny Buntach has two of his big fellows on the Max Baer exhibition card at the North Braddock Bowl, Thursday night, his Sunny Jim McVey meeting Buddy McArthur in the 10-round windup and Lloyd Clements boxing Jock Pallat, of Cleveland, former national amateur heavyweight champion, in the semi-final. Buck McTiernan, the former middleweight star, is working out again under Bunny's direction and will be back to the wars soon.

Dick Ambrose, who foresakes the medal ranks tonight, is the Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U., senior welterweight champion and a protege of Ralph Martzo, former local featherweight campaigner. He is 22 years old and has been boxing only about a year and has lost only two bouts as an amateur, one to Jimmy Campbell here and the other in the National A. A. U. senior tourney in Boston. A featherweight stablemate, George Martzo, brother of Ralph, plans to turn pro soon.

JACOBS INJURED

HAMMOND, Ind., June 12.—(AP.)—Art Jacobs, of Chicago, national Class B outboard motorboat racing champion, was painfully injured yesterday when his craft overturned during the second heat of the Class A open event of a regatta at Wolf Lake.

Ladies' night at Greenlee Field will be celebrated when the Baltimore Black Sox and the Homestead Grays meet in the third game of their series. The game is scheduled for 9 o'clock.

The Grays have dropped both games to the Sox, losing Saturday in 10 innings and yesterday, 5 to 1, as Hayes, pitching for the Sox, held the Gray hitters in check. He gave up 11 hits, but in the pinches, had even the great Jap Washington hitting weak pop flies. Two runs in the first and three in the fourth put the game away for the Grays.

Two games are slated in the City League. At Wilson Avenue field, Brentwood will meet Ottie Cochran nine with Art Rooney back in middle field. At Olympia Park, the Book team clashes with Homewood.

Dinny Moore and his Parmelee outfit play their second game in the Greater Pittsburgh League at Peabody High School field this evening, when the fast stepping Springdale outfit comes to town for the first time.

The Crawfords made it two in a row over the Columbus Blue Birds at Columbus yesterday, winning 10 to 4. Crutchfield's hitting featured the game, the Crawford outfielder getting two singles and a triple. Oscar Charleston had a pair of doubles.

WOMEN TENNIS STARS PLAY AT ALLEGHENY

By PAUL G. SULLVAN

The annual Allegheny Country Club's women's doubles intramural title affair gets under way this afternoon. Twelve combinations are slated to do battle on the A. C. C. grass rectangles. Mrs. W. P. Snyder, Jr., and Mrs. J. H. Ricketson III are seeded first with Mrs. Martha Guthrie Snowdon and Peggy Painter second in the ranking. Julius Boise, racquet professional of the club is directing the action. The entry list follows:

Mrs. W. P. Snyder, Jr., and Mrs. J. H. Ricketson III; Virginia Doyle and Rebecca Doyle; Althea Robinson and Mary F. Robinson; Margaret M. Holdship and Fredericka C. Holdship; Mrs. W. H. Trimble and Mary Floyd; Mrs. D. M. Simmons and Dorothy Jarvis; Mrs. E. Kipp and Miss A. D. Haworth; Harriet Ramsburg and Margaret McCready; Mrs. Felix B. Snowdon and Peggy Painter; Mrs. J. J. Edson, Jr., and Mrs. Hanson Thomas; Mrs. W. C. Robinson, Jr., and Mrs. J. E. Brown, Jr.

District tennis devotees to the number of nearly three score foregathered for the special P. T. A. pre-West Penn tournament session at Stanton Heights yesterday and mingled food with men's doubles from late morning till early evening.

When hostilities ultimately terminated for the day, two pairs were left in the milling. The final match, postponed until a fortnight hence, will bring together the P. A. A.-Rockwood coalition of Dr. John O'Laughlin and Ralph Snively, with the Winged Head-Pitt array of Jack Redmond and M. G. Gurin.

The summary of the doubles tourney:

First round—Don Mattern and Ed McCloskey defeated Augustin Famariss and Robert Ellis, 6-4, 6-3; Dr. John L. O'Loughlin and Ralph Snively defeated V. K. Gilldden and J. L. Slocum, 6-3, 4-0; Robert T. Lampus and R. L. Moore defeated William J. Clardy and Roy Getty, 6-2, 6-0; H. J. Rinehart and G. Tucker defeated G. D. Henderson and H. Vernon Porter, 6-2, 3-6; Irvin Goodman and T. M. Fritzlen defeated Crosby Leyda and William Purcell, 6-2, 3-4; Rufus Hartig and Ted Rosenthal defeated Edgar Alcorn and J. Magaro, 6-3, 4-4; Jack Redmond and M. G. Gurin defeated Dr. David L. O'Loughlin and Dr. Eugene A. Conti, 3-6, 6-2; Ben Haseltine and Karl G. Wolfe defeated Charles B. Maits, Jr., and Kenneth Rinehart, 6-1, 2-0.

Second round—William H. McKenna and Paul G. Sullivan defeated Albert C. Kelly and William R. Bernardi, 6-2, 3-5; John O'Loughlin and Snively defeated Mattern and McCloskey, 4-6, 6-3; Lampus and Moore defeated Walton and Purcell, 6-2, 3-1; Goodman and Fritzlen defeated H. M. Rinehart and Tucker, 6-5, 6-1; Hartig and Rosenthal defeated Frank S. Smith and Arthur Darbaker, 6-3, 4-2; Redmond and Gurin defeated Haseltine and Wolfe, 6-2, 3-2; Harry Milton and Eddie Grant defeated W. Russell Unger and Kurtz, 3-6, 6-3, 2-0; William L. O'Loughlin and E. G. Slocum defeated S. H. Cooper and Tichvinsky, 6-0, 1-0.

Third round—John O'Loughlin and Snively defeated McKenna and Sullivan, 6-0, 1-0; Lampus and Moore defeated Goodman and Fritzlen, 5-6, 6-1; Redmond and Gurin defeated Hartig and Rosenthal, 6-2, 3-3; Milton and Grant defeated William O'Loughlin and E. G. Slocum, 6-2, 3-2.

Semi-final round—John O'Loughlin and Snively defeated Lampus and Moore, 6-4, 5-4; Redmond and Gurin defeated Milton and Grant, 6-5, 6-4.

BASEBALL COMEDY

—By NICK ALTROCK

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Well, folks, I got another batch of my income tax due Thursday, and, thanks to this guy, Pecora, I am now getting wise. Instead of sending along my $42.06 installment, I will shoot along this letter:

Nick Altrock

"Dear Collector—Instead of owing you $42.06, I just found I'm bankrupt and Uncle Sam is about $1,700 in the hole to me. Last year, I owned 3,000 shares of Amalgamated Shoestring I bought at $60. Then, on December 31, 1932, we had a New Year's eve party and I got slightly potted. To square myself with the little woman, I promised all I owned.

"So I transferred my Amalgamated Shoestring to her and all I got back was a black eye. This leaves a deficit of $180,000 for the fiscal year, which makes me bankrupt. Today my eye ain't even in the black. So please send back the $42.06 I gave you last March 15 and I will not prosecute. Yrs. recp.,

Sebastian Chased After Hitting Ump

NILES, O., June 12.—(AP.)—Mike Sebastian, University of Pittsburgh football star, was chased off a baseball diamond yesterday by a group of indignant fans after Jerome Kramer, umpire for a game between sandlot teams, charged Sebastian struck him.

In the disturbance, the player's father, Dan Sebastian, was arrested and charged with cutting with intent to wound. The younger Sebastian escaped his pursuers.

The game was broken up when Mike Sebastian, playing for a Sharon (Pa.) nine, objected to a strike called by Kramer. Fans who saw Kramer struck, swarmed out over the field and started the chase.

BURKE NAMED ON U. S. RYDER CUP TEAM

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP.)—The Professional Golfers Association of America has completed its Ryder cup roster and quelled a storm by selecting Billy Burke, National Open champion in 1931, for the last remaining place on the team.

Burke's appointment, announced by George R. Jacobus, president of the P. G. A., came as a distinct surprise in view of his failure to finish in the money in the 1933 open which Johnny Goodman, Omaha amateur, won at Chicago Saturday.

Burke posted 305 for the 72-hole struggle and wound up in a tie for thirty-fourth place, 18 strokes behind the winner.

The P. G. A., stirred up quite a tempest when the first nine nominations for the team of 10 were announced and Burke's name was not among them. Outstanding pros, notably Gene Sarazen, declared Burke, on his record, deserved a place.

The P. G. A. stood by its original nominees—Captain Walter Hagen, Sarazen, Paul Runyan, Horton Smith, Leo Diegel, Ed Dudley, Craig Wood, Olin Dutra and Densmore Shute, but pointed out that the tenth place on the team still was vacant, awaiting the winner of the 1933 open in the event he turned out to be a native-born pro not already named to the list.

TRIBE LACKS POWER

INDIANS WIN FIRST FOR JOHNSON

Associated Press.

The Cleveland Indians have made their start for a new deal in the American League struggle, but in their first game under Walter Johnson's management they failed to show any signs of overcoming their one conspicuous weakness, lack of hitting power.

The Indians won their first game for the Big Train yesterday but while the bats of the other American League clubs were booming out a thunder of base hits and home runs, they collected only five safeties and had to go 10 innings to beat the seventh place St. Louis Browns, 1 to 0. In the tenth Mel Harder loaded the bases and was relieved by Oral Hildebrand, who retired the side and a few minutes later won his own game with a single that brought in Joe Vosmik with the only run.

Weak as this performance was, it left the Indians only a half game behind the fourth-place Philadelphia Athletics and one game behind the Chicago White Sox, who went into third place by splitting a doubleheader with Detroit while the A's lost a slugfest to Washington, 13 to 6.

TARTAN STARS GET DEGREES

By JESS CARVER

Finis will be written today to the varsity careers of 17 Carnegie Tech athletes, including the 1932 co-captains of the Tartan football team, Hooks Sample and George Kavel. The 17 are members of Tech's graduating class, and will receive degrees at the annual commencement exercises today.

Six footballers, four basketball stars, two netters, one track man, one golfer, three swimmers and two boxers are included on the list.

Sample, one of the greatest guards in Tech's history, will not get this degree today, having another year of school work to finish up before graduating, but he's played his three years of varsity football.

The list of those graduating today follows:

Football—Melvin Jones, Anthony Koehe, Stuart Dueger, George Kavel, Jerry Seiger and Thomas Coulter.
Basketball—James Fergus, Robert Smith, Edgar Stentz and Jerry Seiger.
Track and field—Thomas Coulter.
Tennis—Rufus Hartis and Stuart Dueger.
Golf—James Fergus.
Swimming—Irs. Kuhn, H. P. Miller and Norman Franke.
Boxing—Henry Carr and Thomas Coulter.

McKnights Capture Junior Soccer Title

The Castle Shannon McKnights won the Western Pennsylvania junior soccer cup yesterday, defeating Beadling in the final round, 3 to 1, in a replayed game at Morgan.

Curry advanced in the charity cup, stopping Sygan by a 4-to-1 score. Curry is to play Mt. Lebanon in the next round.

Next Saturday evening at Homestead Athletic Field, Curry will meet the New York Americans, champions of the Eastern League.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Perhaps it was only a coincidence, but it was on a night in June that Max Baer made his big play for the hand of June Knight.

We now have a 23-year-old amateur, Johnny Goodman, as the National Open golf champion, and 24-year-old Max Baer as the most colorful youngster that has come along in years to challenge for the world heavyweight boxing championship.

New faces are the best thing that can happen in the world of sports, and to have two such fellows as Goodman and Baer develop in the same week sets down that period as a red-letter stretch in our year's chronology.

They say Jack Sharkey is broke so flat by market loosses and the burden of real estate mortgages that he had to put the touch on Madison Square Garden for several thousand dollars in ready cash for training expenses for his fight with Primo Carnera the latter part of this month.

There's nothing so inspired as a hungry fighter. It is when they wax fat and wealthy that they lose their enthusiasm and effectiveness. Maybe Sharkey will show a new lease on his fighting life against the Italian.

They are accusing Max Schmeling's manager, Joe Jacobs, of having made a bad match for him when he chose to send him against Baer instead of into a third meeting with Sharkey. Perhaps he knew what he was doing, however. For a Sharkey title fight he would have drawn down only 12½ per cent of the gate instead of 37½ per cent, and the former gob probably would have outboxed him again or knocked him out in the form he showed against Baer.

The handlers of Vince Dundee in the latter's hot night fight against Frankie Goosby at the Arena the other night showed the local seconds a few tricks 'n nursing a fighter through a tough fight. They had a bucket of ice water in his corner with which they freshened him up between rounds and also pressed lumps of ice against his neck, forehead and spine every time he came back to his corner and also gave him liberal applications of aromatic spirits of ammonia, with the result that he was able to carry on despite the intense heat, to which Goosby attributed his collapse after winning the first two rounds.

As Dundee's trainer, Heine Blaustein, explained after the bout, there's nothing like aromatic spirits to keep a fighter going when he has to step at a fast pace. "Sometimes his ticker (heart) slows down on him, and a sniff or two of the spirits brings him back to life," Blaustein says.

Cherokee Tom Cox, manager of Goosby, also pulled a smart move in that battle. He had Goosby undressed before the first bout went on and took him outside the hot arena garbed only in his fighting togs and a bathrobe and had him rest under a tree where he could get the benefit of what little breeze was stirring.

Gene Sarazen's failure to retain his National Open golf title at North Shore did not come as a surprise to local golfers who saw him play an exhibition match with Joe Kirkwood against local pros at the Field Club recently. Gene was overgolfed and stale then and complaining of feeling tired from his long exhibition tour. He no longer got a kick out of playing and had to force himself. What the man who came back last year to win both the United States and British Open titles needed more than anything else was a long rest away from golf courses to put him on a new edge.

W. L. Blystone, of Ardara, Pa., forwards a sample of his rice writing art from Bob Ripley's Odditorium at the Century of Progress World Fair in Chicago, with a note that he is meeting many of his Pittsburgh friends there and the fair is a wow of a success, at least insofar as Rip's mammoth exhibition of queeriosities is concerned.

Ticket prices for the Sharkey-Carnera fight, for the benefit of Mrs. William Randolph Hearst's Milk Fund in New York, June 29, have been set at $2.30, $3.50, $5.75, $7.85 and $15, and it is believed the satisfactory outcome of the Schmeling-Baer fight will be evident in increased interest in the result of this aftermath, with the winner slated to box Baer for the title. —HARRY KECK.

Fletcher, Collins To Aid Mack

CHICAGO, June 12.—(AP.)—Eddie Collins, vice president and general manager of the Boston Red Sox, and Arthur Fletcher, New York Yankee coach, have been chosen by Connie Mack to help him lead the American League all-stars against the National League's picks at Comiskey Park July 6, in baseball's biggest game.

RACER NEAR DEATH AFTER SMASHUP

HAMMOND, Ind., June 12.—(AP.)—Malcolm Fox, Philadelphia auto racer who figured in the accident that cost two lives in the 500-mile Memorial Day classic at Indianapolis, was near death in a local hospital today as a result of crashing through the fence at the Roby Speedway yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred when his car went over the edge of the track and rolled over on him. In a previous race he had gone through the fence and was attempting a comeback when the accident occurred.

Sam Hoffman won the 50-mile race in 42:42 4-5.

LARRY EVANS WINS

SHARON, Pa., June 12.—Larry Evans, of Steubenville, won the 50-mile automobile race at the local speedway yesterday, acting as a relief driver for Cal Bangert, of Columbus, O.

Ray Ford, of Greenville, racer, is in a local hospital with internal injuries, suffered when his car left the track and plunged through the rail.

CUMMINGS VICTOR

DETROIT, June 12.—(AP.)—Whipping around the dirt oval at the Michigan State Fair Grounds at an average speed of 73.9 miles per hour, Bill Cummings, of Indianapolis, yesterday took first place in the A. A. A. sanctioned 100-mile automobile race.

BOB SALL INJURED

DOVER, N. J., June 12.—(AP.)—Billy Winn, of Kansas City, Mo., all but lapped a field of 10 drivers to win the 20-lap inaugural sweepstakes at the new Dover speedway yesterday in 10 minutes 50.12 seconds before a crowd of 8,000.

Bob Sall, of Paterson, was second and Al Thiesen, of Dayton, O., third.

resentatives or assigns, at the office of the City Treasurer of said city on the first day of June, A. D. 19—, with interest thereon at the rate of four and one-half (4½%) per centum per annum, payable at the same place on the first days of June and December of each year without deduction for any taxes which may be levied thereon by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pursuant to any present or future law, the payment of which is hereby assumed by the City of Pittsburgh. And for the true and faithful payment of the principal of this bond and the semi-annual interest thereon, as aforesaid, the faith, honor, credit and property of the said City of Pittsburgh are hereby pledged. This bond is transferable only on the books of the said City Treasurer.

This bonds is one of a series of bonds amounting in the aggregate to three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) issued by the City of Pittsburgh for valid municipal purposes by virtue and in pursuance of an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled, "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities, to provide for the redemption of the same, and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof," approved April 20, 1874, and the several supplements and amendments thereof and by virtue of an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled, "An act for the government of cities of the second class," approved March 7, 1901, and the supplements and amendments thereof; and an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled "An act to authorize the registry or transfer of certain bonds," approved April 11th, 1913, and by virtue of a special election duly called and held in the said city on April 26, 1932, and in pursuance of an ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh entitled, "An ordinance authorizing and directing an increase of the indebtedness of the City of Pittsburgh in the sum of three hundred thousand dollar ($300,000) and providing for the issue and sale of bonds of the said city in said amount to provide funds for the following purposes, viz: Providing supplies, materials, equipment, labor and supervision (including engineering expenses) for the improvement of streets, parks, playgrounds, wharves, sewers, water lines, bridges and other public properties of the City of Pittsburgh, the labor to be provided from among the unemployed, and providing for the redemption of said bonds and the payments of interest thereon," duly enacted by the Council thereof and approved by the Mayor thereof on June, 1933, and duly recorded and published in the manner required by law.

It is hereby certified and recited that every requirement of law affecting the issue hereof has been duly complied with; that provision has been made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also the principal hereof at maturity; that the total amount of the indebtedness of the City of Pittsburgh, including the entire issue of the above mentioned bonds, aggregating three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) of which this is one, is less than seven per centum (7%) of the last preceding assessed valuation of the taxable property therein; and that this bond and the debt created thereby are within every debt and other limit prescribed by the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Given under the corporate seal of the City of Pittsburgh, signed by the Mayor thereof and countersigned by the City Controller, as of the first day of June, 1933.

SECTION 6. Pending the execution and delivery of the permanent bonds to be issued under this ordinance, the Mayor and City Controller are authorized to have prepared, and to execute and deliver to the purchaser of the bonds hereby authorized, one or more temporary typewritten or printed bonds for the aggregate principal amount of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, which temporary bonds shall be in such denominations and amounts as the Mayor and Controller may determine, and shall be substantially of the tenor of the registered bonds to be issued hereunder, with such appropriate omissions, insertions and variations as may be required. Each of said temporary bonds shall bear on its face the words "Temporary Public Works Relief Bond, 1933." Such temporary bonds shall be exchangeable at the office of the City Controller for a like principal amount or amounts of permanent bonds, when such permanent bonds are ready for delivery.

Upon every such exchange the temporary bonds surrendered shall forthwith be cancelled by the City Controller. Until so exchanged the temporary bonds shall be in full force and effect according to their terms, and shall bear interest from the date thereof.

SECTION 7. That any ordinance or part of ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this ordinance.

NO. 124.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and directing an increase of the indebtedness of the City of Pittsburgh in the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) and providing for the issue and sale of bonds of said city in said amount to provide funds for the following purposes, viz: Providing supplies, materials, equipment, labor and supervision (including engineering expenses) for the improvement of streets, parks, playgrounds, wharves, sewers, water lines, bridges and other public properties of the City of Pittsburgh, the labor to be provided from among the unemployed, and providing for the redemption of said bonds and the payment of interest thereon.

WHEREAS, The corporate authorities of the City of Pittsburgh, by ordinance duly enacted by the Council thereof and approved by the Mayor thereof on March 15, 1932, and duly recorded and published as required by law, signified their desire that the indebtedness of said city be increased in the sum of two million dollars ($2,000,000.00) for the purposes described in Section 1 hereof, and provided that the question of increasing the indebtedness in said amount for said purposes be submitted to a vote of the electors of said city at a special election held on April 26, 1932, and

WHEREAS, After due legal notice, said election was held and conducted as required by law and a majority of the electors who voted at said election voted in favor of said increase of indebtedness, and the vote was duly counted by the Court of Quarter Sessions as required by law, and the Clerk of Quarter Sessions made a record thereof and a certified copy of such record under seal, showing the result, was furnished as required by law, to the corporate authorities of the City of Pittsburgh and the same has been placed of record upon the minutes thereof; now, therefore,

SECTION 1—Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the indebtedness of the City of Pittsburgh be increased by the amount of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) to provide funds for the following purposes, viz: Providing supplies, materials, equipment, labor and supervision (including engineering expenses) for the improvement of streets, parks, playgrounds, wharves, sewers, water lines, bridges and other public properties of the City of Pittsburgh, the labor to be provided from among the unemployed.

SECTION 2.—That bonds of the City of Pittsburgh in the aggregate amount of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) be issued for the purpose aforesaid. Said bonds shall be in denomination of one hundred dollars ($100.00) or multiples thereof; shall be dated as of the first day of June, 1933, and shall be payable in twenty (20) equal annual installments of fifteen thousand ($15,000.00) dollars each, one of which shall mature on the first day of June in each of the years 1934 to 1953, inclusive. Said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four and one-half (4½%) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December in each year, without deduction for any taxes which may be levied thereon by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pursuant to any present or future law, the payment of which is hereby assumed by the City of Pittsburgh. The principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the office of the City Treasurer of said City. Said bonds shall be coupon bonds, exchangeable at the option of the holder for a registered bond or bonds of the same maturity and of the denomination of one hundred dollars ($100.00) or multiple thereof, not exceeding the aggregate principal amount of the coupon bond or bonds surrendered in exchange therefor, by surrendering such coupon bond or bonds with all coupons not then due, at the office of the City Controller, and the City Controller is hereby authorized and directed to cause such coupon and registered bonds to be engraved and to issue the same in the name of the City of Pittsburgh, the expense thereof to be charged to Appropriation No. 42, Contingent Fund. Registered bonds shall be registered with the City Treasurer, and shall be transferable only on the books of the said City Treasurer. Said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor, countersigned by the City Controller and sealed with the corporate seal of the City of Pittsburgh and the coupons attached thereto shall be authenticated with facsimile signature of the City Controller.

In the absence or disability of any such officials, the bonds shall be signed by the city official authorized by law or by resolution of Council to act in his place.

Each of said bonds will be known and designated as PUBLIC WORK RELIEF BOND 1933.

SECTION 3. That until said bonds, issued as herein provided, shall be fully paid, there is hereby levied and assessed annually upon all subjects now by law liable, or hereafter to be made liable, to assessment for taxation for city purposes, an annual tax, commencing the first year after said debt shall have been increased or incurred, namely the year 1934, sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as the same shall accrue and become payable, and any tax on said interest which by the terms of said bonds is assumed by the city and also an annual tax commencing in said year equal to five (5%) per centum of the total amount of said bonds hereby authorized, to be set apart as a sinking fund for the payment of the principal and redemption of said bonds as they become due and payable according to their terms, and the same is hereby appropriated out of the revenue of said city for the payment and redemption aforesaid. There is also hereby appropriated out of the general revenues of said city an amount sufficient to meet the installment of interest due on said bonds during the current fiscal year.

SECTION 4. That all bonds issued by the authority of this ordinance and the Acts of Assembly authorizing the same shall be and become part of the funded debt of the City of Pittsburgh, and shall be entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities thereof, and shall be free from taxation, as aforesaid, and for the payment of the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon semi-annually as the same shall become payable, the faith, honor, credit and property of said city are hereby pledged.

SECTION 5. That the form of bond issued in pursuance of this ordinance shall be substantially as follows:

And for the true and faithful payment of the principal of this bond and the semi-annual interest thereon, as aforesaid, the faith, honor, credit and property of the said City of Pittsburgh are hereby pledged.

Any one or more of the coupon bonds of the series of which this is one may, at the option of the holder, be exchanged at any time for a registered bond or bonds of the same maturity and of the denomination of or a multiple thereof, not exceeding the aggregate principal amount of the coupon bond or bonds surrendered in exchange therefor, by surrendering the said coupon bond or bonds, with all coupons not then due at the office of the City Controller of said City.

This bond is one of a series of bonds amounting in the aggregate to three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) issued by the City of Pittsburgh for valid municipal purposes by virtue and in pursuance of an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled, "An Act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities, to provide for the redemption of the same, and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof," approved April 20, 1874, and the several supplements and amendments thereof; and by virtue of an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled, "An Act for the government of cities of the second class," approved March 7, 1901, and the supplements and amendments thereof; and an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled, "An Act to authorize the registry or transfer of certain bonds," approved May 1, 1873; and in pursuance of an Ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh entitled, "An Ordinance authorizing and directing an increase of the indebtedness of the City of Pittsburgh in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00) and providing for the issue of bonds of said City in said amount to provide funds (including engineering and other necessary expenses) for the replacement of steel water main on Smallman street, the replacement of one Allentown Water Tank and for other Water Works activities and providing for the redemption of said bonds and the payment of interest thereon.

SECTION 1.—Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the indebtedness of the City of Pittsburgh be increased by the amount of one hundred thousand dollar ($100,000.00) to provide funds (including engineering and other necessary expenses) for the replacement of the steel water main on Smallman street, the replacement of one Allentown Water Tank and for other Water Works activities.

SECTION 2.—That bonds of the City of Pittsburgh in the aggregate principal amount of

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($100,000.00)

be issued for the purposes aforesaid. Said bonds shall be in denominations of

or multiples thereof; shall be dated as of the first day of June, 1933, and shall be payable in twenty (20) equal installments of one of which shall mature on the first day of June in each of the years 1934 to 1935, inclusive. Said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four and one-half (4½%) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first day of June and December in each year, without deduction for any taxes which may be levied thereon by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pursuant to any present or future law, the payment of which is hereby assumed by the City of Pittsburgh. And for the true and faithful payment of the principal of this bond and the semi-annual interest thereon, as aforesaid, the faith, honor, credit and property of the said City of Pittsburgh are hereby pledged. This bond is transferable only on the books of the said City Treasurer.

This bond is one of a series of bonds amounting in the aggregate to three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) issued by the City of Pittsburgh for valid municipal purposes by virtue and in pursuance of an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled, "An Act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities, to provide for the redemption of the same, and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof," approved April 20, 1874, and the several supplements and amendments thereof; and by virtue of an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled, "An Act for the government of cities of the second class," approved March 7, 1901, and the supplements and amendments thereof; and an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled, "An Act to authorize the registry or transfer of certain bonds," approved May 1, 1873; and in pursuance of an Ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh entitled, "An Ordinance authorizing and directing an increase of the indebtedness of the City of Pittsburgh in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00) and providing for the issue of bonds of said City in said amount to provide funds (including engineering and other necessary expenses) for the replacement of steel water main on Smallman street, the replacement of one Allentown Water Tank and for other Water Works activities, and providing for the redemption of said bonds and the payment of interest thereon, "duly enacted by the Council thereof and approved by the Mayor thereof on ..... 19— and duly recorded and published in the manner required by law.

It is hereby certified and recited that every requirement of law affecting the issue hereof has been duly complied with; that provision has been made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also the principal hereof at maturity; that the total amount of the indebtedness of the City of Pittsburgh, including the entire issue of the above mentioned bonds, aggregating three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) of which this is one, is less than seven per centum (7%) of the last preceding assessed valuation of the taxable property therein; and that this bond and the debt created thereby are within every debt and other limit prescribed by the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

ARSON MURDER TRIALS START

CLEVELAND, June 12.—(AP.)—Ray I. Turk will be called to trial today charged with first degree murder in the perpetration of arson in connection with the Ellington Apartment fire on June 7, 1932.

Frank G. Jones, attorney for Turk, says he will prove the former officer of the American Beauty and Barber Supply Company was at home at the time the fire started in his firm's quarters on the first floor of the building.

Louis J. Kamons, who police say has been identified as having been seen near the Ellington the morning of the fire, Sam Neamans, Jack Hirsch and Paul Childs, all of Pittsburgh, are the other men charged with murder in connection with the fire.

Insurance Man Dies In Leap for Train

SCARSDALE, N. Y., June 12.—(AP.)—Charles W. Whitehair, Cleveland insurance man, was killed today attempting to board a commuters' train which had already started out of the station.

OBITUARY

Guiser Funeral.

Funeral services for Frank A. Guiser, McKeesport merchant, who died Saturday night from injuries suffered when he was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio train Wednesday, will be held in St. Peter's Church, McKeesport, at 10 a. m. tomorrow, when solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated.

Mr. Guiser

Mr. Guiser was born in Pittsburgh, June 7, 1858, and went to McKeesport in 1879, opening a haberdashery store at 318 Fifth avenue. A year later he formed a partnership with the late George T. Haben, which lasted 20 years. He then took over the business in his own name.

He had been an active member of St. Peter's Church 54 years, was a member of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, a charter member of McKeesport Council No. 955, Knights of Columbus; a life member of the McKeesport Elks, a member of McKeesport Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles; Division No. 16, Ancient Order of Hibernians, and a director of St. Joseph Cemetery.

He leaves eight children, Leo J., Paul C., J. Phelan, Frances M. and Marie Guiser, of McKeesport; Raymond A., of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Charles Hite and Camilla M. Guiser, of Philadelphia.

Henry Raum.

Henry Raum, 60, died yesterday at his home, 41 Dewey street, Etna. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home.

He was a charter member of Etna Lodge, B. P. O. Elks; a life member of Davaga Lodge, F. & A. M.; a member of Allegheny Royal Arch Chapter, Allegheny Commandery, Knights Templar; Islam Grotto, and a charter member of St. John's German Lutheran Church, Sharpsburg.

He leaves two sisters, Miss Mathilda Raum, and Mrs. Emma Hartman, and three brothers, John, George and Peter Raum.

Thompson Funeral.

Funeral services for John A. Thompson were held at his home, 518 South Graham street, today. He died Saturday.

He was a member of the First Reformed Church.

Besides his widow he leaves four sons, Alex J., Robert N., Thomas W. and James J. Thompson; three daughters, Mrs. J. B. Hanna, Mrs. George Seibold and Miss Margaret Thompson; three brothers and a sister.

AUDACIOUS GIRL REVEALS SECRETS OF SOUTHERN SEAS

CHAPTER XXIII.

The D. O., who loved his garden, produced there the miracle of roses. They were rather colorless, scentless, anemic roses, but in New Guinea they were as rare as a blue paradise. In my own United States, where money will buy bunches of roses, I never learned the true value of one. His orchids, a splendid collection of plants, were much less objects of worship, they being no great rarity there.

But I didn't see as much of the D. O. as I should have liked, for in addition to his infrequent patrols into the hinterland, he at length was preoccupied with a new arrival in Madang. This was a distinguished-looking, portly man from "down south." Mr. North arrived at Madang on the specially chartered Durour, which must have cost him a pretty penny.

He wore a well-tailored tweed golf suit, which made the rest of us look rather shabby. He had an air of important business about him. He brought a letter to the district officer, and automatically became his guest. The D. O. led him around to Meg's at once. We gathered that he was interested in a kind of blue clay to be found in a part of New Guinea inland from Madang. More than that he obviously did not wish to reveal. Blue clay meant diamonds, but we pursued the subject no further.

In a day or two Mr. North and the D. O. were starting up the coast by schooner on a patrol.

I think that few of the people I met in New Guinea gave me credit for being what I honestly was, that is, a harmless, altogether unmercenary, more or less inhibited young woman endowed with abnormal curiosity. And I don't wonder. I wonder that I found the tolerance I did. It was unusual for a man to wander aimlessly through the islands, but never before had a girl passed that way, going wherever fancy and opportunity took her.

NO RESPONSIBILITIES

When I started out from Rabaul for unknown destinations, those that were interested in me said I couldn't do it, not alone. A woman simply could not travel alone through New Guinea, they declared. I felt that, given a few good breaks, I could go wherever in the world I wanted to. I had youth, superb health, money to pay my way where money would buy anything, ability to see the amusing side of most situations, and an ardent desire to know every phase of adventure; and my life was my own with responsibility to no one. I'd rather die trying to do what I want to do than live forever in monotony. There is no better equipment than that for travel through New Guinea—or any place.

Furthermore, I had learned, what I already suspected, that men (handled rightly) are far from being the natural enemies of women, even in the rough-and-tumble South Pacific. If it had been a world of women out there—and I've a lot of liking for women individually—I doubt that I should ever have accomplished my adventure.

I found some surprising manifestations of chivalry. Indeed, one chap whom I had met in Rabaul wrote from a lone plantation in the Solomons, to which he had returned, offering a marriage of convenience in order that I might have the protection of his name, he guaranteeing a divorce at the end of the adventure. Not that it was an impassioned proposal, or could possibly have been construed as a tribute to my fascinations. He meant what he said as he said it. It was extremely decent of him—I know a beautiful gesture as well as the next person.

'RIVER OF DEATH'

When I say that men were my friends, and that I met with chivalry, I don't mean to throw a cloak of absurd and sentimental virtue over the adventurers, drifters, and moral beach-combers that I came in contact with, and lived among, out there. I am merely trying to explode the theory that the experience of a reasonably interesting girl, among disillusioned, world-buffeted, and frequently codeless men, need be fraught with disaster, or even danger, either physical or spiritual.

At any rate, despite the gloomy headshaking about my finding my way out among the islands, I had got as far as Madang without much difficulty. But the rest, even I could see, wasn't going to be so easy. One thing I wanted above all things to do—to see the country of the Sepik River, the head-hunting country. In New Guinea the Sepik River is a place of mystery into which but few white men have penetrated. Its source, high in the fastness of unexplored mountains, had never been authentically mapped. Except for the schooner Gabriel, belonging to Father Kirschbaum, the missionary who has been an exile from the world and has lived among the Sepik tribes for more than 20 years, few schooners had dared the swift current of the "River of Death," as the Sepik is called.

The dangerous river fascinated me as a goal. When I talked about getting up it everyone said, "Not a chance!" At that particular period of my wanderings, dismissing an ambition thus airily was a challenge to turn all of my ingenuity toward accomplishment. But at the moment I could merely bide my time and hope for the best. And biding one's time in Madang was easy.

NEW FRIENDS

Meanwhile, Jim came along. One day he blew down to Madang from a plantation 180 miles up the coast, on a schooner. One of the best, most courageous and adventurous in the South Pacific, this Jim. Not much to look at, except in length. And his cober, Brearly, was a good sort, too. (Cober is Orstrylian for pal.) Jim, having heard that a lady was harbored in Madang—an unattached one—dropped around to pay his respects to the Longs and see the rara avis.

This was of a late afternoon, at teatime. I saw a long, very long man, with sandy hair that stuck out Will Rogers fashion from beneath his wide-brimmed Stetson, whimsical blue eyes, and a long freckled neck in which an open shirt disclosed a large Adam's apple. He wore his duck trousers foreignly, as if white ducks were a trying gesture to society and ladies. For Jim belonged to khaki shorts, a cartridge belt for the waist, and a rough shirt, as I have him preserved in a photograph.

He stood, as we made him welcome, uneasy, with sombrero in his fumbling hands. He looked sneepish, although he was hankering to be sociable, and I took a shine to him. And, happily, so did he to me. Besides, he had exciting news. The Nuloa had arrived at Rabaul some days ago, and was on her way to Madang, en route to the Sepik River, and thence out among the farthest islands of the Territory, up to the equator! He had got the lowdown from Burns-Philp's manager that day. The Sepik!

TO PENETRATE JUNGLE

For months now Jim and Brearly had been hanging around Madang awaiting some means of getting to the mission station of Marienberg, up the Sepik. The reason was this. He and Brearly were planning to undertake a mad thing. Both of them had been recruiting native labor from the inland villages of the Sepik country; they had virtually all of the vast area of hinterland for themselves. Only those who know from experience can guess the hardships entailed in penetrating through the kunai plains, swamps, alligator-infested rivers and jungle of that country. But Jim and Brearly had endured it, and had prospered financially in the partnership. It was said that Jim knew the Sepik country and natives better than any living man, except Father Kirschbaum. And he believed that if he and Brearly could take horses, instead of native carriers, into the hinterland, they could work much more effectively.

I had heard of Jim in Rabaul. This was an original idea of his, taking horses into the hinterland, and every one said he was as crazy as a hatter to attempt such a thing.

A few months before, Jim and Brearly had brought horses to Madang and put them out to pasture, against a time when transportation up to Marienberg should come that way.

Meanwhile, Jim and I had hit up a pleasant friendship. Besides liking him, I had a great respect for him as a fearless pioneer, as most people in the Mandated Territory have.

Come four of an afternoon, we would start off for a jungle-trail ride, I on the D. O.'s broad-backed lazy steed, he on a pony he was specially fond of. Beautiful and unforgettable rides, as the palm shadows grew long, out through the great government plantation with the kunai grass up to our stirrups, and leaving this behind, along the ruins of roads that had once been the pride of the German colonists, but which were now reverting to jungle.

Grade Crossings Are Dangerous Again

We've got to pay more attention to our carloadings.

Secretary of Commerce says they are the barometer of the national financial pulsations and the wrist warmers on the cash register.

The only trouble with our bedside bulletins is that they compare everything with the year 1932. That's last year, my friends. And people with sensitive memories don't think that 1932 is a comparable year. It ain't incomparable, either.

Our carlots are doing better this semester than they did in 1932. We don't know whether that means the freights are hauling merchandise or whether more hokies are riding on them.

Most of the carloadings of 1932 were us Northerners brake-beaming it South for the winter. Now, if they want some good comparative calendars why not take the bouncing old season of

WHAT'S TH IDEA OF GOIN' DOWN TO TH FREIGHT YARDS ?
WELL I'LL TELL YOU THEY SAY PROSPERITY STARTS IN TH FREIGHT YARDS - SO I'M GONNA TRY AN GIVE HIM A PUSH

1492? They had no carlots then. Everything was a boatload. Did Columbus discover the nation for Isabella or Carlotta?

When coal, lumber, fruit, beer, electric refrigerators, motor cars and building material get to clicking over those rails again we will be on the upgrade.

It's up to the wholesalers. The only trouble with us retailers is that some press agent may see this article and start a buy-a-carload week. We like gum drops and the doctor told us not to eat 'em.

Prosperity starts at the freight yards. Go down to the tracks and watch it grow. You don't happen to remember that the first railroad across America had a notable launching? The crew working West met the crew hammering East somewhere on the prairie. The junction was marked forever by the railroad president pounding in a golden spike.

And, in the last four years, there has been many a R. R. prexy looking for that spike.

However, things are better and the golden spike will be glistening soon again like a wet frog in the sun.

The Vote Fraud Inquiry

The Federal Grand Jury Investigation Beginning Tomorrow Is of the Utmost Importance.

Liberty is a fundamental American principle.

"Give me liberty or give me death," said Patrick Henry, and the utterance has come echoing down the years with the unhesitating approval of the people in whose behalf he said it.

A people does not enjoy liberty in the sense intended by Patrick Henry unless it has the right to choose its own rulers and the right to determine the policies under which it shall be governed.

There is good reason to believe that the people of Allegheny County have been deprived of these rights, and consequently have not enjoyed in full measure the liberty to which they are entitled. They have been deprived of these rights through fraud at the polls, which made their votes of no avail.

As an example of this fraud, consider the report of the Committee on Election Frauds of the Allegheny County Bar Association that in the primary of 1931 "thousands of persons registered upon illegal assessments, registered from fictitious or non-existing addresses, registered on forged tax receipts."

The state courts have treated election fraud as a trivial offense. Thank goodness, the federal authorities have at last taken cognizance of the situation.

The investigation of fraud in the Congressional election of last November, to be started tomorrow by the United States grand jury for Western Pennsylvania, is of the utmost importance.

It may show the crooked political bosses and election racketeers that cheating at the polls is not a trivial offense after all, and so restore political liberty to the people of Allegheny County.

Pershing's Grave Warning

The National Defense, Steadily Being Whittled Away, Fast Approaches the Danger Point.

Gen. John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of America's World War Army, has pointed out to the federal administration in no uncertain terms the danger of its espousal of sapping expeditions against the national safety and security in its child-like disarmament game with old world politicians.

Gen. Pershing knows only too well the horrible toll America paid for its unpreparedness when it entered the Great War, although the United States was better prepared for the World War than for any other in which it has engaged; he had considerable experience abroad with the scheming, wire-pulling diplomats of the old school; therefore he comprehends the dangers which would beset the administration if it persists in its foolhardy meddling mission abroad.

Gen. Pershing holds as FALLACIOUS the administration theory that if the United States takes the lead in disarmament other nations would follow. He no doubt recalls that Uncle Sam, after the Washington Naval Limitations Conference, sank REAL fighting ships, while John Bull tore up a few blueprints.

Every Congressman, every member of the federal administration should "read, mark and inwardly digest" Gen. Pershing's solemn warning against the administration's disarmament plans. He said:

"Let us no longer deceive ourselves by such futile experiments. There is plenty of evidence to refute such child-like faith. The casual observer sees wars continue to be waged in various parts of the globe. He sees that when treaties clash with national ambitions, aggressor nations do not hesitate to disregard their treaty obligations. America cannot afford to relax her vigilance."

Gen. Pershing urged that America guard against the mistakes of the past, pleading for "a national defense sufficient to discourage attack" as the only true defense. He demanded upkeep of the service arms as outlined in the national defense act of 1920.

By this act Congress evolved what is supposed to be the present system of national defense and established a new national defense policy, based upon the lessons we were supposed to have learned in the Great War.

It placed the ultimate burden of national defense upon the citizen soldier and afforded a method whereby the citizen soldier could obtain the partial preparation essential for him to reach the defense line prepared to meet an enemy attack.

By this act Congress authorized a peace-time strength for the Regular Army of approximately 300,000 officers and men with a war reserve of arms, equipment and munitions to supply a minimum combat force of 1,000,000 men. This was designed as the foundation upon which the citizen army, consisting of the National Guard and organized reserves, could be mobilized in a major emergency.

It was plainly the intent of Congress to maintain such a Regular Army as essential to the whole structure of the defense.

But the whittling pacifists and the false economists soon got busy, and by failing to appropriate for such a Regular Army continually pared away its strength. It was cut first to 175,000, then to 150,000, then to 125,000, then to 120,000, and now it is only 118,750, excluding 6,500 Philippine scouts.

The national defense act authorized a Regular Army officer strength of 18,000. THIS HAS BEEN CUT TO 12,000.

The national defense act authorized a total strength for the National Guard of 450,000. TODAY IT HAS BEEN CUT TO 190,000.

The national defense act authorized for the Army Air Corps a strength of 1,650 officers, 15,000 enlisted men and 1,800 serviceable planes. TODAY IT HAS BEEN CUT TO 1,280 OFFICERS, 13,488 ENLISTED MEN AND LESS THAN 1,500 SERVICEABLE PLANES.

The national defense act provided for the training of organized reserves. Today it has NO enlisted units, with an officer strength of 80,000.

The national defense, under the whittling process, fast approaches the danger point.

Proposed further reductions in the service arm have been temporarily halted at Washington because of the nation-wide protest against such menacing, costly "economies."

In the interest of the national safety this halt should be permanent. Upbuilding should start.

Read again, and call to the attention of your United States Senators and Congressmen, Gen. Pershing's solemn warning against the dangers of the administration's "economies" at home and child-like meddling abroad.

Temperance hasn't been asleep quite that long—but 13 years is long enough to be haunted by bootleggers and hijackers and racketeers and all their lawless kind.

However, Temperance has waked at last. Congress has rung the big bell of Repeal, and every State has heard it ring.

As the saying goes, it won't be long now. The tocsin of Temperance is Prohibition's knell.

He jubilantly passes foolish statutes, like the Eighteenth Amendment—and promptly begins to devise ways and means to get around them. He puts a cast-iron embargo on his own thirst—and then tries to break it with a raisin and a little prune-juice.

He invents rich and spicy foods and employs expensive cooks to tempt his palate—and then pays expensive doctors to cure him of his dyspepsia.

He invents every possible labor-saving device to make his life easier—and then has to invent reducing machines, golf, dumb-bells and Indian clubs to take off his weight and give him some exercise.

He appoints a day of rest—and spends it walking around in the hot sun hitting a little golf-ball or straining his back over a radish patch. He sets legal holidays for rejoicing and merry-making, and spends them in sleeping off the hangover from the night before.

He elects men to Congress to make laws—and immediately goes out and pays a lawyer lots of money to teach him how to evade them.

He designs a garment like trousers—and then has to design something like suspenders or a tight belt to hold them on with. He cuts his stockings off half way down the leg, and then has to invent a garter which cuts into his calves to hold them up with.

He invents airplanes so that he may travel among the clouds and submarines so that he may travel under the sea. Yet, when his wife takes the car and he has to walk on the face of the earth, where the Lord intended him to travel, he bitterly resents it.

He spends three-quarters of his life working himself to death for money or power—and the remaining quarter living on gruel or a liquid diet, and wondering what he's going to do with his money.

He runs after all the women he doesn't particularly love—but runs away from the woman he might love or could love, in the cold fear that his heart or his emotions may become seriously entangled. And, then wonders, in the end, why he married "the wrong woman."

He openly disapproves of painted, light-headed women, and professes to admire nice, intelligent, domestic girls. Yet, it's always the "nice, unpainted" girls who have to sit against the wall of dances, and the dazzlers whom he takes to the prom.

Nothing offers stark poignancy like an old woman in rags in a doorway—human offal flung on life's scrap heap. We passed one last night in West Forty-seventh—Lisle Bell and I. For many, and their number increases, the heart has outlived the body. They are dead to feeling. It is difficult to imagine that among a few at least their eyes 50 years or so ago were compared to stars. The claw-like fingers of this shriveled old woman's hand clutched a filthy newspaper upon which her head rested. The same fingers, perhaps once lovely and white, may have coiled the stem of a delicately flanged champagne glass around the corner. Or am I too syrupy?

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

We were talking about that oldest Favorite Theme—Marriage—and right in the midst of it, the Happy Wife threw this depth-bomb.

"DO YOU KNOW WHAT I THINK?" said she. "I BELIEVE THAT THE TROUBLE WITH MODERN MARRIAGE IS THAT MOST WOMEN ARE FORGING AHEAD AND MOST MEN ARE STANDING STILL OR HANGING BACK."

Then she went on—and I double-dare you to follow her.

"Take the average American young wife. She's intelligent, healthy, ambitious. Chances are, she worked a few years before she married. Perhaps she even had her own business.

"All the time, of course, she was wanting what women have always wanted—her own man—and secretly shopping around for him, as women have always shopped. At last she thinks she has found him. And, amidst mutual enthusiasm, they marry. Then what happens?

"The woman wants to be as successful in her home as she was in her job. She has progressive ideas. She expects to be a 50-50 partner to her husband—to work with him, in the home, as she has seen men and women working together in the outside world.

"NOW OF COURSE THAT'S A VERY NEW WAY FOR WOMEN TO FEEL ABOUT THEIR OWN HOMES. ONLY WOMEN WHO HAVE BEEN OUT 'ON THEIR OWN' CAN FEEL THAT WAY. OUR MOTHERS AND GRANDMOTHERS, WHO WENT FROM THE BOSS-RULE OF THEIR FATHERS TO THE BOSS-RULE OF THEIR HUSBANDS, COULDN'T POSSIBLY FEEL THAT WAY. GRANDMA NEVER DREAMED OF BEING A 50-50 PARTNER WITH HER HUSBAND. SHE WAS SUPPOSED AND EXPECTED TO PLAY SECOND FIDDLE TO HIM ALWAYS.

"And the average modern husband still expects his wife to do just that! He can't see why his wife shouldn't lean on him and be in awe of him as his mother was of his father.

"He grew up expecting women to be like that. Men had always been Sturdy Oaks. Women had always been Clinging Vines. Men didn't have to work to be Sturdy. They didn't have to hang up any records. A man was a man, and that was enough. And a woman was a woman—which wasn't so much. But that was God's Ordained Plan. Could anything have been sweeter for males? No; nothing could.

"And now, here's our Hero expecting his twentieth century wife to be like all the wives who have gone before her. But something has happened. While he has been loafing on his grandpa's laurels, she has been working, she has been hanging up a record.

"AND WHEN SHE MARRIES, THIS PERFECTLY OUTRAGEOUS MODERN FEMALE EXPECTS HER HUSBAND TO QUALIFY!

"So then, what? So then, there's a tug-of-war.

"He wants her to be a Clinging Vine—so he can go on being the Big Boss, without any effort on his part. And he's outraged when she refuses to act the role; when she insists on Being Regular, and demands that he make just as much effort to keep current as she's making.

"Why should he be so satisfied with himself, merely because he's a male and a good businessman? Why shouldn't he have as many interests as she has; like books and music; want to travel—IN SHORT, BE AN INTERESTING PERSON AS WELL AS A MALE?

"But he can't see that argument. Men have always felt superior merely because they were males. Why should they change now?

"Who wins? Generally the man. For a fine woman usually feels that even an unhappy marriage is better than none at all, and if she can't make a real comrade of her husband, she'll make a child of him. Coddle him. Smile or yawn at his unreasonableness, as one does with a child. Keep him happy with fibs and sweet kisses. And everyone thinks they have a successful marriage.

"But isn't it tragic? How much happier both would be if she could be honest with him; if he'd forge ahead with her.

"THE TRUTH IS, WOMEN WANT THEIR MEN TO BE SUPERIOR. SOMETHING DIES IN A WOMAN'S HEART WHEN SHE HAS TO TREAT HER HUSBAND AS A CHILD.

"SHE'D GLADLY GIVE HER MAN ALL THE APPLAUSE HE CRAVES—IF HE'D PROVE WORTHY OF IT. BUT WHY SHOULD SHE RESPECT HIM JUST BECAUSE HE WAS BORN A MALE?"

YOU tell her, Freddie—if you can.

The Human Side of the News

Aguinaldo to Visit the United States—The Philippine Insurrection Recalled—Fred Funston's Daring Capture of the Leader

By EDWIN C. HILL

A LITTLE brown man, not more than 5 feet 4 inches in height, still slender and supple at 63 years, announces in faroff Manila that he will go to the United States and to Washington, to tell the American Congress that the people of the Philippines are not content with the independence measure which the Congress passed over the veto of President Hoover. And this little brown man is none other than Emilio Aguinaldo, the hero of his people, a George Washington to them but to the American Army of thirty-odd years he was what Fuzzy Wuzzy was to British Tommies in the Sudan, and what Sandino was to be to the Marines in Nicaragua.

What memories the name of Aguinaldo conjures up! Columns of American soldiers tramping through the jungles and over the mountain roads of Luzon to the chant of their famous song, "Oh, the monkeys have no tails in Zamboanga." The battle of Manila Bay; Admiral George Dewey; the Spaniard fighting the naked Igorottes, bolo knives flashing their messages of death and holding their own against the Mausers and the Remingtons! A glamorous, glorious era it was. Empires in the making, young bloods winning their spurs, and among them Black Jack Pershing and Fred Funston.

A Filipino With Chinese Blood

AGUINALDO wasn't much more than 27 back in those good old days of '98; when Dewey steamed into Manila under the nose of the Spanish fortifications to utter his historic phrase: "You may fire when ready, Gridley,"—which Gridley did, to the destruction of the Spanish fleet.

Aguinaldo was a native Filipino with some Chinese blood in him, and as a young man the Dominicans and the Jesuits despaired of making a doctor of him and sent him home. He mixed in politics, joined the Free Masons, and was a party to a revolt which the native Masons organized in 1896 against the Spaniards. The wily Caballeros decided that it would be better to buy off the insurrectos and paid them $400,000, of which Aguinaldo took his share and went to Hongkong to reappear on the scene two years later. He was all set to proclaim himself president when Dewey had driven out the Spaniards, and as such he was to wear a gold collar with a gold triangular pendant engraved with the sun and three stars, also to carry a gold whistle and a stick with a gold handle and tassel of gold.

But, alas and alack, the peace treaty and William McKinley made no provision for Senor Aguinaldo. Whereupon he raised the standard of revolt and for three years continued to play the cat and banjo with the forces of your Uncle Sam. There was nothing of the opera bouffe about the Philippines Insurrection. Two thousand natives were killed in one night's fighting with the American regulars and the city of Manila was set afire by the insurrectos.

Guerilla warfare of the fiercest kind, very much similar to that which this generation has witnessed in Nicaragua, continued until one day in 1901 an Aquinaldo lieutenant gave himself up and Gen. Fred Funston found on him a request from Aguinaldo for reinforcements and munitions.

How Aguinaldo Was Captured

IN a flash the daring idea came to Funston: He would send the reinforcements! With the utmost care and secrecy he selected 100 native soldiers and Maccabee scouts and fitted them out as insurrectos. Two captains of the American army were sent with them, ostensibly as their captives, and the little force was landed at night from the gunboat Vicksburg in a dark cove on the northeast coast of the island of Luzon, 90 miles from the hiding place of Aguinaldo. It took the party six days to make the distance, so wild and mountainous was the land.

Word was sent on to Aguinaldo that the reinforcements were on their way, with several captive Americans. When only eight miles from the rendezvous the force was exhausted and had to stop and rest, as well as send ahead for food from the man they were out to get dead or alive, and who had a price of $25,000 on his head. Wholly taken in by the bold plan, Aguinaldo had no suspicions and sent along the food, with the word that he did not want the American captives, but that they should be treated kindly—a rather ambiguous statement.

Nevertheless the force pushed on with the Americans, and the leaders were received by Aguinaldo at his headquarters. Going out, they passed the word for an attack on the rebel chieftain's bodyguard. So unsuspected was this that one volley sufficed to rout Aquinaldo's followers and he, in a towering rage, became a prisoner of the United States.

He took the oath of allegiance, was granted a $6,000 pension, and settled down to grow hemp and work pacifically for independence.

THE REFORMER'S SON

By Winifred Black

The great reformer has a little boy. A nice, rosy, chubby blue-eyed little boy.

And the other day the little boy waited till his father was asleep after a day of hard work exorting and denouncing and "pointing out" and muckraking.

"Phew—phaw"—there was a strange sound in the house—or you might have thought it so. Little Bobby knew what it was for he had heard it often in that very house.

It was the reformer snoring manfully.

So little Bobby stole into the room and picked up his father's trousers which lay conveniently on a chair near the door—yes, there was money in the trousers' pocket—"chink, chink," said the money in the sweetest silvery accents you could possibly imagine.

"Chink, chink," said the money, "chewing gum, candy, a police whistle, brand new marbles"—

The money seemed to be calling to little Bobby and little Bobby answered.

He put his chubby little hand into the pocket and took out two b-e-a-u-t-i-f-u-l silver half dollars and away he went. Straight to the village shop as fast as his heels could carry him.

At the shop he bought chewing gum and chocolate drops and lovely striped stick candy and two whole boxes of marbles and the boxes had gay checkered covers in red and blue that made your heart sing to see them.

The next day Bobby was the hero of the village. He gave every one of "the gang" candy and gum. He even invited two little girls to go into the drug store and have a drink of glorious creamy, cool chocolate with him.

"Say Bobby," said one of the gang. "Boy, it's swell to be rich, ain't it?"

"Gee," said Bobby, "that's nothing. You can all be as rich as I am if you will just have the nerve." And Bobby told just where and how he got his glorious wealth.

"Now isn't that a shame," said the father of one of the gang. "Bob's a nice kid, he's just got off on the wrong foot. I'll go tell his father and things will be straightened out."

And two of the gang went home and tried the same idea. But something was wrong with the system, it didn't work—and the whole story came out. The neighbor told father and father called Bobby in from the yard. Says father to son, says he: "Bobby, you're too young to begin stealing—yet—you haven't got the technique—wait till you grow up to be a manipulator of something like that and you can get away with it."

Clever, wasn't it?

But how about Bobby? And would you like to have a father who would rather say something smart than to try to keep you straight?

I wish I hadn't heard that story about the great reformer and Bobby, his son.

Somehow, it hasn't the right ring to it—to me, how does it strike you?
